BLANKET OF SNOW RESTS OVER CITY

Chicago left 10 minutes late, while No. 17 to Seattle left at 1:28 yesterday instead of 12:55. The pony from Huntington was an hour late, while No. 23 from Salt Lake was 50 minutes behind time. No. 18 going east was an hour and a quarter late.

The weather bureau looked for continuation of moderating temperatures today, although it was feared that as soon as the storm clears there may be a return to colder weather.

WARMER AT POCATELLO

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — With the mercury reaching the high mark of 28 degrees above zero, a light blizzard of snow followed, here during the day. The weather which had held Pocatello and southeastern Idaho in its grip for the last week has completely vanished.

Starting late Saturday night, the temperature rose steadily until Sunday evening. At no time has the mercury been lower than 26 degrees above zero, during which period, nor has there been any severe wind to accompany the light fall of snow.

SNOW MOVES EASTWARD

CHICAGO (AP) — The zero weather which held the middle west in its grip Saturday night and Sunday had moderated Sunday night with the approach of a slight fall of snow over the entire area.

The lowest temperatures of the season were recorded Sunday in the northern tier of states average 20 to 30 degrees below zero. In the east, the temperatures ranged from 26 degrees below zero in northern New York to 12 degrees above in the area contiguous to New York City.

Northwest Still Cold

"The temperature will moderate still further in middle and middle-western sections," said H. G. Cox, weather forecaster, "but low temperatures will continue in the northwest. Some snow is indicated in most of the states of this forecast district from the Rocky mountains across the great lakes and lower Ohio valley Monday and Tuesday."

Several fires were reported during the day from many points in the central section of the country, four persons losing their lives at Chicago, Ohio, three in Alton, Ill., and one in Cleveland, Ohio. Damage to the amount of two million dollars was reported by a fire in Chicago, Mass., and a two hundred thousand dollar loss was suffered in Canton, Ohio.

TEMPERATURES HIGHER IN OREGON AND WASHINGTON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Higher temperatures prevailed Sunday in Pacific coast states, much to the relief of the people. As far inland as Spokane snow fell and cold weather still held on doggedly. Interior Washington was under a snow blanket Sunday night and there was a heavy fall last night around Spokane.

Over toward the coast, however, the rivers began to break loose from their ice fetters and shipping, especially on the Columbia, was impeded by the moving blocks of ice. The weather warmed up over virtually all of Oregon. The snow was melting and water ran in the highways.

Although it was still cold in the higher altitudes of northern California and much of the ground is covered with snow, the weather had moderated sufficiently in the lower levels to bring the populace outdoors. It was warm and clear in Sacramento and motoring was resumed.

In the southern, central part of the state, in the San Joaquin valley, cold and snow gave way to rain. And in southern California citrus growers were rejoicing at pleasant weather and left their smudge pots for their automobiles. At no place in the south was the temperature lower than 30 degrees above zero.

TWO ARE FROZEN TO DEATH

DAVENPORT, Ia. (AP) — Two deaths due to the excessive cold were reported in this community Saturday night. The dead are John Frazer of Walnut and John McDonald of DeWan.

Frazer, an 82½-year-old, was found frozen rigid in his bed. He was 74 years old and had been dead 12 hours when discovered by neighbors.

McDonald, aged 53 years, was found frozen to death sitting in his automobile near his farm, three miles from town.

Women's Emancipation Spreads

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The emancipation of women in Latin America from the traditions that have kept them from earning their living like men, continues to make progress. Fifty women have just been added to the Buenos Aires police force. They have been assigned to patrol the parks, where they will look after children, protect their own sex from theft, and keep order on the streets.

America in Year 1921 Triumphant in Sports

America's eclipses on the Olympic track was almost complete, for in the individual events her only victory was scored by Jackson Scholz who captured the 200-meter dash. Altogether it was the most disappointing performance this country has ever made in the Olympics.

Following the Olympics, the international battleground suited to this country and the United States completed the biggest campaign in sports annals with spectacular triumphs over Great Britain, France, and Australia.

The sport of kings also saw America triumphant for the second straight year when Epineard, French thoroughbred, failed in gallant attempts to outrun American thoroughbred in the special races.

As for inland as Spokane snow fell and cold weather still held on doggedly. Interior Washington was under a snow blanket Sunday night and there was a heavy fall last night around Spokane.

control. Professor Wolfe declared: "It is a fault of population theory that it is man-made. Such attitude never count the vital costs of a high birth rate—the costs to the women of the race. The very essence of economy is to balance real costs against real income. A real population theory must take account of the way in which half the race, hitherto practically ignored, will calculate the costs—against the satisfactions—of large families?"

Chicago (By the Associated Press)—Persons living will see a population of 2,500,000 in the United States if the present rate of increase keeps up, according to Professor A. B. Wolfe of Ohio State University speaking here today before the American Statistical Association.

Unless increase is quickly and greatly retarded, reaching the saturation point is a matter of only a few generations at most, not thousands of years as popularly supposed," Professor Wolfe said.

"In the absence of an improbable revolutionary improvement in agriculture, we shall be pointedly confronted with the choice of reducing either our birth rate or our standard of living. A very essential part of the population problem is to get the people to see that they are confronted with a condition, not a theory."

"Even if it could be demonstrated that this country could support 500,000,000 people by eliminating waste and giving up meat, the standard of living would continue to fall and the problem of numbers continually get worse."

What are the facts? "Only inferior lands, limited in extent, remain for settlement. Progress itself involves a paradox. It is inconceivable that technical advance can maintain the pace it set when what Walter called "the wonderful century," and which Keynes thinks may prove to have been a magnificent episode. In the main, future improvements are to be looked for in the fourth decimal place. There is a limit to the degree to which cheapened manufactures can offset increasing costs in extracting raw materials from nature's resources which are being exhausted with whirlwind rapidity."

Taking up the opposition to birth control, Professor Wolfe declared: "It is a fault of population theory that it is man-made. Such attitude never count the vital costs of a high birth rate—the costs to the women of the race. The very essence of economy is to balance real costs against real income. A real population theory must take account of the way in which half the race, hitherto practically ignored, will calculate the costs—against the satisfactions—of large families?"
