An art program of great educational value was given at the meeting of the Neighborhood club Tuesday when the subject "Hidden Records of the Past" was presented in a most interesting way with Mrs. J. B. Lynch as chairman of the afternoon. Mrs. H. H. Cleaver gave a scholarly discussion on "Archaeology," emphasizing the fact that an understanding of the past is necessary for a complete understanding of the present. She outlined briefly the different ages into which the progress of man is divided, describing some of the relics of man's handiwork of old civilizations which throw a light on the history of nations now existing.

Mrs. T. B. Maxwell very graciously sang "Consider and Hear Me," by Maxington Barker. The singing of this psalm was especially in keeping with the spirit of the program. Mrs. Edward Holmeis accompanied at the piano.

Mrs. Lynch closed the program with a reading of papers on "The Bible and Archaeology," showing how recent excavations bear out the facts of Old Testament history. A unique feature of this number was the beautiful and distinctly religious stage setting from which Mrs. G. S. Harris read passages from the Holy Bible illustrating Mrs. Lynch's paper in a most impressive way.

U. S. JOURNALISM GRADS Praised BY SIR R. JONES

LONDON (AP). — Sir Roderick M. Jones, chairman of visitors, the British news agency, in a recent letter to The Spectator, urging support of the journalism courses of the University of London, pays a warm tribute to the educational standards of American journalism. "During each of my visits to the United States," says Sir Roderick, who recently visited America on a tour around the world, "I have been impressed by the high educational standard of young American journalists. They are recruited, I find, in increasing numbers from the several universities which devote themselves, in part, to the training of men for newspaper work.

"The fruitful experience of these institutions, justified the progressive and enlightened journalism policy of the University of London, which, over here, has been the pioneer in this as in many other educational activities."

Good Looks Dietate Woolen Stockings for Women

PARIS (AP). — The fear of a red nose is alleged to have caused silk stockings to practically disappear from Paris streets during the past week. Bitter cold weather was responsible. "It was not a question of style, but one of comfort, which brought out neat, light-colored woolen stockings to replace the silky silk creations of ankle protectors."

LANE BUDGET ADOPTED

EUGENE, Ore.—The Lane county budget for 1926, as made up by the budget committee consisting of the three members of the county court and three other citizens was adopted as a whole at the annual taxpayers' meeting here. There was but little discussion on various items, the most objection being to the item of $2000 for a county agricultural agent. It was retained by a good majority. The county had been without an agricultural agent during the past year, the former county court abolishing the office. The meeting also went on record as favoring the continuation of a timber cruise but nothing was provided in the budget for it.

The total amount to be raised in the general fund, as provided for in the budget was $227,825. This included county roads and bridges. Besides this, the county will raise $160,000 for market roads and this sum will be matched by state money.

ACHES OF ICE GO OUT

HOOD RIVER, Ore. — Following bombardment of a warm chinook wind, the foot thick ice that had spread from bank to bank on the Columbia river above the new interstate bridge here, went out. A week of slow thawing rains had melted the thick ice, which was broken into small pieces as it struck the concrete piers of the bridge. No damage resulted. The channel of the Columbia remained filled with small ice floes. Heavy rains and the rapid thawing the past 24 hours brought numerous slides down on the Columbia river highway. Although at no time blocked, traffic was considerably hampered by the boulders and debris on the road.

AVIATORS FORCED DOWN

ROSEBURG, Ore. — Lieutenants Kelley and Miller, flying from Vancouver to San Diego, were forced down here when they were unable to fly through Canyon Creek pass, south of Roseburg. They tried to negotiate the canyon between Canyonville and Glendale, but met such a storm of rain and fog that they could not get through and turned back, reaching Roseburg with barely enough gas to make the landing. They refueled their planes and planned to reach Medford if the weather cleared sufficiently.

Women In London Prove Smart Police Officers

Seventy-Five Lady Cops Did So Well Last Year That Force Will Be Increased to 125; Women Police Exempt from Night Duty.

LONDON (AP). — London's 75 policewomen have been so busy during the last year that they are going to have another group of 50 added to help them against the increasing delinquencies against the law. The police board has decided that there are certain beats and certain jobs that only sturdy women can handle properly, and that henceforth a good sized corps of policewomen will be maintained by the department.

The police department first put women on the force during the war, and they proved their value. They are particularly useful today in controlling the venturesome of the male sex who jeopardize pedestrians of the other sex. It is no unfamiliar sight in London to see some man being sent to headquarters on the arm of a policewoman, and the women arrest on an average as many law violators as a corresponding number of men.

Highway survey Completed. KIAMATH FALLS, Ore. — The survey of the proposed Bonanza-Beatty section of the Klamath Falls-Lakeview highway will be completed tomorrow, officials of the state highway department announced. The contemplated road extension is from Bonanza to a point 12 miles east of that town. The local highway department expects the highway commission to include this stretch of road in the 1925 road construction program for the state highway.

No Night Duty. Women members of the London force are expected to obey the ordinary regulations of the department with the exception that they do not do night work nor follow the strictest rules concerning their hairdressing. They do, however, have to report at certain times for drill and inspection, and their buttons and shoes are expected to be just as glossy as those of their blue-coated brothers. The women wear uniforms designed, except for the skirt, like those of the men but their helmets are just a little more feminine and individualistic, with a lower crown and wider trim. There are no regulations prohibiting the women from marrying, but, according to the records, only 11 of the present force are married and only six are widows. The new members to be added to the force have been chosen from among the women who, in many cases, sacrificed home ties to perform police duty in London during the war.
