Bebe Daniels Discovers Perfect Reducing Process.

Attention all ye women who are unappealingly plump! Bebe Daniels, noted Paramount screen star, has made a discovery that will interest you. She has found the best reducing process ever brought to the attention of a long-suffering, flesh-laden female. No heavy muffs, bath salts or massages are necessary. Just go to Nassau in the month of June and work.

When Miss Daniels, Richard Dix and a company of Paramount players returned to New York from the Bahama Islands where scenes were made for "Sinners in Heaven," a new Alan Crosland production, it was discovered that everyone had lost weight.

Miss Daniels was ten pounds lighter, Dix had lost fifteen pounds, Alan Crosland dropped twelve pounds, and other members of the company lost from five to twenty pounds in weight. "You don't have to do a thing," explained the star, "The tropical sun just takes the excess flesh away. I wasn't particularly anxious to lose weight but I did. As a place for reducing I'd say Nassau was the spot and I recommend it to anyone who wants to take off flesh fast and without much trouble or inconvenience, except a very hot sun."

However a loss of ten pounds did not mar Miss Daniels' beauty, as you will be able to see for yourself if you visit the Star theatre during the next two days, where "Sinners in Heaven" is the film attraction.

"Feet of Clay" At Arcade Beginning Monday.

What's next? That's the query in Hollywood since the word has gone out that Cecil B. DeMille in his newest Paramount production, "Feet of Clay" has exhausted absolutely the best methods of logically inserting pretty girls into a modern motion picture. The idea, pretty girls and novelty are interestingly combined in "Feet of Clay," which opens a run of three days at the Arcade theater next Monday. Bathing scenes, an exotic dance and a modiste shop, featuring a score of more beautiful models are but a few of the high spots of the production. All three sequences require girls of charm and poise picked from the avalanche of beauty which descends each year upon Hollywood and, especially, upon the office of Cecil B. DeMille, which is the mecca of all who have witnessed the parade of beauty to stardom through DeMille productions.

Featured in the principal roles of "Feet of Clay," which was adapted to the screen by Boutch Marie Dix and Bertram Millhamer from the magazine serial of the same name by Margaretta Tuttle, are Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Victor Varconi, Ricardo Cortez, Julia Payne, Theodora Kosloff and Robert Edison.

Exceptional Vaudeville Offered By Arcade Sunday.

Vaudeville is the popular entertainment of the present day. Another bumper show will be seen at the Arcade theater on Sunday.

The headline attraction is Ted Shaw & Sister in a tight-wire novelty. They incorporate a series of stunts in a manner that is both educational and entertaining, performing exceptional feats of balancing and tumbling. Dale & Dalton, comedy producers who always captivate an audience with their clever routine of comedy song, talk and music, exchange "Fire Revue" in a "Day Out" by beautiful and talented young ladies in a singing and dancing offering with many lovely changes of costume. Art Wallace in "In Convenience" He is a character impersonator and a linguist with many bits of fun and pathos. McWinder & Fox, two joes with a kick. A clever pair of banjoists in a repertoire of selections from opera and jazz.

Sherrys Showing "The Broken Spur" Today Only.

The big outdoors is always interesting. This picture is laid in the great forests, valleys and mountains of the Northwest. Nature in her majestic grandeur is unfolded upon the screen. The spring of a railroad in this virgin country with its many men, horses and steam shovels feverishly working like a lot of ants; the cutting down of the big trees and then sawing them up into merchantable lumber, are all shown as they are really taking place in this storehouse of nature. To this are added the beautiful views of the forests, the streams, the mountains and the peaceful valleys. With Jack Hoxie as the featured player, supported by an excellent cast, "The Broken Spur" is a strong, interesting Western picture. Comedy showing, Charles Chaplin in "The Idle Class."

Epic of Frontier Starts Three-Day Run Sunday.

"Out of the Dust" is a picture of the type of melodrama. It is a big, clean, thrilling outdoor picture of early pioneer life, inspired, we are told, by the popular paintings of Frederic Remington, who, perhaps with Colonel Cody, is credited more than anyone else with knowing the real and best of it was in his earlier days. J. P. McCarthy has caught the spirit of the Remington paintings and has artistically woven beautiful campfire scenes, alpenstocks and the livelier glimpses of spirited Redmen into his photoplay. All of these fans to whom the old type of western melodrama means much, will find the feature a rare treat. The picture is exceedingly well presented with careful costuming of the period, and a faithful attention to detail. The early scenes of life at Fort Sheridan, when the army post was a mere barricade and the Indians roamed the plains, are unusually interesting. Charming incidents make these sequences truly delightful and picturesque. Exciting, life-enriching excursions, exciting encounters with Indians and mad horseback rides, contrast the man's mode of living with the monotony of the army post as viewed from the woman's angle. The story which the picture introduces is the eternal triangle set in this early primitive atmosphere. The story vibrates with a human appeal and it is all convincing and real. It contains many of those moments which make the eyes suspiciously moist, while now and then a bit of good humor creeps in to even the score. It opens a three-day run at Sherrys Sunday. Comedy showing, "High Heel Stuff."

GEARHART HOME RAZED SEASIDE, Ore.—Two hours after Mrs. R. A. Letter left Gearhart for Portland this morning her $4000 summer residence was completely destroyed by fire, the brick fireplace chimney alone standing in the ruins.
