Pela Negri Puts Herself on Auction Block in Picture. Slave markets of antiquity have their counterparts in modern life, according to Dimitri Buchowetzki, whose production "Men" starring Pola Negri, contains an illustration of how women are bought and sold today.

Placed by the Russian director on his first American made picture for Paramount's "Men" contains the story of the amazing adventures of a French girl "Men" who begins life as a waitress in a shop wine shop and rises to fame as a dancer in Paris.

The role of "Men" is played by Pola Negri. Surrounded by a host of men who strive to win her favor for their money or love, but finally promises to give the privilege of her company to the highest bidder.

Handled by the masterly direction of Dimitri Buchowetzki, the scene which follows is probably unsurpassed in the history of motion pictures. The camera moves from face to face where greed, passion, love, avarice and desire are depicted upon each countenance. Bidding, one against the other, these men play the modern equivalent of the slave markets of ancient times.

Chosen to support Pola Negri in this powerful picture of life among the certain workers of the film industry which opens a three day run at the Avenue Theatre, are all known players such as Robert M. Fraser, Robert Egan, Joseph Wickard, Monti Collins, Gino Corrado and Edgar Norton.

Dimitri Buchowetzki produced "Men" from his own original story which was dramatized by Paul I. Herman.

"The Great White Way" Has Brilliant Start At Sherrys.

"The Great White Way," the Cosmopolitan Corporation's big super film, woven around life in New York, has started down at the Sherry Theatre, where it opened yesterday, to what gives every indication of being one of the most brilliant achievements ever enjoyed by a motion picture in La Grande.

According to fight authorities, the prize fight scene in "The Great White Way" is one of the biggest things ever accomplished in a cinematographic way. It brings to the screen for the first time scenes of sporting celebrities, including Tex Rickard, Johnny Gallagher, Jimmie Collins, Joe Humphreys, Irvin S. Cobb, H. V. Whitely, "Kid" Brook, Tommy Young, Damon Runyon, "Fing" Harp and others.

Jack Dempsey, who attended the opening, was particularly interested in the fight itself and voiced the opinion that it was as realistic as any ring battle that he has ever seen. For this fight scene, the Cosmopolitan Corporation engaged Pete Hartley, well-known professional lightweight and a contender for the championship title held by Gene Leonard, to impersonate the role of Jimmy Stone, British champion who is defeated by the American heavyweight contender, Joe Cain. Gene Stone, star of the inter-

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) - More postoffice employees than ever gathered before in one assembly are expected here when the annual convention of postal supervisors and postoffice clerks meet September 8, to be followed September 15 by the convention of the National Federation of Rural Letter Carriers, which is affiliated with the federation of labor.

Pointing the way to requested increases in wages for postal employees a comparison will be made in the conventions, it is said, calling attention to the difference in pay between post office and express charges.
