La Grande Theatres

Arcade Theater to Show "Her Temporary Husband."

Sidney Chaplin, famous brother of the celebrated Charlie Chaplin, returns to the screen to play a most important comedy role in "Her Temporary Husband," a rib-tickling farce which is to be the feature of the bill at the Arcade Theatre today and tomorrow.

It is a First National screen version of Edward Douthett's popular stage success of the same title. It was adapted to the screen by P. McGraw Wilks, one of Hollywood's most brilliant scenario writers. John McDermett directed it.

"Her Temporary Husband" is an exuberantly humorous comedy, centering about a young girl who, to win a fortune, is forced to marry within twenty-four hours.

The girl not wishing to burden herself with the troubles and tribulations of matrimony, yet wishing to win the legacy, goes to a sanitarium and chooses as a husband a decrepit old man with one foot in the grave and the other on a banana skin, to later wake up to the realization that the man she really married was a young admirer who had made up to represent the older man.

Owen Moore plays the part of the decrepit invalid, Sidney Chaplin enacts the role of his valet, a lugubrious individual who has a peculiar faculty of always doing the right thing at the wrong time. Sidney is a member of an exceptionally talented all star cast, which includes Owen Moore, Sidney Chaplin, Sylvia Dranger, Chuck Keeler, Tully Marshall, Charles Corrad, George Cooper and others.

Grim Bachelors Become "Daddies" In Film Classic.

"Daddies" is the story of five bachelors. No, there is no inconsistency here. You see the "daddies" were all bachelors to begin with, confirmed and forewarned champions of the state of single blessedness. They became daddies by adopting a levy of war orphans. The process of making an honest-to-goodness dad out of a determined bachelor is exemplified in all its

Why So Careful

We're often asked that question by those who claim "we're fussier than any customer." Pride's one reason: profit the other. A good workman finds pleasure in a job well done. A good merchant is proud of a sale well made. Both know that success comes only through satisfying.

We're going to keep on being particular. We enjoy doing business that way.

Oregon prime acreage is increasing fast and growers have to enlarge their driers to care for additional tonnage. This is most cheaply done by installing the new recirculation system developed by the experiment station. To double the capacity of a four-ton drier from $1800 to $2000. To achieve about double capacity by installing the recirculation system would cost him $750. In addition to the big cash saving a better quality of dried fruit results from installing the new system. Many growers have now recirculation and heartily approve it.

Eschmos Lack Grazing Lands
CORDOVA, Alaska (AP)—Alaskan Eschmos with their large reindeer herds on the Seward Peninsula are facing the same problem that sheep men did in the western states years ago, according to William T. Lopp, superintendent of the Alaska division of the bureau of education.

"There are no land leasing or grazing laws in the north and, regardless of the natives' prior rights to the land, their reindeer herds are being slowly crowded out," said Superintendent Lopp.
