DOGS UNDER QUARANTINE

GIANTS PASS, Ore.—All dogs at large in Grants Pass, unless treated for rabies, will be shot at sight, as a result of the strict quarantine put into effect by the sheriff's office. The action followed the biting of the 12 year old daughter of W. W. Caviness. The child received immediate attention and was reported out of danger.

It isn't often you can get a volcano to work when you want it to, but Henry King, the director of "The White Sister," starring Lilian Gish, at Sherry's, was able to photograph a violent eruption of Mt. Vesuvius just in time for the final scenes of the P. Marion Crawford story, which call for exactly the kind of explosion that happened.

From the picture film audiences will get an extra thrill out of knowing that the exploding crater and the lava are real, and that Miss Gish, Mr. King and the rest of the company were right on the spot.

"The White Sister" is a Henry King production for Inspiration Pictures, Charles H. Duell, Jr., president and is released through Metro. Ronald Colman, a well-known leading man of the stage, makes his first screen appearance opposite Miss Gish. Others in the cast include Gail Kane, J. Barney Sherry, Charles Lane and Madame Juliette La Violette.

Vesuvius Eruption Shown in "White Sister."

One of the most pronounced shows of the current vaudeville season will be assembled and witnessed at the Arcade theater on Sunday.

Headed by those sterling artists "Chappelle-Stinnette & Co." "The Golden Voiced Fashion Plates" in a musical "Let It Reign," a choice selection of beautiful songs harmoniously blended and so perfectly arranged and presented as to make a most satisfying and amusing bit of entertainment. "Palmer & Wells, popular comedy producers present "An Episode of the Highway," their latest comedy success and they promise plenty of laughs in their breezy blend of dialogue and song. "The All Trio, instrumentalists and vocalists in a choice selection of popular renditions via banjo and violin, also performing in costume well known operatic numbers. Bob Sherry tells character stories with different dialects and brings to vaudeville many new stories that are likeable and he tells them as you like to have them told. His singing numbers are a treat in itself as he is a popular entertainer. "The Flying Howards in "Aerial Thrills," a combination routine of ring flying acts and catches and "Balancing" "oil traps." It is an act that while it only runs eight minutes, contains a world of novelty.

"Roaring Rails" Showing for Last Time Tonight.

Good old primitive melodrama is in the Harry Carey attraction at Sherry's. Instead of driving a horse of flesh and blood he drives an iron horse in "Roaring Rails" which calls upon every conceivable element to furnish action, thrills, suspense and heart appeal. Nothing is neglected to point a vigorous yarn of courageous heroism—the kind of heroism that overcomes the villain of the day. Harry Carey is quite at home in this picture. Although he has scenes after scene which demands up and at "em action his moments of pathos are even better registered in the mind of the commandant of the adopted boy he holds back from France.

His role as that of a locomotive engineer and the first time is introduced after an introduction of the characters. In driving an express train he allows a head-on collision through requiring the youngster from falling out of the cab. Discharged, he becomes a hobo and the following scenes are suggestive of Chaplin and Jackie Coogan in "The Kid" as the two pals appear as tramps.

From this point the melodrama comes right out in the open showing virile and virginal sharply divided. The latter's streets are aimed at confronting the youngster and threatening him with all kinds of torture. Meanwhile the runaway interest is introduced when the hero is attracted to a waitress in the camp restaurant.
