La Grande Theatres

"The Destroying Angel" at Sherrys Today Only.

Laughs alternating with thrills and excitement enacted by the gifted Leah Baird and a cast of clever screen artists, artists who are also stars was the surprisingly good offering at the Sherry theatre yesterday in "The Destroying Angel." One may go some time without discovering better romance, comedy and wholesome entertainment than is shown here in six fast reels. It is quite a departure from anything Leah Baird has previously done and places her on the plane with the comedy favorites of the screen.

Here is a thrilling comedy romance developed with many delicious surprises from the popular book by Louis Joseph Vance, and can be said to please the most exacting audience. Starting with the pretty feminine thrill of a secret marriage, the story tells of a romantic girl who mysteriously disappears from her circle in society and is boosted to stardom on the stage by a shrewd theatrical manager under the enticing name of "The Destroying Angel." Her identity is effectually concealed even from the college boy who went through the wild ceremony with her, and who later is fascinated with the famous actress. Miss Baird in her role as the dancer has many lovers at her feet and leads them a merry chase. She becomes the victim of desperate plots, but the right man—a fighter and love maker to win the heart of any girl—follows her through every peril.

It would not be fair to tell all the story. One must see "The Destroying Angel" to enjoy it.

Comedy, "In Bad the Sailor."

"The Fast Set" Due at The Arcade Tomorrow.

Philanderers have one redeeming feature — they make indifferent husbands appreciate their own wives.

In "The Fast Set," which William de Mille produced at the Paramount West Coast Studio, a "great lover" really saves a family from disruption by making love to an author's wife.

The screen play, written by Clara Beranger from Frederick Lonsdale's stage success, "Spring Cleaning," is one of the most sparkling comedies of a love triangle.

"The husband is so busy writing love stories about fictional characters that he is blind to the charms of his wife. But when a popular "great lover," leader of the "fast set," dares to show an interest in the young woman, the author fights back. As soon as the philanderer seems to want her, the husband realizes that he, too, wants her.

The finesse with which his rival plays the game astonishes the author and he resorts to a daring step. For the purpose of making his wife realize her position, and to insult her friends with biting comparisons, he invites a girl from the streets as guest to a dinner party given by his wife and her friends.

As a climax the novelist pays the philanderer the great compliment of listening to advice on the best way of winning back his wife!

Betty Compson plays the charming young wife with fine artistry. Adolphe Menjou has an ideal part as the philanderer; Elliott Dexter plays the novelist and ZaSu Pitts is cast in the role of the social outcast. A typical de Mille ensemble supports the three featured players.

Real Play of Today at Star Theater.

Good folk will get a thrill out of "Wine," the Universal-Jewel all star production which opened its local run last night at the Star theatre. It will afford them plenty of opportunity to shake hands with themselves and say, "I knew it all the time—and it's got to stop!"

Referring not to the picture, but to the condition revealed in the picture. For it's a realistic expose of bootlegging and resultant conditions, elaborately staged and convincingly portrayed. It is good entertainment from the dramatic viewpoint, daringly educational.

Even the most skeptical of the reformists cannot help being impressed with the vividness of this picture. As to its fidelity to reality, there can be little question. Any prohibition enforcement officer, judge or newspaper man can attest to its truth.

The story is built around the experiences of a family that left the beaten trail of its sedate existence to frequent a path that from the outset could spell only the utmost folly. A rich man, awakened to the fact that he is no longer rich, plunges into a law-breaking venture with a big bootleg concern.

The climax isn't twaddle or overdrawn. The picture was well directed by Louis Gasnier and the players, Clara Bow, Huntley Gordon, Myrtle Stedman, Forrest Stanley, Robert Agnew and Walter Long and others do excellent work.

American Red Cross Relief Fund to Build Two Hospitals in Japan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The memorial hospital to be constructed in Tokio from the unused portion of earthquake relief fund of the American Red Cross will be of reinforced concrete and will not exceed three stories. These features are designed to make the building as nearly earthquake proof as possible.

Reports to Red Cross headquarters in Washington reveal that the Japanese will build a branch hospital in Yokohama. Work on the buildings will begin next spring.

The Japanese will spend $1,500,000 of the unused relief fund for the two buildings, reserving the remaining $1,500,000 as an endowment.

Statistics Show Boy Babies Have Not Strength of Girls

CHICAGO (AP).—Boy babies have not the same chance of living as girl babies, they are the weaker sex, according to Prof. S. J. Holmes, zoologist of the University of California, speaking here today before the American Statistical association.

"In the first year of life many more boys die than girls, the proportion of boys deaths being greater in the first month and gradually decreasing through the rest of the year. Studies made in places, periods and social strata where the infant death rate is low, show the ratio of boy deaths is high. As we go back in embryonic life this ratio steadily increases. The male, apparently, is the weaker animal, at least at the start of life."
