Interesting Facts Revealed in "Covered Wagon."

Do you know that Abraham Lincoln once—in the Forties—declined the governorship of Oregon, then a newly acquired territory?

That in August 1848, Oregon became a territory of the Union?

That Kit Carson, famous scout, carried the first gold nuggets from California eastward in 1848?

That the news of California's gold did not reach the press for publication until September, 1848—in Boston and New York—or attain notice on the floor of Congress till December 5th?

That many children were born in the wagon trains that crossed the prairies and plains in the Forties?

That the elegances who traveled with the wagon trains were kept busy officiating at weddings and funerals?

All these facts are brought out in "The Covered Wagon," a Paramount picture, produced by James Cruze with a superb cast of players, which comes to the Arcade Theatre Monday for a four day run.

J. Warren Kerrigan and Lois Wilson are seen in the leading roles.

News will also be seen on this program.

Bebe Daniels, Dix and Mary Astor Are Featured.

Alan Crossland makes his debut as a Paramount producer with the release of "Guarded Women," which begins a two day run at the Star Theatre Saturday.

China, with its age-old civilization, is the interesting background of this gripping photoplay which James Crossland adapted from the "Face" by Lucy Stone Terrill. The unusual theme of the photoplay is bound to create a spirited discussion. Those who know something of the story will recall that it concerns a man who sacrificed himself to save the widow of his friend whose death he inadvertently caused on the battlefield during the war. There have been many post-war stories but none as dramatic and soul-stirring as this.

We can think of no one who is better fitted for the part of the lost and reckless widow than vigorous Bebe Daniels; handsome, virile Richard Dix is the ideal type of "the man of honor"; and Mary Astor, with her winsome beauty is perfectly cast in the appealing role of the "true-blue" fiancée. All three have featured roles. The others in the strong supporting cast include Walter McGrath, Frank Lowe, Harry McNamara and Joe King.

Our advice is not to miss seeing "Guarded Women," for it is one of the season's best.

A Baby Peggy comedy will also be shown.

Thomas Meighan

At Arcade in "Confidence Man."

Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture, "The Confidence Man," which will be shown today and Saturday at the Arcade theatre, is a crack romance with a brand new angle and bristling with punches—and not unlike "The Miracle Man."

Meighan chose it from over one hundred and fifty stories that he considered. It was written by Langford Breake and Robert H. Davis and ran in a serial in Arizona Star-Kings Weekly. So did "The Miracle Man." Victor Heerman directed, and the supporting cast is A-A-1.

In the story, the strongest Meighan has had in months, the star has the role of Dan Corvan, the greatest of all confidence men. He is the master-mind type of crook rather than the plug-ugly kind. Corvan hooks an old sucker, Querrit, falls in love with a young country girl (Virginia Verrill) plays philanthropist to get "in right" with the town-folk, collects from Querrit and prepares to skip town.

But the real action starts when Corvan is exposed for the crook he is. Laurence Wheat and Charles Dow Clark have prominent supporting roles in the cast. Others include Helen Lindroth, Jimmy Lawley, Margaret Seddon, David Herring, George Nash and Dorothy Walters.

HOW IS IT HEATED?

"There with the wallop," as the rhapsodists say, "Only a Shop Girl" is certainly a winner among screen plays.

The audience at the Sherry Theatre last night registered complete approval of the picturized version of Charles E. Blaney's old stage success, "Only a Shop Girl."

It thrills, laughter, heart interest and suspense make for success; this picture is due for a long run.

The mystery which runs thru to the final scene is well sustained and the all-star cast of nine screen headliners are all perfectly cast for their parts.

Edelle Taylor and Mae Busch carry the leading feminine roles while Wallace Deery and Whitford Louis bear the burden of the male leads. Each of the other members of the cast is perfect and the whole effort is, as the producers intended, entirely convincing.

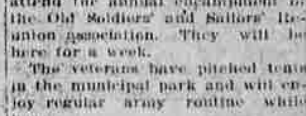

Baby Josephine Adair, who made such a hit as the child in "More To Be Dried Than Scorned," registers another triumph in "Only a Shop Girl."
