Miami Is Locality Of Splendid Film Showing at Sherrys.

If you are one of the many who long to see Miami before they die, here's your chance. You now have an opportunity of having your wish at least partly gratified. "Miami," the super-drama of America's Monte Cristo, which will be shown at the Sherry theater for three days beginning tomorrow will bring to you all the pleasures of that famous resort. Every part of the "earthly paradise" has been utilized in the filming of the picture. Most of it was made in the open in the semi-tropical background of swaying royal palms and giant cocconut trees, of picturesque islands built by man on the coral ledges known as the Florida Keys, of the deep green waters of Biscayne Bay. The harbor of Miami is alive with water craft of every type, yachts of every description from the huge sea-going palaces of two hundred feet or more, down to the dainty, speedy, glass-bottomed, houseboats of every size and degree of luxury, and speed boats which dart about dizzily at 45 miles an hour. There is also a variety of airplanes, some from the Almirante service to Havana, others from the Glenn Curtis flying school.

High-class Vaudeville Bill at Arcade Theater Sunday.

Another high-class vaudeville bill is promised at the Arcade theatre on Sunday, where an interesting program which is novel and entertaining in presentation will be witnessed and enjoyed.

The "Three Kays" present the "Novel Equilibrium," a remarkable exhibition of gymnastics where the female member of the trio does the major portion of the understanding—a wonderful program of muscular development.

Harry Mayer is a blackface comedian and musician whose stories are the kind that always win laughs and whose music is of the biting kind which is popular.

Barney, Carlton and Brown, comedians and harmony vocalists do their bit in a popular selection of singing numbers in which their voices blend harmoniously.

Adell and Maye in "Music, Songs and a Story," offer a number which is filled to the brim with good music, singing of the popular quality, and fast dancing.

Dave Vanfield and Co., in his latest conception "The Count," in "Pastimes at the Club," will contribute a good supply of wholesome comedy in his juggling offering, handling everything in sight with ease.

BOY, 16, IS ARRESTED.
SALLEM, Ore.—C. E. Wells, 16, was taken in charge here by the police department and was held for investigation. The boy was scantily dressed and suffering from exposure.

When questioned by the officers, the boy said his father was secretary of the Canadian Continental Coal company in Seattle, and was about to share in the sale of large holdings in Canada. The parents' address was said to be Third and Union streets, Seattle.

Splendid Cast Takes Part in Christie Feature.

"A wonderful comedy cast" is the phrase used in the billing of "Hold Your Breath," the new Christie feature at the Sherry theatre, and that's exactly what it is. There's a collection of comedians and character players that would make a nucleus comedy director green with envy.

"Bainty little Dorothy Devore has more pep than almost any other comedian on the screen. While she has starred in many Christie comedies and played funny leads in features, this is her first comedy-drama. Judging by her work in this, there is no saying how far she may go in this field, for which she is particularly fitted by personality and talent.

Walter Hiers of the generous proportions and jovial smile, plays the good-natured fiancée. Tully Marshall, Jimmie Harrison, Jimmy Adams, Freda Bremer and Lincoln Plummer have other important parts. Comedy bits are contributed by Patricia Palmer, Rosa Gore, Jay Bolanco, George Pierce, Victor Rodman, Budd Pine, Eddie Baker and Douglas Carter.

The story is a fast-moving tale of a girl who endeavors to hold down her husband's reputation, for while he is in jail there are plenty of thrills as well as an abundance of clean comedy. Some praise should go to Director Scott Sidney for his skill in making comedians of the monkey and other animals in the film.

"Hold Your Breath" is effective and pleasant entertainment. Comedy showing, "Rough and Ready."

Hoot Gibson's Latest Is a Real Thriller.

The boys who tend the cameras for the Universal Pictures Corporation are doing a lot of "straight shooting" these days.

Many high-class productions have eased their way out of the Universal studios of late and another bull's-eye has been struck in Hoot Gibson's newest feature, "The Sawdust Trail," which opened at the Star theatre last night. This is a combination thriller, fast action comedy and western melodrama. It is a happy mixture that offers colorful entertainment in several different lines.

The story was written by William Dudley Pelley for the Saturday Evening Post and adapted to screen use by Raymond Schrock and produced under the direction of Edward Sedgwick. It relates the adventures of a red-blooded youth who stayed in college seven years because he knew as a graduation present his father was going to give him a job in his iron foundry and he hated iron. He was used to spending gold and plenty of it.

The lad gets a job in a "wild west" show and courts calamity by making love to a notorious cowgirl who tops the show and whose mother is "Calamity Jane." This wild west show stuff is about the best of his kind ever converted to screen entertainment. It is thrilling, very funny and carries a story that is human filled with drama. Gibson does good work as the college chap buckaroo, and Jone
