Announcements

Social announcements may be printed in this column free of charge. Any announcements pertaining to any functions such as cooked food sales, etc., will be refused. Announcements to be printed the same day, must be in society editor's hands by 9:00 o'clock.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the B. of E. T. will give a "laid party" this evening after 7:30 at Eagles hall. Any member not in costume will be fined.

Mrs. Leo F. Miller played two beautiful violin numbers, "Cavatina" by Hollander and "Harlequin" by Haechel.

A daily luncheon was served by the hostess after which the guild adjourned to meet February 16, with Mrs. Sylvia Foster and Miss Hulda Anderson as hostesses.

Monmouth (Special)—A formal party was given by the seniors recently in the gymnasium of the Oregon Normal school. The room was beautifully decorated with yellow, green and blue and the evening was spent in dancing to music furnished by the school orchestra.

The patrons and patronesses for the affair were Misses Peterson, Brenton, Eastman and Wilson and Dr. Schutte.

North Powder (Special)—A very pleasant afternoon was spent recently when Mrs. Volney E. Lee and Mrs. A. W. Hudson entertained the "500" club at the Lee home. Six tables were at play for several hours with Mrs. James Wilson winning high honors and the consolation prize going to Mrs. Ben F. Evans.

Regal Redhead of World

Holly Wood's newest quest for the world's most beautiful women has just ended. And included in the group selected by Jesse L. Lasky, director, is Clara Morris. Clara was suggested by Neva McMein, noted artist, who befitting the beauty as "the regal redhead of the world."

Coloring of the shoe worn.

New York—The shops of New York should extend a heartfelt vote of thanks to Zulouga, the great Spanish artist now in this country, to exhibit his pictures. When women here saw how Spanish regalia added to the attractiveness of Zulouga's sitters they commenced to buy them.

Nice—The winged cape has made its appearance for evening wear in the soft airs of the Riviera where varnish is secondary to artistic display. This garment has a collar of fur, but really no back since it is split from front to collar in the rear. The arms are slipped through loops at the front and the garments hang from either arm like wings which may be folded as desired.

London—Bridge coats and Mahong elbows are developments of his London season. The former are really charming house coats, short and simple in design with narrow, close fitting sleeves usually of chiffon velvet. The Mahong elbow is the discovery of an English dressmaker who leaned too long above the ivory tusk. Now it is perfectly fashionable to appear with one's elbow banded or lined with ivory.

London—English men may hate to be different, but this does not extend to English women. This is responsible for the vogue of the costume dress which gives opportunity for individual expression and the streamlining of points of physical excellence. As a result many brilliant or vivacious frocks are making their appearance at London parties.

New York—For centuries women have worn high heels on their shoes. Now they are wearing high heels on their stockings. These heels, either stung or pointed, are of a contrasting shade from the stocking itself, black heels being woven on beige hose, for example. The heels usually correspond with the color of the shoe worn.

New York—Topcats now are more tailored than ever and more manly. Many of the newest examples have velvet collars which are lined with fur.

NEWSPAPERS IN STATE NOW 33

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Ore. (Special)—Newspapers and magazines of general circulation are published in 124 communities of Oregon, according to the annual survey of the 1924 press made by Prof. George N. Turabull of the University of Oregon school of journalism.

The year's total excludes all publications issued at educational institutions, but includes the various communities in Portland, of which there are 17. Only one of these was listed in the directory compiled last year.

Prof. Turabull's annual survey shows that two new daily papers were started in the state in the past year, the Central Oregon Press, at Bend, and the Klamath News, at Klamath Falls. Both of these advanced from twice-a-weeks, bringing the total number of dailies in Oregon to 33, an increase of two in the year, since there were no fatalities in this field.

New weekly papers totaled 5, exceeding by 1 the number of failures in this field. One of the 7 weeklies that expired, however, was a paper printed in a nearby town of larger size, and one was an exclusively farm news paper, reducing to 5 the total number of actual home-town weeklies that failed.

In the twice-a-week and weekly field no paper is counted which is a part of a daily newspaper. Thus the reduction of twice-a-weeks from 7 to 4 is not a loss of independent twice-a-weeks, which have held their own at 4, with the additions of the Cottage Grove Sentinel and the St. Helens News to the number, counterbalancing the loss of the Bend and Klamath publications that moved to the daily class.

Nineteen Oregon papers reported change of ownership during the year as compared with 23 in the preceding twelve-month period. Two more changes in editors-in-chief, however, are reported, with 29 as against 27.

Women appear to be holding their own, approximately, in the editorial and publishing ends of the newspapers, with 11 women editors and 7 women publishers reported. Lack of detailed returns from a considerable number of composing rooms makes it impossible to say how the women are getting along in the back shops. One of the women publishers retired from the field during the year, when Mrs. Jennie Morrison turned over the Mauldin Times to A. Y. Zoller, of the Durie Dispatch.

Newspapermen Succumb.—Among the notable journalists who died during 1924 were Chas. H. Fisher, editor of the Eugene Evening Guard; A. E. Scott, editor-in-chief of the Washington County News-Times; Forging County News-Times; Morning Oregonian; E. P. Cronmiller, publisher of the Lake County Examiner, at Lakeview; William E. Johnson, editor and publisher of the Madras Pioneer, who has been succeeded in that capacity by his wife; A. E. (Jack) Gayton, city editor of the Coos Bay Times, at Marshfield, and S. C. Jackson, founder and publisher of the Oregon Journal.

Following are the newspapers started during the year: Astoria Star, Banks Tribune, Benton Independent, Corvallis, Oakridge Review, Eastern Oregon Scout, La Grande, Tigard Sentinel, the Southern Oregon Spokesman, Grants Pass, and the Poor Fish, Astoria.

Papers that gave up the ghost were: Bay City Chronicle, Amity Range and Valley, Heppner Herald, Lebanon Criterion, Monroe News, St. Helens Columbian, and Marshfield Timber Topics.

WOMEN UNITE TO DISPLAY RECORDS OF ACHIEVEMENT

CHICAGO (AP)—Exhibits symbolizing the varied activities of the twentieth century woman and depicting the slow broadening of the field of feminine enterprise and its embrace of newspaper and magazine, supreme court judgments in several states, high place in the professions and prominence in the world's political affairs are being assembled here from many lands for the first Women's World's Fair to be held at the American Exposition Palace, on Lake Michigan, April 18-25.

In addition, hundreds of commercial exhibits will reveal the feminine hand in the business world and the arts of the day. Several hundred booths crowded with specimens from a score of countries will be arrayed to record woman's contributions to economic progress.

With the world on wheels so much of the time it is not surprising some get into heads.

27 YEARS AGO

Daily Morning Observer, February 2, 1898.—It is rumored in railroad circles that La Grande is to have a new depot. La Grande has waited long and patiently for this to come and so has the railroad boys and should the rumor prove true there will be much rejoicing.

One thing is certain, whether the new depot is built or not, La Grande is certainly entitled to a more commodious building. J. W. Emmons brought in a sleigh load of Wallowa butter for his regular customers Tuesday.

H. Striker, one of our prosperous farmers, was in the city yesterday. J. H. Peare, the jeweler, has removed from his former residence to the one belonging to Chas. Green, who is now at Huntington.

Yesterday afternoon the ladies held their regular Tuesday musical in the parlors of the Commercial club. There was a good attendance and a most excellent musical program was rendered.

There was a very pleasant social dance given last evening at the home of M. H. Wright. The new baptistry in the Baptist church was completed yesterday and is now ready for use.

At Wallowa last week the thermometer went down to 30 degrees below zero. At Lostine 15, at Lost Prairie 2, and at Enterprise 12.

Capital Hill, Ore.—The residents of Capital Hill are expected to turn out en masse to repair the bridge and sidewalk on Vandevanter street. If that is a good turnout the work will be completed by noon. The bridge is in such a poor condition that it has been dangerous to pedestrians.

IS YOUR CHILD THIN AND WEAK?

Cod Liver Oil in Sugar Coated Tablets Puts on Flesh and Builds Them Up.

After sickness and where children are suspected they are especially valuable. No need to give them any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—these tablets are made to take the place of that good, but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine and they surely do it.

A very sickly child, age 9, weighed 12 pounds in 7 months. Ask Red Cross Drug Co., Glass Drugs, Inc., L. & L. Drugs or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—the original and genuine—as easy to take as candy and 60 tablets, 60 cents—Adv.
