A NEW COMMENTARY I give into you. That ye love one another, as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.—John 13:34, 35.

Are You Patriotic? Then Vote!

On November 4th a National Presidential Election will be held in the United States. The only right way to select a President (and other executives) is for everyone to signify his or her choice. Consider it a sacred duty to your country to go to the polls and cast your vote.

If It Is Up To Congress

Political correspondents continue to speculate on what may happen should both Coolidge and Davis fail to get a majority of the electoral votes, in which event election of a president would automatically go to the house of representatives.

Such a possibility should be viewed from a standpoint of what has happened in the past if it is to mean anything. It is just 100 years since congress was called upon, in the only instance of its kind in history, to name a chief executive, following a deadlock in the electoral college. In that year there were four candidates and each had a formidable following.

Andrew Jackson, although leading in both popular and electoral votes, was defeated in congress by John Quincy Adams. William H. Crawford and Henry Clay were the other candidates.

The popular vote is unreliable. All four candidates ran in but five states; three ran in six states; in seven states the contest was between two. In six other state the legislature, not the people, chose the electors. But the popular vote, as nearly as it can be counted, was: Jackson, 152,901; Adams, 114,023; Crawford, 46,979; Clay, 47,217.

In the electoral college, the vote stood: Jackson, 99; Adams, 84; Crawford, 41; Clay, 37. No one having a majority, the election went to the house; and as the constitution provides that only the three highest candidates can be voted for, Clay was eliminated. He threw his support to Adams.

In the ensuing ballot in the house, Adams received 87 votes, Jackson 71, Crawford 54, according to the preference of the members. But the decisive vote was by states, and of these Adams had 13, Jackson seven and Crawford four.
A change of three votes in the house might have taken three states from Adams and added them to Jackson's total, making the election of any candidate impossible as long as the representatives stood to their guns. In that case, John C. Calhoun would have become president, and the whole course of American history from that date onward might have been changed.

Two of these states had but a single representative—Illinois and Missouri. In the Louisiana delegation, Adams had two votes to Jackson's one, the vote of the state being therefore cast for Adams. In the electoral college, both Louisiana's and Illinois' majority had been for Jackson, Missouri had been for Clay. Small wonder that the Jackson adherents cried that the election had been stolen.
Nevertheless, there is not the slightest evidence of corruption in the house.

There is even less danger of a purchased election if the vote is thrown into the house this year, for the preferences of the various congressmen are well-known, and the whole country will be on the lookout for any evidence of bargain and sale. The method provided by the constitution is adequate, and there is no doubt that the people would abide by the result.

one week the Prince of Wales declared himself in favor of the seven-hour day.

Seasons vary little. Remembering ashes is about as difficult as remembering the drip pan under the refrigerator.

MANY DEATHS FROM BOOTLEG LIQUOR

Recent investigation has disclosed the fact that America is flooded with falsely labeled bootleg liquor, which is causing an alarming number of deaths. Hospitals and insane asylums are drawing their quota from the army of victims whose health has been wrecked by poison booze.

In many cases the delicate lining of the stomach is partially eaten away or badly ulcerated, and the whole digestive system upset, from the effects of these vile bootleg concoctions.
Even the moderate use of the stuff often develops a serious inflammation of the stomach which may finally involve the bowels and bring on appendicitis.

The first warning of digestive trouble is usually a burning sensation in the stomach after eating, sometimes accompanied by excessive gas, noisy rumbling, nauseating, acidities, headaches or other distress. If you are a sufferer, don't experiment. Get Smith Bros' M. A. C., the guaranteed stomach treatment, and take a dose after each meal.

A Ride Will Prove All The Amazing Facts About The Chrysler Six

The fact that the Chrysler Six is not only different from conventional cars, but is vastly superior has created a demand that has taxed the resources of a great organization.

The whole country is talking about this car. You yourself have undoubtedly heard much about its performance, its economy and its other unusual characteristics.

But if you have not examined it, ridden in it, driven it, you have no real appreciation of the contribution it has made to the advancement of motoring.

There are many other things that will arouse your enthusiasm when you ride in the car. You will be especially impressed with the way space has been engineered. Chrysler cars are not excessive in size.
Yet they offer the spacious comfort ordinarily associated with heavier cars.

A demonstration awaits you at any time that suits your convenience.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time payments.
Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Dealers everywhere.

Being president, or even chief justice of the august and theoretically sedate supreme court, need not rob a man of his human qualities.

At least so thinks William Howard Taft, who has served in both jobs. Dignity and formality are all right, and without bounds must be maintained in those jobs, Bill thinks, but if does public officials good to come down off their own horse and think and talk like average human beings once in a while instead of seeking to maintain an attitude of superman superiority.

Bill demonstrated his belief, both by words and actions, the other day when the members of the supreme court gathered at the White House to pay their respects to the president before resuming their judicial labors after the summer's vacation.

It was, of course, a formal occasion—so long as they were with the president. Some of the members of the court attempted to continue the formality, after they emerged from the executive presence, when photographers asked them if they wouldn't pose for a picture for pictures wasn't seemly for supreme court justices, they suggested.

Then up spoke Bill, the chief justice of them all, in informal terms.
"Come on," he said, waving his arms at the reluctant ones. "Get the shutter. Line up and do your stuff. You might as well they'll get you anyhow. And while you're about it."

Which, we submit, shows that Bill is a pretty good scout.
