THOU SHALT LOVE THE LORD thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. This do, and thou shalt live.—Luke 10:27, 28.

Justice McBride

State House, Salem. (By Mail).—There is one man in Salem, at least, who never gets excited when a legislature meets. In fact he never gets excited about anything pertaining to state affairs. That man is Justice Thomas A. McBride. He is rated all over the coast as the youngest man for his years to be found. And this is due, the judge asserts, to his pious way and open life when young. He used to mine gold up at Auburn in Baker county. In those days there was no need of judges and juries for "Judge Lynch" still reigned supreme and guilt was established quickly and punishment followed even more quickly.

The judge has engaged in many lines of business and most of them returned him a great deal of pleasure and some money. But there was one undertaking he looks back upon with rather a ruffled feeling—it was a small saw mill which he undertook to operate, and today his heart goes out to the small saw mill man. It is his belief that the devil concentrates all of his vicious emotions and energies in a small lumber manufacturing plant and that no man who operates one can be entirely loyal to his country, his flag or his family. We believe that Judge McBride, true as he is to strict interpretation of the law, would find his sympathy giving the small saw mill man the best of any law suit that might be taken before the high court.

The other day we met this grand old man, and to our question as to what legislation he would like to see enacted, he replied: "Well, I have nothing to ask. The old state was admitted in 1859 and she has functioned ever since in a pretty good way regardless of the many hiccups and excitable moments brought on by enthusiastic minds." Displaying the ever-present mirth and wit which are so well known to Judge McBride's large circle of friends, the old jurist then remarked, "I said I had no legislation in mind, but I have. I am still like many new legislators—I am for the old flag and the appropriation bill."

Senator Robert J. Carsner, who is a big cattleman in the Primeville country, heads the medicine and pharmacy committee in the senate. "Bob" is a dignified man and his stenographer admits that he is the most immaculate dresser in the senate. He usually watches his language very carefully, but when some of us began calling him "Doc" because of his connection with the medicine committee the dignified senator lost his dignity and engaged in a profusion of language that would not be suitable in any well organized Sunday school.

There is a lot of school legislation cooking, and possibly a lots needs to be cooking. Whether it does or not there will be something doing in that educational committee in the senate which includes Clarke, Garland, Fisk, Johnson, Tooze, Butler and Dennis.

England Aids Australia To Care for Immigrants

MELBOURNE (AP)—The British government will advance Australia approximately $2,000,000 for every 14,000 immigrants sent to Australia from England, according to an agreement recently concluded between the British treasury officials and Australia. The money will be used for public improvements such as waterworks, roads, railways, land clearing and housing in sections where immigrants settle, and in other ways providing opportunities equal to those of native Australians.

Great Britain has agreed also to contribute to the cost of re-educating immigrants in the various states. Australia expects to borrow a total of $10,000,000 for immigration purposes. The imperial government's agreement provides for the payment of $25,000,000 for federal charges, the money to be used for public improvements. The duration of the loan itself will be undertaken by Australia, and the borrowings will probably extend over a long period.

The New South Wales government has recently accepted the Commonwealth government's offer of $2,500,000 for fostering immigrants. This money will be advanced in London as required.

Not having any faults would be a very great fault.

Income Tax Facts

It should be noted that the revenue act of 1924 provides specifically that the status of a taxpayer relative to the amount of his personal exemptions shall be determined by apportionment in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer was single, married, or the head of a family. Under the preceding act the amount of the exemption to which a taxpayer was entitled was determined by his status as a single person, married person or the head of a family on the last day of the taxable year.

A taxpayer who was married on June 20, 1924, is entitled to an exemption of $1750. For the first six months of the taxable year he is classed as a single person, entitling him to an exemption of $500—one-half of the $1000 exemption allowed a single person who is single for the complete taxable year—and for the last six months he is classed as a married person, entitling him to an exemption of $1250, one-half of the $2500 exemption allowed a married person living with wife or husband for the full taxable year. If on June 20, he became a widower, he is classed as a married person for the first half of the year and as a single person for the latter half. In such computations a fractional part of a month is disregarded, unless it amounts to more than half a month, in which case it is considered a full month. These figures are based on the assumption that the return is made on the calendar year basis, as most are.

If on June 20, 1924, a taxpayer ceased being the head of a family—the support in one household of a relative or relatives being discontinued—he is granted the same exemption as in the case of a taxpayer married on June 20, a total of $1750. With regard to the $400 credit for a dependent, however, it is provided that the taxpayer's status on the last day of the taxable year (December 31, if the return is made on the calendar year basis) shall determine his right to such credit. If on that day he was the chief support of a dependent who is under 18 years of age, or is incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective, he is entitled to the $400 credit. If during the year his support of such dependent ceased, the credit is not allowed.

27 YEARS AGO

Daily Morning Observer, January 22, 1898—Jay Taylor of Crickets Flat, is in town. Baker City has a tax levy of 10 mills. Roy Miller, cashier of the Joseph bank, arrived on the Elgin train last evening. R. Morris of Crêpe, was in the city yesterday and took a new seed drill home with him. Senator Wade, the Summerville merchant, was in the city yesterday. Rev. Father Moore returned from Portland Friday morning where he had been two weeks receiving treatment for his eyes. He is much improved. County Clerk J. H. Oliver, who has been in Portland several days as a witness in a mining suit in which J. R. Farrell, the silver republican is interested, is home again. It snowed 15 inches Tuesday night at Meacham and the snow is stated to be four feet on the level. Assessor J. H. Chandler, Hon. J. W. McAllister and Geo. H. Currey returned yesterday morning from Portland, where they attended the meeting of the state populist central committee. There were fifty passengers on last evening's train bound for the Klondike. J. W. Bates, formerly a clerk of the M. and M. company, will leave this morning for Cedar Rapids, Michigan, where he goes as a representative of the Causoy Pierreal estate firm of this city. This enterprising firm is doing a great deal of work in bringing the advantages to the Grande Ronde valley to the notice of the people in the East. College Notes—E. L. Brooks and Miss Golden entered school this week. Miss Ina McKennon, Dot Buckman and O. W. Puffy have completed the initiatory course in the commercial department. Snake river is frozen over. This ice is a foot thick. Pershing reluctantly switched from the U. S. army to the army of unemployed. Knocking the other fellow is the poorest way to boost your own business.
