"In the West" at Sherrys Is a Real Western Picture.

One of the most interesting pictures of the West that has been released this year is "In the West," at Sherrys today only, featuring Dick Hatton and Neva Gerber. The story is that of the real West as it is today with some wonderful scenery and many thrilling stunts. This picture should prove as popular here as it apparently has in other parts of the country where it has been shown.

"In the West" has unusual class as a western photograph, due to its story and story. It is not the "shoot-'em-up" type of film which has been the rule among the mountaineers and plains of the far west as it is today, and with small part of it played in one of the big cities in the end. It is evenly balanced with the very best of action and drama, all revolving around a plot and story which is full of romance, adventure and intrigue that will make it an acceptable and delightful offering anywhere. Comedy, "The Junior Partner."

advance reports indicate that this picture is already enjoying success as one of the very best pictures of the year.

A bachelor club and the problems of its members who, in a moment of weakness, decide to adopt a war orphan each, gives rise to the very funny comedy situations. There is a very pretty love theme in the case of the bachelor who finds his "orphan" is a very pretty girl of seventeen. And there is some pathos in the case of the man who finds his "orphan" to be a little girl. But everyone is happy when the extremely pleasing ending shows the bachelors all getting married and making comfortable homes for a number of fine women and children.

A splendid cast has been selected for this picture. Also Marsh and Harry Myers are the stars. Others in the cast are Claude Gillinger, Charles Adams, Willard Louis, Crawford Kent, George Woodhouse, Otto Hoffman, Boyce Hilarious Comedy Promised in Arcade Vaudeville Bill.

Hilarious comedy, diverting nonsense, musical numbers and triple bar novelty will prove highly popular with the patrons at the Arcade Theatre on Sunday.

Roberts and Adair in a comedy triple bar novelty perform a routine of feats on the triple and horizontal bars which are not only novel and interestingly presented, but original in conception.

Shirley and Sherwood in "Wanted a Pianist," introduce themselves in the way of musical interludes together with portraying the trials and tribulations of a temperamental prima donna and a pianist.

Mary Marlowe is a singing comedienne and versatile noise presenting "Songs and Impassions." She offers a series of imitations that stamp her as a genius in the art of mimicry.

Godfrey and Lewey, "The Gentlemen of Coney," are both good singers and clever dancers and will render many singing and dancing bits of Southern type. "Cry Baby" Godfrey, late feature dancer from the big minstrel shows, produces routine in all his glory.
