

NEWS of SOCIETY

Chapter I, P. E. O., met at the home of Mrs. J. D. McKennon Friday, November 7, at two p. m. with Mrs. McKennon and Mrs. J. W. Knowles as joint hostesses. Mrs. C. H. Bidwell had charge of the first part of the program and gave a comprehensive review of the life and works of Bjornson, the Norwegian writer, born in 1822, died in 1910. Bjornson's writings were mostly confined to common affairs and conditions peculiar to the peasant life of his own people. Mrs. Bidwell's subject was "Stories of Norwegian Peasant Life" and she vividly drew her work picture of the geography, agriculture and architecture of the country, that one could fairly see the magnificent mountains, the rolling slopes and peaceful valleys where the peasants in their picturesque and colorful costumes filled their own small farms.

A Smart Costume

A FEW interesting touches rescue this frock from the commonplace. They are the wide, lace-trimmed linen collar and cuffs, and the large square buttons of black with white circles mounted on a strip of white braid that trim the waist and skirt and the pleated section inserted in the front. The material is black moire. The smart little hat is of white felt.

Inglo, Mrs. Jack Hiatt, Mrs. Herbert Thompson, Mrs. W. S. Harer, Mrs. H. M. Larson and the hostesses.

Mrs. E. Jacobson proved herself a charming hostess yesterday afternoon when she was hostess to the Friday Bridge club. Mrs. Sam Harris won high score at cards with Mrs. Claude Lynch winning the second prize. The home was beautifully decorated with silver pens and before adjournment a delicious luncheon was served.

One of the outstanding social events of the season was the election night dance at the Elks' club. Throughout the evening the lobby was crowded with Elks and their friends, where by means of a special leased wire the last returns of the election were available. Returns were also compiled on city and county races and announced to the crowd. The radio in the lobby was also used to a good advantage in entertaining the crowd.

In the ballroom over a hundred couples danced to the strains of the Star Noveltty Orchestra, while sherbet was served in one of the alcoves continuously during the evening. With everyone reporting an excellent time there is much anticipation in Elks circles for a series of dances during the winter months.

Announcements Social announcements may be printed in this column free of charge. Any announcements pertaining to any functions such as cooked food sales, etc., will be refused. Announcements to be printed the same day, must be in society editor's hands by 9:00 o'clock. —News editor's note.

The Young Women's Educational Auxiliary of the First Methodist Episcopal church will meet Wednesday, November 12, at the home of Mrs. H. E. Harer. Mrs. Olsson and a committee will be in charge of the evening's program.

Mrs. H. E. Hendrickson will be hostess to the Monday Bridge club Monday, November 16.

Mrs. Ed. Boylen will entertain the Tuesday Bridge club Wednesday afternoon, November 12. As the regular meeting day falls on Armistice day the meeting will be held the following day.

IRISH Consider the Auto An Evidence of Wealth DUBLIN (AP)—The laws of Ireland provide that when a pauper seeks support by the state, he must apply in the district where he was born. This has led recently to paupers who have lived for years in the Free State, applying for admission to Ulster workhouses. The authorities of Enniskillen, in northern Ireland, recently were called upon to consider the case of
