"Trouble Trail"
Today and Tomorrow
At Sherrys.

"Trouble Trail" is briefly a story concerning the adventures of Corn Atwood, a New York society girl, who, tired of society life pays her uncle's ranch a visit. There she is wooed and finally won by Cal Fraser, but not before many thrilling adventures occur which keep the spectator in suspense until the final outcome.

There is plenty of action in this picture, and a splendid vein of comedy runs through it, supplied by a secondary romance conducted by the cook of the ranch and the French maid who accompanies her mistress on her trip to the wilds.

A gang of rustlers also play an important part and provide us with a "finish" as even the most timid movie fan could desire. All in all, "Trouble Trail" is a thoroughly satisfying Western, and one which we feel sure will fill the theatre to capacity during its engagement.

Comedy, "Radio Med."

Ernest Torrence
Featured in
"Side Show of Life"

One of the many highlights in "The Side Show of Life," Herbert Brenon's production of William J. Locke's story, "The Mountebank," now playing at the Arcade theatre, is Ernest Torrence's superb characterization of the chief character. The performance he gives in this picture is only Torrence could make such a man stand out as a worthy successor of Bill Jackson—the role he played in "The Covered Wagon."

This picture has all the dash and color of circus life. Brenon has given the entire production a de luxe mounting and that means the best word in settings, backgrounds and costumes.

Anna Q. Nilsson is featured with Mr. Torrence. She is the titled Lady Auril Dwyne with whom the clown falls hopelessly in love; as usual Miss Nilsson gives a capital performance. Neil Hamilton who has the prominent juvenile role in D. W. Griffith's "America," heads the supporting cast which includes among others, Louis Lagrange, Maurice Cannon and Edie Shannon.

"The Side Show of Life" is more than a motion picture. It is a slice of life itself.

Baby Peggy to Appear at Star In New Film.

Even millionaire babies must pay the price of folly; must pay one for the second, another for a mistake.

That was the case with Baby Peggy, her dad, Jack Montgomery, directed. But Peggy, child-like, wanted just one more. And Jack, against his better judgment agreed.

The story is adapted from Frances Hodgson Burnett's famous novel, "Editha's Burglar," directed by William Selzer.

Shenandoah Has Port In Pacific Northwest

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—The Pacific Northwest "port" for the Shenandoah, and any other heavier-than-air craft the navy or army may send to this section, is ready on the Camp Lewis military reservation, about 10 miles south of this city.

The port consists of a mooring mast 150 feet high, together with the necessary machinery to handle a dirigible and to supply it with helium gas and fuel. It is expected that the Shenandoah will be on Puget Sound in October.

The great mooring mast is situated on a prairie which affords plenty of room to maneuver the largest dirigibles. The mast itself is a great tube of steel, firmly lashed in the earth and held in place by cables anchored in concrete blocks. Twenty large lines, also anchored in concrete and handled by gasoline engines, will hold any dirigible that is tied to the mast. On top of the mast is a large swivel to which the dirigible is connected and which can be moved about according to the direction of the wind. The top, 150 feet is covered with a battery of floodlights which will illuminate the field for a mile in each direction.

Running up alongside the mast proper are three large pipes. From will carry gas, water and gasoline to the dirigible.

Then there is a third type of inscription, a bit ambiguous perhaps. At any rate Lloyd George's ardent supporters make one interpretation and humorists make another. The latter would say that the word "We" was not intended by the writer. The best example in this third class of inscriptions is the following:

"We came from Liverpool to see you, and were disappointed."

Friend and Foe Relate Their Feelings on Gate

CRICKEITH, Wales, (AP)—The garden gate of David Lloyd George's Welsh home on a hill back of this little town, is almost covered with inscriptions, written upon or cut into its panels by tourists who came to gaze and remained either to praise or condemn the famous politician who owns the place.

"Good Old David," says one inscription, "The Man Who Won the War," another proclaims him. These are manifestly from those who hold the Welsh wharfed in high esteem. But there are some of another kind. "What about my unemployment date?" one malcontent wrote upon the gate.
