GRANT BEAN, Mgr.
—Next to Star

Famous Ape Actor With Al G. Barnes

He's coming!
The greatest movie-star of them all is coming to La Grande Friday, August 29, with the Al G. Barnes wild animal circus.
Mr. Barnes secured him from the Universal Motion Picture Corporation, at Universal City, at the cost of $25,000 after the famous star had evaded the desire to try his hand at circus life.
The movie star is none other than Joe Martin himself.

In addition, you will see Lotus, largest and only performing blood-sweating hippopotamus in the world, who eats a bale of hay and a basket of carrots at every sitting.
But the greatest sensation on the big program is the gigantic extravaganza, "Tocahontas at the Court of Queen Anne," the colorful feature that opens the entertainment.

WILL ERECT MEMORIALS

Organizations to Build
New Edifices to Memory of National Men and Events.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for erecting nearly a dozen new memorials in the nation's capital, already noted for its statuary, are now under way. Congressional sanction has been given for ten to be unveiled in the near future.
The statue of General San Martin, termed the "George Washington of Argentina," soon to be officially presented by the government of his country to America, has arrived in Washington.
Methodists are making preparations for a memorial to Francis Asbury, one of the country's earliest ministers, which will be unveiled in October. The ruins of the battle fields of the Civil war will have a monument to their memory here, thanks to the efforts of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. "Heroes that sacrificed their lives, that women and children might be saved. In the tragic catastrophe of the sinking of the steamship Titanic" will be honored in a memorial which will overlook the Potomac river. Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who recently executed the Buffalo bill monument, will design the monument. A figure with outstretched arms will symbolize the memory of the deed which the Women's Titanic Memorial association seek to perpetuate.

The first thirteen memorial commemorating men of the American Expeditionary Force of the fighting organization, now already been erected south of the State and War Department buildings and will be unveiled in October. A memorial to President Buchanan is to be erected in Meridian Hill park. Recently, a gift of Charles Deering of Chicago, is among Washington's future pieces of statuary. A Navy and Marine memorial is in process of preparation.

A memorial to John Edricson, inventor and constructor of the Monitor of Civil War fame, is to be raised south of the Lincoln memorial. The state of Pennsylvania is pushing plans to erect a memorial to the memory of Major General George Gordon Meade, commander of the army of the Potomac.
Prominent among proposals for monuments pending in congress is one for commemorating the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

NOTE PROGRESS ON BRIDGE
HOOD RIVER. — Hood river, completed placing the last girder in the seventh span of the Washington interstate bridge across the Columbia between here and Whit Salmon August 25. The total length of the seven spans, which reach from an 180-foot square trestle on the Oregon bank to the channel span, is 1156 feet. Rivermen will complete their work at the steel this week.
Crews of the Gilpin Construction company are now concentrating their efforts on three piers on the Washington side of the Columbia. When these are completed, two 200 foot spans will be laid, completing the structure. It is anticipated that the bridge will be ready for traffic by late October.

CHICAGO AFFLICTED WITH SWARMS OF MOSQUITOES
CHICAGO (AP) — Mosquitoes which have lately swarmed about Chicago and vicinity for several days have become so numerous that open air affairs are being banned and entertainments are being called off. The community saved services in Oak Park Sunday night were transferred from a park to the First Baptist church.
Homing Pigeon Killed
PRAIRIE CITY, Mo. — A homing pigeon, mistaken for a hawk, was shot in the chicken yard of William Nelson's farm near Strawberry mountain, home miles from here. On the breast band were the figures 2452, on the aluminum band was 72 crosswise, and around this band were the letters and figures, P.H.P. 1313 A.J. It is thought it may be one of the flock turned loose from Oakland, Cal.

The hard part about reading a map out of the party is to define the party limits.

Agricultural Explorer in Quest of Pear Hardy
Enough to Withstand Cold Climates.

BROOKINGS, S. D. (AP) — N. E. Hansen, South Dakota's "agricultural explorer," whose trips to Asiatic countries in quest of fruits and plants adaptable to the climate of the northwest have paid dividends of incalculable extent to farmers of the Dakotas, is embarking upon his sixth trip to the Siberian steppes, this time in quest of a pear sturdy enough to withstand the extremes of South Dakota climate.

Dr. Hansen is on his way westward to embark for Vladivostok, financed by a $20,000 appropriation of the South Dakota legislature.

Already the contributor of the Cosack alfalfa and of the hardy Hansen hybrid plum, which has been developed to mature in Dakota's short summers, Dr. Hansen declares that the cold fastness of northern Siberia hold various other fruits and agricultural species which may be adapted to this climate. His five previous journeys of exploration have resulted in the introduction to the northwest of the "Turkistan, Siberian and other alfalfa breeds, a host of hybridizations of orchard fruits, and several varieties of hardy roses. And when he returned from Siberia in 1912 he brought a product outside his specific province, a Siberian "fat-rumped" sheep, which has shown itself capable of surviving the rigors of South Dakota winters.
Cosack alfalfa, which is regarded as Dr. Hansen's masterpiece, now widely grown in the northwest, was developed from a spoonful of seed in 1916, and its culture is spreading as rapidly as seed is available.

Dr. Hansen is certain his present quest for a hardy pear, adaptable to Dakota climate, will be successful. "I know it is there," he said, "it is only a question of finding good specimens of a variety known to exist, and of developing them to resist blight. South Dakota has failed to raise pears chiefly because of this blight. It kills the trees."
