Time to Kill Ducks.
Hunters must obey the law which says that ducks may be killed only between sunrise and sunset, says John Walden, game warden, today. He then proceeded to point out the fact that the sun rises tomorrow morning at 5:36 o'clock and sets in the evening at 5:23 o'clock and each day thereafter there is about one minute difference.

STRAW VOTE SHOWS WELL FOR CHIEF

vote rolled up by Mr. Harding four years ago.

"In Ohio, these first few votes may be thought to suggest that Mr. Coolidge is far stronger today than his predecessor was in 1920.

"Pennsylvania, also, would seem to be as firmly, or more firmly, planted in the Republican column. It must be remembered, of course, that the present tabulation of ballots represents the merest smattering of a return. In Pennsylvania, for instance, nearly a million ballots are being distributed a figure which may be compared with the present early return of less than 4,000 votes from that state. Also, these early returns must be accepted with the additional proviso that sections of Democratic strength are not represented in the five first States tabulated."

The Digest states that their poll does not yet give any real evidence of a deadlock, but adds that "such Washington correspondents as David Lawrence and Mark Sullivan are warning the country, because of the chance of a deadlock."

"Our complicated machinery in choosing a President," it continues "may result in confusion, we are told, in case none of the few candidates receives a clear majority in the Electoral College.

"The situation is further complicated by such electoral anomalies as the fact that Georgia with a popular vote of 154,049 in the last election, has fourteen electoral votes, while New Jersey, with 905,628 has precisely the same number. Thus the Northern State may be balanced in the Electoral College by a Southern State with about one-sixth as many voting citizens."

Each ballot requested the voter's political preference at the last Presidential election and these are also tabulated in this issue of The Digest and analyzed for comparison.

ELGIN FAIR WILL OPEN ON TUESDAY

and livestock. From every corner of the county comes reports that the attendance will be far in excess of any fair yet held, states a local newspaper.

The opening day will be largely given over to rounding out details and getting everything in readiness for the following three days. The grounds will be open to the public Tuesday evening when Wildcat Gulch Gang will hold undisputed sway. The Wildcat gang will be on full parade at 7 o'clock. A feature of each evening, beginning with Tuesday, will be Rob "Jazz" Fletcher's spectacular vaudeville company. Fletcher is advertising manager of the Pendleton East-Oregonian and his company consists of himself, wife and four children. He does his jazz stuff as a side line to keeping the E.-O. well supplied with advertising, and the critics tell us that the Fletcher family are remarkable entertainers.

French Shows are Coming.

Another entertaining feature on the fair grounds will be the French Greater Shows, billed as the "biggest and best in the west." This aggregation carries a multitude of entertainments and if one feature isn't satisfactory there will be others to see. A big merry-go-round will be an attraction to hold the attention of the youngsters and perhaps some older ones will like to ride the galloping ponies and animals around the whirl. A gigantic Ferris wheel will also be in evidence, and among other features of this show will be a Hawaiian theatre, vaudeville theatre, horse show and a crazy house. And there will be dancing each evening in connection with the Wildcat Gulch celebration.

Racing Program.

There will be no racing the first day but every afternoon of the following three days an interesting race program will be staged. There will be the wild west sports. Some exceptionally good prizes are offered in all these events. In the bucking contests a first prize of $25 and second of $15 are given in the finals, and $2.50 for each mount each day.

A team pulling contest will be an event of interest this year. The contest will be for the championship of eastern Oregon, the first to be teams under 2800 pounds and the second for teams of 2800 pounds or over. A $25 purse will be given in each event, plus all entry fees.

An event that will excite a great deal of interest and result days agone to the old timer will be an old time fiddlers' contest. The prize will be a silver loving cup. In each day's contest the best fiddler will be selected and the final contest played in the evening of Friday, Sept. 26, in Wildcat Gulch. Other contests will be hog calling for the men and calf-calling for the women.

Championship Baseball Game.

Two baseball games have been provided for to-noon entertainment at the fair grounds on Thursday and Friday. La Grande will pay an all-star team of Union county, in which players from Elgin and Cove will figure prominently. The games are scheduled for a purse of $500 and the fans are promised some gilt-edge ball playing. An admission charge of 50c will admit to the grand stand.

An airplane will also be on the grounds each day of the fair. The pilots will do air stunts for the amusement of the onlookers and rides may be taken by those so inclined over the valley.

Good Weather At Pendleton

dleton happy, following as it does the dust storms of Thursday and the rainstorms of Friday.

Yesterday the track was muddy and racing events were slowed down for that reason, and the steers had an advantage over their human opponents in the bulldogging event, because the men had little chance to catch a footing; they slipped in the slimy mud and four steers escaped. Mike Hastings was fast man and threw in 24 2-5 seconds. In the steer roping the warmest contest of the day developed, only 1-2-5 seconds separating the three high men. Daily Gilcrease tied in 26 1-5 seconds, Ed McCarty in 27 1-5 seconds, and Hugh Strickland in 27 2-5 seconds.

The riders emerged victorious on the whole over bucking horses Friday in the world's, bucking contest, only two riders being spilled. Yakima Canutt, last year's champion, and a contender for the Roosevelt trophy this year, drew No Name, reputed to be the worst horse in the round-up string and the lanky cowboy rode him. It was a conservative ride and the rider did not need his spurs.

In the northwest bucking championship contest, all the riders were credited with having ridden, though from the press box it looked as if at least two of them reached for the kindly support of the saddle horn.

Eight government airplanes, commanded by Lieutenant Oakley Kelly, from Vancouver barracks, arrived about 4 o'clock and the hum of the motors competed with the hoarse tones of the announcer for the crowd's attention.

Paddy Ryan, competing for the Roosevelt trophy, lost ground when he failed to qualify in the steer roping. He failed to qualify in bulldogging yesterday.

Lorena Trickey, riding her own string, won Friday's race in the cowgirls' relay race in 5:03 4-5.

R. Slaughter on the Irwin string was second. The crowd was furnished diversions when one of the bucking horses broke away from the wranglers while the blindfold was over his eyes. He knocked out several panels of the fence around the arena, started for the grand stand and finally went thru the wire fence and landed in the bleachers. He was caught and taken out without anyone having been injured.

Water Rates Are Cut.

PENDLETON, Ore.— Water rates for residents of Pendleton have been cut by the members of the water board. The former minimum rate of $1.50 was reduced to $1 a month and will apply on October bills, due November 1.

The action was taken, according to Superintendent Phelps, after the board checked on the cost of the extension being constructed and found that it would not exceed the estimated cost of between $25,000 and $30,000. The present supply of water is adequate to care for the city's needs, according to the superintendent.

Pioneers Hold Reunion.

HOOD RIVER, Ore.— With 14 members of "The Dalles Pioneers' association as guests approximately 150 members of the Hood River pioneer society and their families participated in their annual reunion today. A basket dinner was served at noon in the parlors of Asbury Methodist Episcopal church. The pioneers assembled for reminiscences in the afternoon at Library Hall.

Use of Gym Curtailed.

MARSHFIELD, Ore.— Directors of the Coos river consolidated school district have issued an order that the school gymnasium shall not be used in the future for amusements. In the past dances have been given in the gym, and other gatherings have been held there.

The Rainbow club, composed of women of the Coos river territory, clubhouse, will take over the amusement features of the section and allow entertainments of community nature to be held in the clubhouse.

At any rate, moral courage enables you to admit that you enjoy lowbrow literature.

MR. BRYAN HITS HARD AT G. O. P.

strong supporter.

He praised both Mr. Davis and Mr. Bryan for their attitude toward economy in governmental expenses and called attention to their feelings of sympathy for labor and the great mass of common people. He asserts that they were both progressive and would undoubtedly work for the best interests of the people in the future. Charles Bryan's record while mayor Lincoln and later governor of the state were dwelt upon, especially in reference to Mr. Bryan's breaking of the coal prices, and other commodities.

Following his speech he and his party left for Baker where they spoke last night. Before coming to La Grande he appeared in Pendleton.

Miller Speaks.

Before Mr. Bryan took the floor Milton A. Miller, of Portland, nominee for United States senator of the Democratic party in Oregon, and Governor Walter M. Pierce spoke briefly.

Mr. Miller advocated economy and just taxes, declaring himself. He urged every voter, regardless of sex, to go to the polls in November and declare his or her choice.

Both he and the commoner, who wore his shrill cap while he spoke and thereby lived up to pictures of him, reviewed the Democratic achievements, claiming that many of the progressive reforms are credited to the party of Thomas Jefferson. Mr. Bryan cited the income tax and the election of a law to elect senators and congressmen by popular vote as striking examples.

Much applause was given all three speakers and Mr. Bryan's characteristic humor, which was injected frequently into his address, resulted in many bursts of hearty laughter.

A Queen

Eva Platt, a niece of former Senator Tom Platt of New York, has been elected queen of the September Fiestas in Sonora, Mex. She's just 18.

ACID THROWN UPON WOMAN

PORTLAND, Ore., (By the Associated Press)—Acid was hurled in the face of Mrs. M. Hamamoto yesterday afternoon by a man known only by the name of Morimura, who called at the woman's home. Police said the acid was thrown when the woman repulsed the man's proposals. A physician was called in time to save her eyesight.
