Broadcasts Concert From KGW

The Portland Oregonian has the following to say of Mrs. A. L. Richardson, who broadcasted a series of vocal numbers from KGW last evening:

"During the late programme of music to be played by George Olsen's Metropolitan orchestra of the Portland hotel a singer of considerable prominence in western musical circles will be presented to the radio audience. This is Mrs. Alfred L. Richardson, coloratura soprano of La Grande, Ore., who is visiting in the city and has been prevailed upon to appear in this one brief programme. Mrs. Richardson is a past president of the Neighborhood club of her home city and prominent in the musical department of that and other civic organizations. She is described as the possessor of a beautiful voice, her interpretative ability and musical taste make her singing a delight to all who are fortunate enough to be privileged to hear her. She will be assisted tonight by Margaret Nott, pianist, and Cornelia Barker-Carse, violinist. The programme to be rendered is as follows: 'Homing' (Delibes), 'Il Ragazzo' (Arditi), 'Ave Maria' (Gounod), with violin obbligato, 'A Dream-Fantasy' (Marshall), 'A Spirit Flows' (Cannon), 'Hanson Provenance' (Dell Aquila)."

Although the state was not so clear last evening practically every radio owner in La Grande was able to hear Mrs. Richardson's concert. Her excellent voice is well known in La Grande circles and the people here consider themselves very fortunate to be privileged to hear her voice over the radio.

Distinctive Coat

A FALL coat that manages to be both distinguished and conservative is this model of deep blue with simple trimmings of the cloth stitched in gray. The stand-up collar rolls away from the face in a becoming line and the side closing is neat and novel. It may be worn very late in the season.

WOMEN AFTER EMANCIPATION

Arabian Ladies Now Demand Removal of Veils and More Freedom.

JERUSALEM, (AP)—The stubborn conservatism of the Moslem custom with regard to the social isolation of the women in Palestine may soon give way before the movement launched by Arab feminists for the removal of the veil. The Holy Land, backward in many respects, is behind such Moslem countries as Turkey and Egypt in breaking the shackles holding women in seclusion.

The movement for the enfranchisement of Moslem women in Palestine is of recent origin and is traceable to the influx of people from the west, especially Jewish immigrants coming to settle in their national home.

As the first step towards their emancipation the women demand ecclesiastical sanction for the removal of the dark veil from their faces. If such flying in the face of age-long custom does not win official approval, some of the leading Arab women of Palestine are determined to do what their Moslem sisters did in Turkey, where the veil has been entirely cast off, or at least in Egypt, where only a light transparent veil is still worn extending from below the nose.

The ban on the public appearance of women has retarded the development of the Arab drama, and it is the hope of the feminists that the admittance of Moslem women to the theatrical stage will follow the removal of the veil.

Arab women of Palestine are keen not only on social emancipation but on participation in politics.

"Take us out of our insulating seclusion and remove from our faces the offensive black cloth, give us our opportunity as free members of a free people, granting us the right to fight with you for our national ideals," says in part an appeal appearing recently in an Arab language newspaper in Haifa.

"Then we shall in gratitude sacrifice our jewels, delivering up our gold and precious stones for the establishment of the Arab National Bank."

La Grande Citizens Are Urged to Observe Day

Fourth street and up Fourth street to the high school.

The parade will be headed by the motorcycle police, mounted on machines, followed by City Day new chief of police by car. Directly to the rear of the police force will be the Gold Star Mothers and the G. A. R., who will be followed by Captain Paul Hathaway, marshal of the day and his staff, H. S. Brown, president of the city, C. J. Black and Sherwood Williams, commissioners, Fred Kishel, past state commander of the American Legion and H. H. Anderson, commander of the Spanish War Veterans.

Next in line will be the defense day committee composed of the "he" men, H. E. Brady, H. E. Watkins, H. E. Colledge, W. E. Williams, H. E. Dixon, August Stange, George Hume and Elmer Stoddard.

To the rear of the committee will be the La Grande municipal band, Company E, 158th Infantry, more familiarly known as the La Grande national guard unit, Company I, 158th Infantry organized reserves, the American Legion drum corps, the lady volunteers, the engineering reserve corps and bringing up the rear the various fraternal organizations.

71 Cities Enrolled.

SALEM, Ore., (Special)—Seventy-one cities and towns in Oregon with enrollments of the one-day volunteers aggregating more than 20,000 will participate in the nation defense test programme Friday, according to reports received at state headquarters here.

Portland already has reported its quota of 5000 volunteers, and this number probably will be swelled to 15,000 before night. Other cities that have exceeded their total enrollment include: The Dalles, La Grande, Dallas, McMinnville, Salem, Astoria, Marshfield, Medford, Cottage Grove, Albany, Lebanon, Silverton, Woodburn, Forest Grove, Tillamook, Corvallis, St. Helens, Oregon City, Hood River, Baker, Ontario, Eugene and Grants Pass.

The Oregon national guard is recruited to full war strength. It was said, and is awaiting orders to mobilize. The normal strength of the guard in the state is 2000 men and with one-day volunteers it now has 6000 men on the rolls.

Fashion Notes

Paris.—Manufacturers of hosiery are making a determined effort to bring the black stocking into fashion again. In many ways the black stocking is the most sensible hosiery, which, perhaps, is why women still seem to prefer light beige and skin tints.

Paris.—Lingerie of fine white linen is shown in many of the smart shops today. It usually is embroidered with little baskets of flowers, delightfully done.

London.—Men are not going to have a monopoly of Prince of Wales blue. Overblouses for women in soft cashmere and crepes are being made in this attractive shade.

London.—One wrist bag shown here today intended to set off a semi-formal black evening frock is headed with brilliants. Its effect under electric light is most dazzling.

New York.—The almost universal touch of red continues much in favor today. But it is only the woman young or old, with a very good complexion, who can successfully wear Venetian red.

New York.—Frocks for the very little lady, or say 2 or 3 years, are growing more and more simple. The accepted frock of the moment is white batiste trimmed with a bit of lace, preferably of the fanciful sort which has a pussy cat pattern.

New York.—Among the shoes seen on the avenue now are those in black kid with touches of bright red here and there. The heels are red, the toe tip and the straps. These shoes are effective with a black costume.

New York.—No bit of jewelry is more extraordinary than the imported water spouts. These little stones are enclosed in crystal and allowed to move around in a specially prepared liquid. The effect is kaleidoscopic.

HUNT'S LETTER

Washington critics are too provincial and unimaginationed to grasp the significance of the situation presented in "Married Love."

Anyway, the consensus of critical opinion seems summed up in the following paragraph from the most kindly review:

"Either one thing or the other, Prince Bismarck has written the greatest play ever produced in America or he has staged the biggest joke. The play should be cut at the beginning, in the middle and at the end."

Which statement reveals the reviewer as more dramatic than diplomatic.
