Country Girl Turns Into Crook Queen In "Those Who Dance."

The amazing transformation that can be wrought in the appearance of a girl or a man by style of dress has been capitalized with telling effect by Thomas H. Juce in his latest dramatic production, "Those Who Dance," a First National release which comes to the Star Theatre today.

Blanche Sweet, who plays a leading role in the production, is transformed overnight from a simple little country girl into an stirring underworld "queen," and she does it by means of a hair bob and flaringly chic frocks, which work such a startling change in her appearance that she scarcely looks like the same person.

Warner Baxter, who plays opposite to Miss Sweet in the fine production, also lends an illustration of the change worked by clothes and a hair cut in a man's appearance, for he puts over an effective disguise in this way, with no make-up aid except that of a big rear painted on one side of his face.

"Icebound," Running At Arcade, Is Popular Picture. "Popular appeal in motion pictures has often been denounced as 'low brow' and a 'box-office success' has been called a catering to lower instincts. But every work of art, no matter what the creator's medium, has been a success because it has great human appeal. It was just this popular appeal which made it live. It is popular appeal which decides whether a work of art will live. It is good taste — and good taste grows each year — which brings success to writer and artist, and the belief that a popular reception means a lowering of artistic standards is

"Happiness" Has Delightful Humor; Showing at Sherrys.

The comedy delight of the year is "Happiness," the second motion picture made by Laurette Taylor for Metro, which opened yesterday at the Sherry theatre. Miss Taylor is simply ravishing as a happy-go-lucky little shop-girl who brings the joy of living into a home made colorless by too much wealth. Her personality shines from the screen to the audience like radium, and is as gratifying to those who need treatment for the blues and other nervous ailments.

Four Gigantic Sea Vessels Take Part In "Sea Hawk"

Having viewed the year's biggest dramas and spectacles dealing with adventure on land, local photoplay lovers are curiously awaiting the initial showing of what is regarded as the greatest sea drama ever filmed, Frank Lloyd's production of "The Sea Hawk," a First National picture, adapted from Rafael Sabatini's celebrated novel of the same title. It will be shown at the Arcade theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Four gigantic sea going vessels of the sixteenth century, exact in every detail and manner by over a thousand sailors, corsairs, galley slaves and officers, participate in much of the action, several naval battles, during which ships ram into each other head on, then lash themselves together, while their crews engage in hand to hand combat, are said to be but a few of the unique and highly exciting scenes of the production.

Oliver Tressilian as a Spanish prisoner of the oars of the galloon, his escape and final elevation to the command of a Moorish galleon, and all of the hush's corsairs. "The Sea Hawk" reveals many bits of historical facts never visualized before, and there is said to be many thrills and heart throbs in the episodes depicting the struggles of the late English knight to convince his sweetheart of his innocence of the murder of her brother, and to regain his lost standing among his countrymen, and in the favor of Asad, ruler of Algiers.

Milton Sills heads the exceptional cast in Mr. Lloyd's big spectacle, playing the dual character of Sir Oliver Tressilian and Sak-el-Bahn. Edna Bennett has been given the principal feminine role, with Lloyd Hughes, Marc Macfermont, Wallace Berry, Frank Currier, Wallace Macdonald, Hector V. Sarno, Fred Silva, Kathleen Key, Mena, Medea Ladina, Christine Mont, Lionel Bellmore, Robert Holder and others of note lending support.
