SUNSHINE AT WALLOWA LAKE

(By Scoop)

WALLOWA LAKE. (Special to the Observer)—New York Journal hands with Eastern Oregon Times day night around a huge bonfire at "Seldon Inn," where W. A. Benham's party is staying here.

Mr. and Mrs. Silders, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Bretz, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Benham, of Athens, Mr. and Mrs. Benham

Needless to say, they breathed a sigh of relief when they finally landed on solid footing again.

The restaurant here is gaining quite a reputation as an "eating place," where one really "eats." To say that the dishes are generous, is only half of it—and besides everything is certainly well prepared.

Eating is easily one of the most popular pastimes here.

Big Wheat Yield Near Elberton.
ELBERTON, Wash.—Wheat in this region has been running 50 to 40 bushels an acre. J. E. Haun, a mile north of town, reports that his fortyfold averaged 52 bushels an acre. This is the best yield reported. The wheat is almost free from smut and other foul stuff.

Even in villages they have evened ground, but the cost is lower and the neck higher.

Davenport Farmers Seeding.
DAVENPORT, Wash.—Rainfall here during the last few days totaled 3.6 of an inch. A quarter of an inch fell during one short shower. Many farmers have started seeding as harvesting has been delayed. It is estimated that a third of the grain in the Davenport district is to be harvested.
