WHAT IF IT IS A PRESIDENTIAL YEAR?

We've just listened to a local merchant (not men's clothing) and his business woes—"It's a presidential year and naturally business is not good."

"Why the alibi?" we asked him.

"Just because we are going to have an election is no reason to pull in your oars—just keep giving people the new goods at the right prices and the same men who are going to elect the next president will give you the largest business you have ever enjoyed, by a sweeping majority."

That's what we're doing—

- Michaels-Stern Suits $25.00 to $37.50
- Allen A Cooper Union Suits 95c to $1.45
- Arrow Shirts $1.45 to $8.85

according to their own statement they "intend to put a little Oregon pep into the Washington meeting."

To Have Picnic—
 The Boys and Girls club will hold a picnic at the Union Experimental Station Friday, beginning at ten o'clock in the morning. All members of the club are invited to come and bring their parents and friends. Members will bring their own lunches. Games, livestock feeding and other demonstrations will be offered in the way of amusement. The picnic is in charge of L. J. Allen, assistant state club leader and Mrs. A. E. Ivanhoe, county school superintendent.

Conditions Hopeful—
 Farm conditions throughout the northwest are very hopeful at present, according to J. S. Fisher, of the loan department of the Union Central Life Insurance company of Boise, who was here yesterday conferring with his local agent George Curry. Mr. Fisher's company has at present in the neighborhood of $85,000,000 in loans on farm lands throughout the northwest.

Walla Walla Ladies at Hot Lake—
 Mrs. Roscoe Smith of Walla Walla, Wash., better known thru out the northwest as the "Voice of the Valley" of the spectacular pageant, "How the West Was Won," is at present at Hot Lake. With her are Mrs. Neamich Ankeny of Walla Walla and Mrs. M. C. Cameron of Washington, D. C. They will remain at the manatorium for a short time. Before returning home the party will visit Biggar to view the movie scenes taken there.

GOV. BRYAN ACCEPTS IN FARM TALK

"for which the party stands as a unit, without the intervention of faction, bloc or section."

He pledged his full support to Mr. Day's band, declared both he and the presidential candidate are in harmony with the platform upon which they will fight for electoral support.

"By the selection of one from the heart of the great middle west as its candidate, the democratic party recognizes the importance of agriculture as one of the basic industries of the nation," Mr. Bryan asserted, adding that "we have the assurance that our party is in direct sympathy with the needs and advancement of the farmers of the country."

Party Split Unthinkable.
 "It is unthinkable," he said at another point, "that the great host of progressive farmers and wage-earners, both organized and unorganized, whom I know from active association and co-operation with in service for many years, having this great party organization presented how as a fit instrument through which to work itself will, should permit a division of strength and make possible the triumph of the forces of reaction and selfish interest."

He felt, he said, that it was not due to say that he was "conscious of no obligation to any interest or any individual that would embarrass me in the discharge of the duties of this office." He accepted with the solemn pledge, he added, that "every ability I can secure and every effort I make shall be with an eye single to the material, moral and spiritual well-being of my country and my countrymen."

Honesty, efficiency and economy in government were declared by the nominee the needs of the hour.

Republicans Are Scored.
 He laid at the door of the republican administration the responsibility for the "misery and throughout the country" duplication of government work, unnecessary boards and commissions, high cost of government and excessive taxation.

Woman's worth and equality, child welfare, the democratic party's interest in and support of labor, outlawing of war, water power, law enforcement and private monopoly were other subjects discussed by Governor Bryan. He promised to take up later during the campaign other matters enumerated in the party's platform as demanding attention.

He dwelt particularly on agriculture and charged the republicans with changing the farmers' condition "from prosperity to adversity." Their policy, he said, of reducing the higher tariff, reducing the income and excise taxes from the producer had shifted the burden to the shoulders of those least able to pay and caused injury to the farmers.

High Tariff Demanded.
 The farmer, he continued, needs the high tariff rates reduced so as to enable him to buy a competitive market at home and remove the restrictions which have injuriously affected the foreign market in which he sells his surplus products. Support of the gold reserve system, lower and water rates, development of a been waterway system from the great lakes to the Atlantic ocean and gulf, water power, cheap fertilizer, more uniform warehouse laws, co-operative marketing legislation, an export marketing corporation, and the benefit of the newly proposed reclamation act were listed as other needs.

Disarming war, Governor Bryan declared the democratic party endeavor to secure world disarmament by international agreement and seek also an international convention on the subject.

Party Workers' Friend.
 The democratic party had no principles, policies or plans that it would not submit to woman's counsel, he said. Protection of the child and the care of mothers were essential, he added. Democratic votes, he asserted, had a major part in the adoption of the child care constitutional amendment.

The nominee recalled that Arizona is a republican state, was first to ratify it.

Labor must be dealt with humanly, Governor Bryan asserted, adding that the democratic party "has always been the laboring man's friend, not to secure his vote but because the nation cannot progress unless he progresses."

Strict public control and conservation of natural resources, development of the Muscle Shoals, recovery of the country's oil reserves and other parts of the public domain, "which have been fraudulently or illegally leased or otherwise transferred to private interests," were advocated by the nominee. The democratic platform pledged itself, he added, to respect and enforce the constitution and all laws.

Enemies at Disadvantage.
 The farmers, middle classes and wage earners, he asserted, had been placed at a disadvantage as a result of the failure of the republican administration to enforce the law against conspiracies to restrain or trade or illegal combinations. Some middle western states, he continued, had been forced to enter the commercial field "to protect the public from the unscrupulous practices."

In addition to the thousands who thronged the stadium, persons in all parts of the country were given an opportunity to hear the speeches by radio. A 100-

BRITISH PLAN GIANT AIRSHIP

CARDINGTON, Eng. (AP)

To make room for the laying down of Britain's new giant airship of 50,000,000 cubic feet capacity, the old R33 is being reconditioned for an experimental flight to India where a mooring mast and gas generating plant are to be erected.

At the same time that work commences on the big ship at Cardington, another of similar size will be begun at Howden. Both of these immense airships will be approximately 700 feet long, 170 feet in diameter, and capable of carrying 200 passengers at 80 miles an hour on a non-stop flight of 2,000 miles.

It is stated that such a vessel cruising at 40 miles an hour will be able to remain in the air for nearly three weeks without alighting to replenish fuel. Steel is being considered as a possible substitute for duralumin in the structure, and engines that will burn a mixture of hydrogen and gasoline are being experimented with.

distance, telephone wire transmitted them to Chicago and they were broadcast by the Chicago Daily News station WMA, Stations WPAV, University of Nebraska, WOAW, Omaha and KFKX, Hastings, also radiated the exercises.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Joplin, national committeewoman from Missouri, presided, after being introduced by Clem L. Shaver, the party field manager. The latter had been scheduled as the presiding officer, but declined on arriving here today in favor of Mrs. Blair.

Trained Seals Enjoy Music From Dinnerbell

Here's a whole school of "trailing fishes" and they think the strains of the dinner bell is the sweetest music ever.

"U-rrrr!" says Treasa, the original "flapper."

"Which means yes—when translated in the king's English," interprets Al G. Barnes. "You have to feed seals to know them and, if you feed them, it is surprising how quickly they learn about you."

Mr. Barnes, who feeds them often and who taught them their feathery stunts, marvels at their uncanny knowledge of human nature, as you will marvel when the Al G. Barnes wild animal circus comes to La Grande, Friday, August 29.

Those educated seals and sea lions are only a part of the big wild animal show, which will include everything from a trained flea to an elephant—not forgetting to mention also the greatest movie star of them all—Joe Martin, himself, and the most gigantic circus sensation of the age, "Queen Anna," with three tribes of Indians in the big east-Washoes, Escondidos and Apaches.
