UNION LOSES OLD PIONEER

Old Settlers Are Rapidly Passing on — George Herninger Last to Answer Call

UNION (Special)—I. H. Hatchinson and family are spending the week camping near the Hill ranch on Catherine creek. Mr. Hatchinson drives back and forth to and from his work in the local bank but the other members of the family are spending the entire week in camp.

In the passing of George Herninger Friday morning Union lost another of her pioneer settlers and the local G. A. R. post another of its rapidly dwindling number. George Herninger was born in Lancashire county, Pennsylvania, in 1841, making him about 83 years of age at the time of his demise. When a lad of about five he moved with the family to Iowa and there he grew to manhood and in 1862 enlisted in the 25th Iowa Infantry. During the war he contracted pneumonia which practically destroyed one lung, causing his discharge from the service. In 1864 he came to Oregon, finally settling in Union, where he has made his home for more than half a century. He was one of the Pionier Post of the G. A. R. Although living in lurch-berhood until his death Mr. Herninger was a good neighbor and had a host of friends here. His nearest relatives are nephews and nieces, only one, Mrs. Ladd, being present at the funeral. About twenty years ago the aged man was afflicted with cancer growths on both eyes which destroyed his sight, leaving him blind for many years. He passed away last Friday morning and Sunday afternoon the remains were laid to rest in the local cemetery after a brief ceremony at the Coon brothers' undertaking parlors. Rev. J. A. Quinn officiated at the funeral services.

Only a mere handful of the old pioneers who settled Union in the early days are left and of the local G. A. R. post, this loss cuts the membership down to three who were here. Mr. Herninger saw Union and Union county grow from infancy to a thriving community, although the last twenty years of his life were spent in darkness, and it was only by hearsay that he kept track of the vast changes during these years.

R. H. Hohring accompanied by Leonard Stevens after spending about three weeks camping at Pillsbury, loaded his wagon with the mineral water for his water's trip and started home a few days ago. When only a few miles from the springs he fell from a horse and was severely injured. The lad with the aged man cared for him and finally they reached Union Saturday afternoon. Mr. Hohring was feeling better when he reached home.

Mrs. Emmet, wife of the new agricultural teacher, arrived on Union the first of the week and also their furniture, so they are now settled at the Minnie home ready for the year's work.

Miss Ruth Conice celebrated her twelfth birthday Saturday afternoon by having the girls of her Sunday school class and a few other guests attend a party at her home in South Union. Ice cream, cake and punch were served. The young hostess received several nice presents.

Homeer Bidwell of North Powder spent the greater part of the last two weeks buying horses in this vicinity. These animals were destined for service in the U. S. cavalry and were shipped out to Monterey, California.

The Misses Eleanor and Dora Cronter left last Monday for a two weeks trip during which they will visit Seattle, Spokane and Portland.

L. Z. Terrell and family left for the middle west last week in spend about a month visiting with friends and relatives in several different places.

Corley when the latter interfered in the brawl, sent three shots through the body of Patrolman E. H. Robinson when he came to the aid of his fellow officers, and emptied the rest of his pistol's load at the crowd in his flight.

PROSPECTS OF RAISING SHIP POOR

Lusitania, Sunk Nine Years Ago, Will Probably Never Be Salvaged Say Experts.

LONDON (AP)—Chances are that the Lusitania, sunk off the Irish coast by a German torpedo in May, 1915, will never be raised, according to David Masters, author of a book which describes wonders of salvage.

The sheer weight of the sea, the writer points out, quickly obliterates man's handiwork, and the Lusitania probably reached to be a ship's year ago. It is extremely likely that the tremendous pressure to which she was subjected at the depth of 233 feet long ago crushed her flat, he says.

The liner's 30-ton rudd, full of valves, would be strong enough one might think to resist the pressure of the sea, but even the chances of salvaging the rudd alone from the liner's strong room do not appeal to the writer as being worth the risk.

Score of schemes have been proposed for salvaging the Lusitania. An American has proposed to use a submarine which would fire torpedoes through the hull. Each torpedo would carry a steel cable. When sufficient cables had been fired they would be picked up on the other side, brought to the surface, and the wreck lifted from the depths. Reports say this ingenious scheme is simple in theory, but impracticable, and that the Lusitania, remains, and is likely to remain, where she sunk, more than nine years ago.
