27 YEARS AGO

Daily Morning Observer, January 10, 1925—The snow fall at Sparta during December was 41 inches.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Moon returned to their home in Kamela Saturday evening, after visiting a few days in the city.

Dr. N. Moller was called to Mr. George Ruckman's yesterday to attend Mr. Ruckman's son who is suffering with typhoid fever.

Snow is so deep in Sumpter Valley that the logging train has been taken off the S. V. Railroad for season or until sawyers can be more readily delivered to the railroad.

Mr. Peter McDonald and wife, accompanied by her two cousins, the Misses Eva and Inna Krohn, passed through the city Saturday on their return to their home at Alsea from Ohio, where they have been visiting for the past month. The young ladies will spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

If anyone thinks La Grande does not make a good average when it comes to bowling just let him run his eye over the score board at Mr. Dumphy's alley and he will soon feel a change come over him. The highest daily score for the week ending last Saturday is as follows: Monday, Frank Alexander 49; Tuesday, E. Magaffey 52; Wednesday, O. Ralston 56; Thursday, C. Messner 56; Saturday, Tom Walsh 50. As will be noticed, O. Ralston and C. Messner have tied and will be obliged to roll another game in order to determine who should be entitled to the prize given each week to the one making the highest score.

A very pleasant surprise party was given to little Hazel Smith at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, north of the track, Saturday evening by six-teen of her little playmates. Games of all sorts were engaged in until about 10 o'clock, when they were treated to a bounteous supper. Those present were Misses Gustie Fisher, Mary Fisher, Ida Hedrick, Rosa Levine, Ora May, Hazel Getchell, Betty Carter, the James Gosnell, Stabel Stacy, Hattie Short, and Masters Harry Fisher, Earl Short, Henry Stacy and Willie Getchell. District Deputy Grand Master Joseph Woley, of Summerville, installed the recently elected officers of La Grande lodge No. 16, I. O. O. F., last Saturday evening. Following is a list of the officers and names of those installed: Avin Jones, N. G.; Frank Childers, V. G.; W. S. Wines, R. S.; William Erickson, P. S.; J. A. McWhirter, Treasurer; G. W. Ball, Chaplin; Bert Steerman, Warden; William Gilder, J. G.; James Moss, O. G.; J. A. McWhirter, R. S. to N. G.; J. C. Henry, L. S. to N. G.; M. Nelson, R. S. to V. G.; Jos. Anson, L. S. to V. G. There were several visiting brethren from neighboring lodges to view the interesting work of installation.

Eight—Pat horns, by the carload, are being shipped almost every day. The Union Lumber Company shipped almost 200,000 feet of lumber during December.

Vagrant King Offered Home.

BAGDAD, (AP)—The suggestion that former king Hussein of the Hedjaz might find a home in Iraq, where his son Feisal is king, may be the solution of the homeless ex-monarch's problem. The Baghdad Times learns on good authority that this question has been discussed by the council of ministers. The decision arrived at was that there would be no objection to Hussein's taking up residence in Basrah, provided he came to Iraq as a private individual, not as a monarch.

It is considered probable that Hussein will agree to these terms. Money isn't very important until you haven't any.

Jack Pickford To Be Featured in "The Hill Billy."

"The Hill Billy" is an original story of the Kentucky mountains and the young mountain folk of more than two decades ago, written by the young star himself, his celebrated sister, Mary Pickford, and Marion Jackson, the writer.

Lucille Dickson, sixteen-year-old star and Hollywood's youngest leading woman, plays the leading feminine role opposite Jack Pickford, who was associated with the famous director, D. W. Griffith, for a long time and with the late Geo. Loane Tucker, who created "The Miracle Man," directed the picture.

Miss Pickford and her brother, Jack, have admirably fitted the scenes of the story with wistful feelings and longings of a young mountaineer, whose mind rises above the narrow confines of life in the hill regions.

In the leading role, Jack forgets the part in his hair, the stiff collar, the tuxedo, and appears in tattered grab and bare feet, in that characterization of American youth, which has endeared him to the hearts of the motion picture public.

In addition to more than the average sisterly and brotherly affection between these leaders in screen work, Miss Pickford reveals her own true present service to Jack because of his aid to her in a directorial capacity in two of her big feature successes, "Through the Back Door" and "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

For nearly two years Jack Pickford was not seen on the screen, and in this time he was with his famous sister as one of her film directors. Then he decided to return to the screen, not only as a star, but as an independent producer. "The musical comedy, full of smiles, tears and wondrous music, is booked at the Arcade Theatre for Monday night, January 13th. Reserved seats for this attraction will be placed on sale Thursday at the Glass Drug store.

The engagement is under the direction of the Messrs. Shubert. This rare musical gem cannot fail to outline everything that has gone before it. With immortal melodies by the famous composer, Franz Schubert, it is a treat to sit through this musical offering, in which one musical number is followed by another of even greater beauty. Sigmond Romberg, who adapted the composer's exquisite "Unfinished Symphony," "Ave Maria," "Moment Musical," "Serenade" and "Song of Love," deserves a great deal of credit for his rendering of great master's melodious and musical charm. The story of the life of Franz Schubert, around which the plot of the play revolves, is full of love interest mingled with tears.

Six Acts of Vaudeville Billed. Sunday at Arcade.

A vaudeville program of six high caliber acts and the majority holding stellar attraction honors will be presented for your approval at the Arcade Theatre on Sunday, with the first chapter "The Way of a Man" by the author of the "Covered Wagon."

La Rose trio, three bright lights of vaudeville, appear in a singing, dancing and acrobatic novelty. The setting for the act represents a bower of roses and the acrobatic feats are performed on an apparatus covered with flowers. Their offering is a combination of grace, charm, and skill. Crosby & Jackson, "The Two Funny Boys," make a modest appearance and sing the latest popular and jazz numbers and put over cross-fire patter that abounds in witty sayings and situations. Anthony Nocera in "The Gay Serenader" possesses a fine baritone voice of wide range and can sing a comedy or classical song with equal facility. Swann & Farrell presents "The Wise Jay," in which Swann imparts a small-town wise jay to perfection and creates much jollity while the female proves an excellent foil in putting over the comedy material. The Brazilian Duo presents comedy in repertoire songs. This unusual duo has a wealth of new songs and fun which is rendered in a most unique manner. Joe Garcia, equilibrium marvel, offers an act that really thrills. Going high into the air he balances on the very tips of chairs where the least touch might cause him to fall to the ground. Gasps of wonder greet the daring of this little wonder.

"Listen Lester" in Film Version To Show Here.

As a speaking stage success "Listen Lester" was hailed as one of the greatest comedies ever produced. The screen version is said to even surpass in comedy the stage achievement. The story itself is one of riotous fun being woven around the efforts of an old Luthor, to get back some love letters he had written in unlikable moments. He employs a detective, named Lester, to recover the epistles which change hands almost 100 times during the ensuing action.

Special efforts were entailed to make the rich humor of the story bear fruit on the screen. Comedy experts were engaged to devise new and unusual "gags." One of the biggest difficulties encountered was to see that the letters had a different medium of exchange each time. This was eventually accomplished with the result that the action is fast and continuous throughout.

Of course, the film entails a sweet love story, the heroine being Eva Novak. Appearing opposite her is George O'Hara. The cast is of all-star brilliancy. Harry Myers and Lee Moran have the chief comedy roles. Others who appear are Louise Fazenda, Alec Francis, Dot Farley and Eugenia Gilbert. William A. Selzer directed. Also showing a Berg Nature picture.
