MALONEY WILL OPEN OFFICES

H. M. Maloney, who for a number of years has worked with the income tax returns for individuals, companies, and corporations both in Walla Walla and in the county, announced today that he would reopen his accounting and income tax offices in La Grande about November 1st. Prior to his location here Mr. Maloney worked for the United States government in the income tax department which gives him thorough information and practice on all the procedures of that gigantic organization. He has fought many successful fights for clients and has secured many payments from the government to eastern Oregon people who had paid in more than their business justified to the government.

work for trial, using them in a 50 foot chain, with a deputy sheriff on each end.

Police officials also stepped in, trying to get the town and breaking up the narcotic traffic.

Along Came Bill.
Then the governor and Judge Crump, backed by the business men, decided to hire Bill Tighman as town marshal.

Though Bill is along in years he is just as "hard" as he was in his halcyon days, the officials say.

Bill has closed up the saloons a lot of the dance halls, and put the dope sellers in the park. In one week before he and Deputy Sheriff Aldrich captured 85 of the dancing girls out of town.

But Bill says he needs a lot more help if his cleanup is going to be successful.

One of Bill's best volunteer assistants—and you can't take Bill's word for it—is J. E. Murphy, vice president of the Council Chamber of Commerce, member of the Board of Health, chairman of the school committee, proprietor of the Murphy dance hall and manager of the "Murphy Dancing Girls."

Fox Farmers Guard Carefully Their Stock at Next Convention MINNEAPOLIS (AP).—Live silver black foxes valued at approximately $1,500,000, representing the pick of these animals from ranches in all sections of the United States, will be shown at the exposition to be held in conjunction with the convention of the American National Fox Breeders association, November 17 to 22.

Special arrangements for the handling and housing of the animals will be made. Their city earnings and royalties, together with their pecuniary worth makes the task of caring for these valuable foxes a delicate one.

One-third of Filipino Children Go to School

MANILA (AP).—The total expenditures for the public schools of the Philippine Islands during the year 1923, amounted to $7,220,000, or $221,000 less than for the year 1922, according to figures made public by the bureau of education.

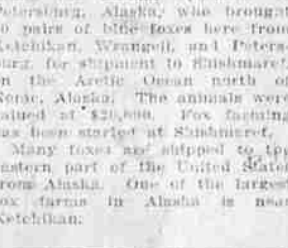

A total enrollment of 1,128,493 school children was reported in the public schools for 1923 out of a school population of 3,977,447. The percentage of attendance throughout the year was 28. A total of 25,780 teachers was employed, of whom 325 were Americans. In the public schools only the English language is taught.

Pacific Coast Ready for Polo SAN DIEGO, CALIF. (AP).—The attention of polo enthusiasts soon will be focused on the Pacific coast. Major Colin G. Ross, secretary of the Coronado Country club, announces that the polo season at Coronado Beach, Calif., will open January 1. The annual mid-winter tournament, under the auspices of the American Polo association, will be held March 1 to 20. Several cups will be competed for.

The three turf polo fields at the Coronado Country club have been rebuilt and reconstructed since last season and will be in fine condition.

Alaska Turns to Fox Farming SEATTLE (AP).—Fox raising is becoming one of the most important industries of southeastern Alaska, according to Dr. V. H. Stone, fur animal specialist of Petersburg, Alaska, who brought 40 pairs of blue foxes here from Sitka, Wrangell, and Petersburg for shipment to Sitka, Alaska, for shipment to Sitka, Alaska. The animals were valued at $20,000. Fox raising has been started at Sitka, Alaska. Many foxes are shipped to the eastern part of the United States from Alaska. One of the largest fox farms in Alaska is near Ketchikan.

REMODELLING IS COMPLETED

The work of remodeling the east side of Hill department store, which was necessary to install the ladies ready-to-wear department which now takes the place of the former men's wear department, has been completed and the firm is now prepared to offer their patrons every convenience.

The new stock of ladies ready-to-wear is not yet complete but it is probable that the entire stock will be received about the first of the month.

The new department is excellently arranged. On the right hand side booths have been installed in which dresses, coats, etc., are kept and on the same side, near the rear, two dressing rooms are nicely equipped.

On the left hand side show cases are now in. The color scheme, featuring gray, conforms with the remainder of the store and, combined with the lighting effect, presents a handsome and inviting appearance.

FARM PROBE HELD UP BY GRIM ANGEL

Secretary Wallace of the department of agriculture by receipt of several messages asking consideration of various persons for the office. It was made plain at the White House, however, that he would give little consideration to the new appointments at least until after Wednesday when burial services are to be held for Mr. Wallace at Big Moose, Iowa.

While an early selection is expected to be made by the president in view of his proposal to get under way in the near future an investigation of agricultural conditions it is not considered likely the choice will be made before election day, a week from Tuesday.

The name of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, was among the first suggested by Mr. Coolidge Monday. John Lee Coulter, president of North Dakota Agriculture & Mechanics college, and Samuel Adams, editor and former president of the American Agricultural Editors' association, are other names mentioned.

NEW SEWAGE SYSTEM IS NECESSARY

the method will be an engineering problem that should be designed by someone very competent to estimate the present need and those of a substantial growing community.

"I might impress upon you, however, the immediate and imperative necessity in this connection. A long delay would submit the city to both moral and legal embarrassment. One case of typhoid fever has recently developed in a citizen residing along the line of the sewer works. And while we cannot connect this definitely with the sewer the evidences are very suspicious.

This necessary improvement will no doubt call for an expenditure of quite a sum of money which I assume will need to be raised by a municipal tax or bond issue. Consequently you should make every effort to bring an understanding of this necessity to all of the citizens so that they may decide intelligently, and I urge that this be done at once.

Yours respectfully,
W. T. PAIV,
Member of State Board of Health.

Stock Deaths.
In addition to the case of typhoid fever that may be due to the system's faults, farmers have reported death of several head of stock that they believe has been brought about due to the animals drinking sewage water. No positive proof of this is at hand but, as in the fever case, the evidences are suspicious.

The situation has been bad for years, in fact, almost since the present system was installed in 1909-1910. Efforts have been made to improve the plant but with little success. A few years ago a chlorination improvement was put in that done away with some of the odor but really helped the matter very little.

Situation Made Plain.
An Evening Observer reporter, interviewing the city manager, determined the facts of the case as they stand now.

The trouble with the present sewage tank is that it is not only inadequate but the construction is not such as to do its work efficiently. The present tank, a shallow one from 6 to 8 feet in depth, cannot handle the sewage properly. The chlorination plant also fails to achieve its purpose, due to the fact that it is impossible under the present system to break down the bacteria in the solids in suspension in the sewage by chlorination.

On the other hand, with an Imhoff tank installed and practically pure water flowing through the same ditches, the farmers might be willing to pay a certain sum for these water rights for irrigation purposes. This is an opinion advanced as such by Sherwood Williams. Other members of the commission and Mr. Hayes hold that this opinion is sound and that such a charge might rightly and fairly be made when improvement comes.

An Imhoff tank would be from 15 to 22 feet in depth and consulting engineers seem of the opinion that such a tank would be the correct solution for the problem.

In the meantime, engineers are making studies preparatory to actual steps.

solids cannot be reached by the chemical.

Imhoff Tank Favorable.
"My opinion is that the city will have to build a two-story Imhoff tank," Mr. Hayes stated when questioned, continuing "which will be equipped with apparatus to take out the solids, chlorine the sewage and then put it in filter beds from whence it will emerge practically pure water." Cost of such a tank would be somewhere in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Recently Pendleton installed an Imhoff tank at a total cost of $82,000 but this heavy expenditure was due to the fact that it was also necessary to purchase the site and relay laterals. La Grande already has the site and the sewer laterals and trunk sewers are in excellent condition, so that their cost would be necessary except the actual building of the tank. There is a vague possibility that the present tank could be utilized in such construction with lower cost. This also cannot be determined until later.

Farmers in Arms.
Farmers in the districts in which the sewage runs after leaving the sewage tank are up in arms about the matter and have just cause for their complaints. In fact, it is probable that they would, if no remedial methods were resorted to, close up the sewer.
