

DECIDEDLY NEW

CASSEROL—Have no fear! It has nothing to do with the kitchen. Rather, it is very much concerned with your Fall street and afternoon occasions. Casserol is a new Fall color—a real golden brown—a perfect Autumn tone.

"A bed of roses" it will be for the very new bride who furnishes her home by the rules of fashion. Cables from London state 'Society brides choose pastel colored sheets and pillow cases. Shell pink, rose, blue, pale lilac leaf green, and crocus yellow—favorite shades."

"Where the Blue Begins" in the fashion world is not much of a mystery but where it will end is a topic much discussed since powder blue has become very much the rage. The last word about blue in the fashion world is that blue lingerie is next in fashion fame.

MONTEREY — Geographically speaking, it is a health resort in California. Fashionably speaking it is a beautiful new Fall shade—a rich red brown, especially lovely for sports frocks and day time frocks of woolen.

FAIRWAY — Whether you're a golf enthusiast or not, you know what a long lovely stretch of green looks like. And in the Fall—well, it's simply too lovely for words. Then you know what Fairway in Fall Fashions means, too. It's a rich shade of green, especially smart for coats. Almost good enough to eat, it's such a luscious shade.

"Just to show us that they dare—The new Chemise have adopted the flare."

Straight and slim except for a sudden flare at the bottom, the new Chemise have created quite a stir in the fashionable lingerie world.

FOREST AREAS ARE CLOSED

The well known Larch Mountain Trail, on the Mt. Hood National Forest, is closed to travellers, according to a statement just issued by the District Office, U. S. Forest Service, Portland, Oregon. The area closed embraces nine sections of land, and takes in practically all of the mountain, and the upper portion of the trail. This action was taken by the District Office at the request of Forest Supervisor Sherrard, who stated that the strip of deadfall and broken limbs along the trail is the result of the ice storm of 1921-22, constituted a serious fire menace, especially in conjunction with the great number of pleasure seekers who climb the mountain. While some of these visitors are said to be careful, reports indicate that others are irresponsible careless and thoughtless, and it is therefore necessary to keep everyone out in order to remove the fire hazard. The fact that this region is adjacent to the famous Bull Run water shed of the Mt. Hood National Forest, which furnishes the city of Portland with drinking water, makes it of utmost importance to protect the region from forest fires.

Three watersheds on the Whitman National Forest, in Eastern Oregon have also just been closed according to the report. These are: the Baker watershed, the Mill creek watershed, and the Black Pine watershed—an area of 17,990 acres.

In addition to these regions the following areas have been reported closed to camping, smoking and use of matches in the National Forests of Oregon and Washington:

Mr. Baker National Forest: The portion of Skagit River valley lying within one-half mile of the city of Seattle, from the point where it crosses the National Forest boundary, to the end of the railroad near Gorge creek.

Cascade National Forest: Hood der creek, Deadman creek, and Sherman creek watersheds.

Chelan National Forest: All of the forest is closed to campers except under permit, and on designated camp grounds.

Cascade National Forest: Pal creek and Salt creek watersheds.

The Forest Service contemplates the closing of other National Forests, should the high fire danger continue. In particular, certain important areas on the Willamette National Forest will probably be closed in the near future, according to the report.

Forest officers state that they dislike very much to close these areas to the camping and travel, but taken to the state hospital, and taken to the state hospital, and taken to the state hospital.

Many visitors are careful with their fires, but there are others who still continue to come into the forests who are either thoughtless, careless, or just don't know, it is said. It is to protect the public resource from the careless and the thoughtless that the Forest Service finds such drastic measures necessary.

Paul J. Schimler, new athletic director of Oregon Agricultural college is expected here some time next week and will stop over for a day or two to meet students and alumni of the college. Mr. Schimler, accompanied by Mrs. Schimler, left Hastings, Nebraska, last week and are making the trip by car.

At the present time about 20 students of O. A. C. are in La Grande as well as numerous graduates. Among the students now enrolled in the college who are spending the summer in this city are: Wanda Stoddard, president of the student body and basketball letterman; "Mose" Lyman, football and basketball star and president of the O. A. C. chamber of commerce; Claude Christensen of the football squad and others. Efforts will be made to induce Mr. Schimler to return to La Grande for a longer visit later in the year.

$100,000 To Loan

On farm land. No commissions. No examination charges. No stock subscription requirements. If your application for a $5,000 loan is approved you will receive a check for $5,000. No residence restrictions. No delays. The loan is made for a 20-year period but may be retired in whole or in part at any time. Annual payments.

My client desires some extra choice business and to secure same offers unusual inducements. It is an amortization loan, that is, a portion of the principal is retired each year and the total amount of your payments under this plan is less than the total amount you would pay for a similar period for a straight loan at 6 1/2% (which of course is not obtainable). Applications considered from Wallawa, Union and Baker counties.
