Christmas Candies

Everybody likes to make candy, and so this discussion of candy, though timely, is really the solution of a year-round problem. In most families at least. We, although long since have outgrown a belief in Santa Claus, still devoutly pray for the survival of the family as a social unit, and rejoice therefore, at anything to make families happier, healthier, more closely bound together, both in work and in play.

Taffy apples, made of good materials, are an excellent winter form of candy. They are not difficult to make. If red taffy apples are desired, substitute white sugar for brown and dissolve cinnamon drops in the boiling syrup.

Glaze fruit and nuts are another form of sweets that are highly preferred by most people. If one is fortunate enough to have an old-fashioned marble topped table on which to make Christmas candies, the process of fondant-making will be simplified. Then it is possible to make any of the following kinds of candies from a fondant foundation.

Dip the fruits and nuts in a sugar syrup, by means of a long pin or thin knitting needle. Drain on oiled paper and remove to a cool place until thoroughly dry.

Cooked fondant is more difficult to prepare than many of the uncooked fondant recipes but is preferred by most people. If one is fortunate enough to have an old-fashioned marble topped table on which to make Christmas candies, the process of fondant-making will be simplified. Then it is possible to make any of the following kinds of candies from a fondant foundation.

Chocolate creams are made by flavoring small pieces of fondant with different flavorings. Dip in melted bitter chocolate, to which has been added a small piece of paraffin.

Nuts may be put in the centers of some of the chocolate creams, candied fruits in other. Fresh grapes and other fresh fruits may be used for bonbons, providing the candy is to be eaten within a day. To coat the bonbons, melt a piece of fondant over hot water, stirring to prevent a crust forming, and color it as is desired. Dip the bonbons by means of a fork or candy dipper.

By adding candied fruits and chopped or whole nuts and forming the fondant into a loaf, a kind of "fruit paste" may be made. This should be sliced and wrapped in oil paper, or dates and figs may be stuffed with this fondant mixture. In fact, there is endless variety to be secured by its use.

Marshmallow tufts are made by dipping marshmallows into a syrup cooked to 238 degrees F. After the marshmallows are dipped they are to be rolled in chopped pecan meats and placed on oil paper to dry.

Fruit caramels are Christmas in effect and good all the year round for children, and so easily made.

In packing the Christmas candies, no matter what ones you make, the best results will be achieved by having the pieces of uniform size, by using narrow strips of cardboard to separate the rows and by filling in the corners with

Berlin Theaters Unite To Cut Actors' Wages

BERLIN, (AP) — Highly paid stars and superstars of the Berlin stage are walking about with long faces these days. A drastic cut in pay is in the offing for them. Already the national federation of stage producers has agreed that the fees of stars must come down, and now the managers in the various cities are getting together to put the verdict into effect.

The Berlin theatrical directors have a great diversity of interests and viewpoints, and it is usually difficult to get them together on any proposition. They are unanimous, however, in agreeing, first, that this year's theatrical season is the worst in years, and second, that the prominent stars are charging such exorbitant fees that prices of admission must be boosted to a point where the public cannot afford to patronize the theatre.

It has been tentatively agreed that Berlin stars are to be paid from 75 to 400 marks a night. It remains to be seen whether actors and actresses accustomed, many of them, to 800 marks and more a night will accept this drastic reduction.
