GREAT THEFT IS CONFESSED

NEW YORK (By the Associated Press)—An excerpt from a letter in which George H. Christian, missing member and treasurer of the $2,500,000 bankrupt stock brokerage firm of Day & Heaton is declared to have confessed huge defalcations, has been made public by Assistant District Attorney Gibbs.

OUTLOOK NOW ENCOURAGING

(CHICAGO (AP)—President Coolidge in a letter to the American Bankers' association Tuesday, said there are multiplying evidences of improving conditions throughout the business structures of the world.

The president's letter was addressed to Walter W. Head of Omaha, president of the association and stated that the president had a strong feeling that the bankers of the country deserve generous recognition of their services.

The president also wrote of appreciation of the financial system and said that banking once was a mystery but no longer is so regarded.

Church, Choir, Follies, Then Opera

From the giddy whirl of musical revues to the glittering heights of grand opera is the flight traveled by Miss Mary Lewis, former Follies girl, now a success in European opera. She graduated from a church choir in her home town of Little Rock, Ark., to the chorus of a prominent Broadway show, and now is achieving new fame in grand opera at Vienna and London.

BISHOP LIKES SHORT SKIRTS

CHICAGO, Ill.—Bobbed hair, short skirts, and songs like "Yes, We Have No Bananas," were defended against banded hair, hoopskirts and "Pharaoh on the Nile," by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Methodist Episcopal church, in an address at a reception tendered him and Mrs. Hughes.

"We criticize their hair, their skirt, their stockings, their shoes, their cosmetics and manners," said Bishop Hughes, speaking of modern young people. "I suppose when you middle aged people were young, you would think you were gentle angels, sitting round on sofas with your hands folded on your laps."

"We never had a finer set of young people in the Methodist church than we have today. More than 20,000 of them attended lectures this summer and 95 per cent of the number listened with attention to serious lectures."

"Don't you remember when the young people used to hang their hair—let it fall all over the forehead? An unbecoming banded hair and bobbed hair, I take the bobbed variety."

"Remember those halloo skirts? When two women met on the sidewalk one had to step off to let the other pass. As between the old hoopskirt and present styles, give me 'the short skirt of today.'"

Sharp Eyes Needed in Alaska To Count Swimming Salmon

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—For the fourth consecutive year hundreds of thousands of red salmon have been stopped and counted as they made their smoldering "run" from the Kotik River into Kotik lake on Kodiak Island. The work was under the direction of C. H. Gilbert, fisheries expert of Stanford University.

A weir, or fish fence, was built across the river during the fishing season. The salmon were forced to pass through small gates in the fence to enter the lake. A watchman counted them.

Professor Gilbert points out that if the number of fish that return at maturity to the spawning ground in a certain year can be ascertained, there will be definite information as to the number to be saved each year for reproduction. The count also will determine the maximum of the salmon run. Figures for the fourth consecutive year will enable the packers to ascertain the number of four, five, six and seven-year salmon.

Phy, by the way, got even more pleasure than Marvin out of the fact that the first time Phymere Crystal Maltoid was shown around the hood to which she had belonged a few months before, she walked off with first honors. The better has decided young Phymere that Holstein breeding is the only life for him and has won him a drawer full of blue ribbons, two trips to State fairs, to the Pacific International Livestock show and to summer school.

"Much good advertising for Holstein-Freisian is done by Dr. Phy at the Crystal Union Stock Show. He always displays several head here and he believes that the "Best Breed" deserves a worthy setting. Even such a veteran viewer of exhibits as O. M. Plummer, manager of the Pacific International Livestock show, declares that Dr. Phy's exhibits outclasses any private display he has ever seen.

"An outstanding feature of the work Dr. Phy has done for Holstein-Freisian is the comparatively brief time he has been actively interested in them. It was not until 1919 that he bought the 100-acre Phymere farm and decided to establish a thoroughly up-to-date dairy there.

"Perhaps the reason he has been able to accomplish so much in less than five years is that he most thoroughly believed in Holstein-Freisian before he bought any stock. He did not buy in a speculative animal until he had studied the dairying question and knew that no breed would satisfy the needs of sick people as would Holsteins. Then, the fact that he bought his stock carefully and purchased animals who both win blue ribbons and records for production has not lessened the enthusiasm for Holsteins."

Holstein-Freisian Issue Tells of Phy's Work

A two page tribute to and description of the work Dr. W. T. Phy is doing for the country's dairy industry is carried in the October issue of the Holstein-Freisian World. This magazine is the official publication of the Holstein-Freisian association of America and reaches more than 500,000 farm homes. The article in part follows:

"Dr. W. T. Phy, owner and director of the Hot Lake Sanatorium, at Hot Lake, Oregon, is a Holstein-Freisian enthusiast. There is nothing very singular about this for Dr. Phy is the owner of a herd of registered black and white cattle, and such owners, the world over, are loyal boosters of the breed. Far more unusual, in fact, is that this man—a surgeon of nationwide repute and a leader of his institution to his present fame—can find time to be one of Oregon's leaders in the dairy enterprise."

"The particularly noteworthy phase of Dr. Phy's enthusiasm over Holstein-Freisians is the outlet it takes. No leader men is ever passively enthusiastic about anything in which he sincerely believes. The Hot Lake physician is sincerely believe in the superiority of the breed he has chosen for the Phymere dairy that he intends that when, in the near future, you hear the words, "Eastern Oregon dairying," you will immediately register a mental picture of Holsteins. It further hopes to persuade this vast country to become what he is sure a kindly nature intended it to be—the dairying center of the west. Eastern Oregon has previously "gone in" rather heavily for stock raising. To these ends Dr. Phy is giving generously of his time, thought, money and Holstein-Freisian enthusiasm."

"The article describes at length Dr. Phy's various activities of an agricultural and civic nature before it continues:

"Perhaps the outlet for Dr. Phy's enthusiasm over Holsteins which has attracted the most attention to the breed has been his repeated urging of some of his best stock at the Crystal Union and Union Stock Shows. The latter is eastern Oregon's "Big Stock Event." Dr. Phy has given a purchased bull to the owner of the winning cow in the grade dairy cattle class. He selects this group because he realizes that the bull between breed and registered herd is too wide for the average farmer to make in any way and believes that the registered sire is the best way for them to build up a herd of good producers."

"Dr. Phy gave one fine heifer to help sell the idea of Holstein-Freisians to the coming agricultural association. Phymere Crystal Maltoid was chosen to help Marvin (and his) of Cows, become a member of a boys' club club. Dr.

G. O. P. Has Chance in Wisconsin, Butler Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Not even his home state, Wisconsin, is conceded to Senator La Follette by the Republicans, William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, said here.

"I think the Republicans have a good chance to carry Wisconsin," he said. "As a result of country-wide observation, he added, he considered the La Follette movement to be losing ground. In the east, he said, it was "tending to be a novelty" and he attributed less attention to it in the west. La Follette's sentiment growing in some sections and decreasing in others."

day evening proved a drawing the high school building was packed. The large auditorium of the high school building was packed to its full capacity, with many unable to get seats. Four men entered this contest, each playing two numbers. The judges' decision gave the following results: Lee Smith, first, $75.00; J. A. Wilson, second, $75.00; and Dick Cole, third, $25. Following the dancing contest an old time dance was enjoyed at the McLean theater, with the fiddlers furnishing old time music for a couple of hours. The local orchestra furnished dance music for the rest of the night. The dance was well attended and lasted until well past midnight. The receipts for the fair are said to have been good, and this is considered to be the best fair of the three which have been held here, excepting exhibit part, which was not up to standard, due to the scarcity of products suitable for entering.

did not need the protection afforded under the Fordney-McCumber tariff act. Davis also attacked Mellon in connection with what he characterized as the "wholly varying, and somewhat arbitrary" made by the treasury of the probable surpluses and deficits when congress was considering the soldier bonus and the Mellon tax plan. "No explanation of the conflict has yet appeared," he said.
