LA GRANDE TO INVADE UNION

The Tigers owe one thing in particular to be thankful for after the Boise game and that is that all men came through the scrap without injury. This will leave Mac-Tavish full working power to get ready for the three remaining games on the La Grande schedule.

The local eleven has yet to meet Union, Pendleton and Baker in the order mentioned. Of the three Pendleton is rated as the hardest team. Pendleton football fans recently had reason for rejoicing when the Bucks beat Walla Walla 13 to 0 on Armistice day.

Union will furnish opposition for the Tigers at Union next Saturday afternoon. Union is known to have a game little team with a real bunch of fighters. Baker had difficulty in beating Union 13 to 0, as, although the Tigers should come out ahead the game should at least be considered pretty stiff practice.

Some new faces will appear on the Tiger side of the line. It is expected that Barbeau and Larison will have an opportunity to show their stuff at tackles. Gwilliams and Webb are booked to play ends and Cullen center.

In the backfield Price will try a whirl at half and Green is slated to call signals. G. L. Dutton of La Grande will referee with E. J. Shuster officiating as umpire.

Wheat.

Estimates of the world wheat crop were not materially changed by the October reports. It now seems probable that final estimates will show a small increase in the North American crop with a slight decline in the European production. Winter seeding generally has not progressed very favorably throughout the wheat producing countries. In Oregon conditions were very favorable in the western part of the state, and the early seeding has made good progress to date. In the eastern part of the state much of the seeding was done "in the dust," and the recent rains will give the crop a good start should favorable growing temperatures prevail.

Corn.

Apparently more than the usual increase of the Oregon corn crop this year was allowed to ripen for grain. The heavy rains of recent date have so filled this corn with moisture that it will have very poor keeping quality. The United States corn crop is very much less than last year, and of poor quality. The crop of merchantable quality will probably not exceed two thirds of the merchantable production of last year.

Potatoes.

Owing to wet weather, a large percentage of the Oregon crop is still in the ground. Digging results have shown considerable rot, small size, and few tubers to the hill. The United States crop as a whole shows a substantial increase over the prospects of a month ago.

Potato crop prospects improved during October in the large producing states to the extent of about 26,000,000 bushels. Quality of the crop and forecast of production as of November 1, 1924, and the December estimate for 1923 are as follows:

November 1, 1924

State	Quality	Bu. Est.
Montana	87	2,256,000
Idaho	92	10,925,000
Washington	93	6,664,000
Oregon	85	3,780,000
California	90	7,750,000

December, 1923.

Montana	87	2,866,000
Idaho	92	11,725,000
Washington	83	8,066,000
Oregon	85	4,180,000
California	90	7,810,000
Total for U. S.		412,392,000

Apples.

Apple crop prospects improved during October in the principal producing states to the extent of about 2,500,000 barrels in the total crop and 750,000 bushels (250,000 barrels) in the commercial crop. Quality and forecast of production, both total and commercial, as of November 1, 1924, and the December, 1923 estimate of the commercial crop are as follows:

November 1, 1924.

State	Quality	Tot. Bu.
Colorado	80	3,024,000
Idaho	75	2,520,000
Washington	80	20,944,000
Oregon	80	6,048,000
California	80	7,370,000
Total for U. S.		177,238,000

State	Com'l. bbl.
Colorado	806,000
Idaho	714,000
Washington	5,704,000
Oregon	1,359,000
California	1,474,000
Total for U. S.	27,188,000

December, 1923.

State	Com'l bbl.
Colorado	403,000

California	1,732,000
Total for U. S.	24,463,000

(1 bbl. equals 3 bushels)

The total U. S. Commercial crop was estimated at 21,030,000 bbls. in 1922, and 21,557,000 bbls. in 1921.

NORMAL SCHOOL GRID TEAM WON FROM P. C. SQUAD

MONMOUTH, (Special) — The Oregon Normal School football team met the Pacific College football eleven at Newberg Saturday afternoon and defeated them by a 13 to 0 score. Owing to the continued rain the grounds were in a poor condition for playing but in spite of the rain and mud the Normal school carried away the victory in a hard fought game. Rain fell continuously during the game but a large crowd of rooters were present.

Practice teachers from the rural schools completed their six weeks' teaching and returned from the different towns Friday and others will take their places in a short time. Practice teachers in the town and grade schools teach for three months and their work will be finished at Christmas time. A large number will graduate from the Normal school at this time.

President Landers, of the Oregon Normal school is attending teachers' institute at Westport.

DOG LITIGATION IS ENDED

McMINNVILLE, Ore. — Reversal of the decision of the local justice court in the near famous "dog killing case" by the circuit court brought the controversy to end this week with a verdict for the defendant, W. F. Cyrus.

Mr. Cyrus, instructor in the high school, shot a dog caught killing his chickens. Mrs. Katie Kamph, owner of the dog, complained and Mr. Cyrus was fined in justice court. A statute of 1866 justified killing dogs under certain circumstances, but a statute enacted in 1907 defined dogs as personal property, of which owners might not be deprived without due process of law.

Girls to Enter Competition.

WEDDERBURN, Ore. — On receipt of word here that the Misses Rosa and Frances Callahan, of Talent, students in the high school at Ashland who formed Jackson county's team in the bread-baking contest, of the Pacific International Livestock exposition at Portland last week, had won first place, a movement was started to raise a fund to send the Gallatin sisters as Oregon's champion team of bread bakers to enter the coming national bread-baking contest in Chicago.

County Treasurer Resigns.

CANYON CITY, Ore. — County Treasurer John Wafcher resigned his office this week and A. C. Sly was appointed in his place. Mr. Sly was postmaster, so this caused him to resign in that capacity before accepting the county office. Mr. Wafcher accepted a position in the Bank of Stevenson, to fill a vacancy which had been caused by a resignation there.

MANY PRIZES WON BY FARM

Plymere herd sire. Many of the animals who won the other nine ribbons are his progeny, while all of the younger stock on Plymere farm has been sired by him. He hopes to be sired by Carnation King Mutador, the bull, valued at $20,000, which Dr. Ely lost a year ago. His dam is Fobes Pontiac Longfield, a pure strain record getter on Plymere farm. At present she holds the state record in the three-year old class for butter production.

At the ceremony Saturday afternoon when the gold medal was presented to the Plymere herdsmen, the stock show management said, "We had this medal to give away last year but couldn't find any booth which justified it. This year we have had no difficulty deciding. It's yours."

Returning with the Plymere stock was the Hollywood heifer, the goal toward which every calf club boy was striving. This was won by Marvin Daniel, who is spending the year following his graduation from the Cove high school as assistant herdsman at Plymere farm. Daniel won the Hollywood heifer on four scores: excellence of his calf, his herdsmanship, showmanship and the record book he has kept during the year. His entry was a heifer which Dr. Ely had given him.

After a night in jail he was released only to be arrested again at Londonderry. Now he is serving a 30-day sentence for failure to obey a mandate to keep out of the north.

'Neath Education's sway,
Soars upward still.
Its halls of learning fair,
Whose bounties all may share,

Thy safeguard, Liberty,
The school shall ever be—
Our Nation's pride!
No tyrant hand shall smite,
While with encircling might
All here are taught the Right

SMUGGLING RING HEAD IN FLIGHT

were many diamonds among the smuggled goods, and these left plain tracks for the agents to follow.

With the killing in Los Angeles Monday of Harry J. Katz, another trail was opened, and this, it developed Wednesday, had resulted in the finding of more jewelry, which is now en route to New York for examination by agents who have been in charge of the case.

Agents of the service have found that most of the jewelry came from Austria and Germany, direct to the United States, but back of that they traced many valuable pieces into Russia. The latter pieces had been sold in Austria and Germany, and the smugglers, it was said, picked them up in those two countries when the low value of the currencies permitted them to operate on a larger scale and make their purchases at low prices.

It may be some weeks before the customs authorities clean up the whole case, but they feel that their work is sufficiently near completion to permit publication of the results so far attained. They hope to bring conviction of some of Medianski's aides, whose names it still is necessary to withhold and they have instituted efforts looking to the apprehension and return of Medianski.

SUSPECT HELD IN KATZ CASE

enter the apartment, mount the stairs to Katz' quarters and await Katz' answer to his knock. Shoot the diamond broker and escape the way he had come. On this theory they took Hall into custody late Wednesday and booked him on suspicion of murder.

Has Wife and Family.

Hall has a real estate office on South Vermont avenue here, although he lives in Santa Monica. He is 41 years old, married, and has three children.

Mrs. Hall, who is a daughter of the pioneer Sheskin family of Santa Monica, when informed of her husband's arrest, said that she knew Hall had been acquainted with Katz. She said that Hall spent Tuesday at his home, and went to his office as usual Wednesday morning.

After Hall's arrest, officers announced that they had located at his office diamonds and jewelry valued at approximately $1200. Hall is alleged to have admitted to the officers that the jewelry belonged to Katz, but declared they were given him by the latter to be marketed.

Application for a writ of habeas corpus ordering Hall's release was filed in superior court late Wednesday. The writ is returnable Thursday.

While Hall's attorneys were trying to obtain his release, detectives gained access to two safe deposit boxes in which it was believed Katz had concealed precious gems. Neither box revealed anything of value, it was said.

HUNT'S LETTER

affiliations and views were generally not based on knowledge or judgment but on prejudice. It is all right to vote for the best man for sheriff or school superintendent, but in national politics no man is better than his party. If Twain had confined himself to what he knew and not wandered off into the unknown field of politics, his opinions would carry more weight."

Even as thoroughgoing a politician as the postmaster general himself could not have quoted orthodox party creed more accurately.

Air service headquarters gets some odd explanations as reasons for forced landings or delayed flights, but the freakiest is held to be that of Lieutenant Bob Wimsatt, who had made a landing near Fort Worth while en route to Brooks Field, San Antonio, Tex.

"Delayed due to cow eating wing," said the wire Wimsatt sent to the commanding officer at San Antonio.

Next day, on his arrival, Wimsatt showed a number of homemade patches on the lower wing panels and stabilizer where he swore a cow with the appetite of an ostrich had made a square meal.

Nothing like press agenting one's self. The Washington Post, edited by George Harvey, said at the top of page one, column one, on the day before election:

"Colonel George Harvey picks another winner. It's a habit!"

By saying it first, George at least made sure it was said.
