KENTUCKY DERBY WINNER WILL ANNEX BIG PURSE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP).—A record number of nominations for the fifty-first renewal of the Kentucky Derby is expected by turf writers who, taking into account the large number of high-class eligibles wintering at Louisville tracks and elsewhere, predict the 152 nominations of last year will be exceeded when the entries close Feb. 21.

The race for three-year-olds, at a mile and a quarter will be run at Churchill Downs Saturday, May 16, the seventh day of the spring meet.

The purse, with $50,000 added by the Kentucky Jockey club, may be the largest in the history of the half century old classic. Last year 19 of the 152 nominees accepted the issue, making the purse $52,775 for the winner, Black Gold. The year previous when Zev, the Rancocas stable's colt, won, 20 started, giving the race a net value of $53,600. The starting fee, $500, is added to the $50,000 purse.

Doctors Say: Don't Neglect Cough or Cold

Physicians warn against neglecting coughs and colds and tell of the serious lung complications that may result. Leading physicians now prescribe BALSAMEA for all bronchial affections. BALSAMEA is a pure vegetable preparation made from a newly discovered plant, Dr. Benj. F. Crabtree, Anderson, Mo., writes: "I use it exclusively for my practice and my family. It is quick, sure and safe in its action like nothing else."

Toward the end of the influenza epidemic a government physician noticed that a tribe of Indians in Nevada, by the use of oils from a native plant were immune from the ravages of influenza. He used these oils among his white patients and flush in a hospital overflowing with "death cases. None of the faults swept the world and for some time it was not possible to supply the demand.

BALSAMEA, this new herb, standardized and given uniformity assures results in four ways: 1. It soothes the inflamed membranes and relieves irritation. 2. It increases secretion of mucous and permits easy expectoration. 3. It stimulates pores of the skin in throwing off body poisons and 4. It strikes at the cause, checking germ action immediately.

Do not confuse it with ordinary balsam cough syrups that are only soothing syrups and do not go to the base of the trouble. Unlike other cough remedies BALSAMEA is free from coal tar and other harmful narcotics. Pleasant to take and absolutely safe to give to children.

Be sure you get BAL-SA-ME-A with the picture of the Indian on the package. Guaranteed to relieve any cough, no matter from what cause, or your money back. All druggists sell BALSAMEA.

MEX FIGHTER GIVEN CLEAN HEALTH BILL

LOS ANGELES, (By the Associated Press)—Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight, was given a clean bill of health by a jury here when it acquitted him in his trial for conspiracy to violate the former state anti-prize fight law in his near-bout with Fred Fulton of Minneapolis, at Culver City last summer.

Fred Winsor, manager of Fuente; Fulton, and the latter's manager Jack Reddy, all of whom were similarly charged, failed to stay to the finish.

Winsor reversed his plea Tuesday and admitted his guilt, for which he paid $750 as a fine. Fulton took the same course a few days ago and paid $500. Reddy Monday turned state's evidence and was released.

Tony started the trial with a plea for a separate hearing, which was denied, but as the others dropped by the wayside he obtained the wish and finished alone. He took the stand in his own defense and declared that all expected to get out of the Culver City affair was a medal. Incidentally, he added, he did not get the medal.

Prior to this, G. R. Freytag, a fight follower, had told of a conversation with Fulton before the fight in which he said the Minneapolis man had admitted he was to get $6000 to "lay down"

The bout that caused all the trouble lasted just 35 seconds before Fulton was counted out. The crowd vociferously branded it as a "fake."

Dave Bancroft of the Boston Braves is the only playing manager in the National league and apparently will make his second try for a pennant with a squad that is little improved over that of last year.

Arne Borg had to sink or swim in his childhood, according to information gained from the champion from Sweden since his arrival in America. His mother gave him his first lesson in the water when he was nine months old, stuffing a cushion for a life preserver. He could swim well when he reached the age of 5 years and at 9 he had to swim 60 yards before breakfast or he went without the morning repast. Borg is training daily in New York for his coming contests with Johnny Weissmuller, the American, who defeated him twice in the Olympics last summer.

Mike Trant, Chicago detective, Jack Dempsey's pal and bodyguard in all of the champion's training camps since Dempsey's defeat of Willard, does not blame the champion for considering retirement from the ring. "Why shouldn't he quit?" Trant asks. "Do you suppose I'd be chasing thieves if I had a million dollars? Certainly not!

"Well, no man with a million dollars wants to get punched in the nose either," Trant opines.

The Yankee stadium undoubtedly will be the scene of the heavyweight title battle between Champion Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, early in the summer. Gibbons, with whom Tex Rickards came to an agreement Monday, is reported as desiring a bout where a decision can be given rather than in Boyle's Thirty Acres in New Jersey.

FIR SAWMILLS REDUCE CUTS

Twelve Large Plants Go to the Five-Day Week: Logging Continues Active.

PORTLAND, Ore. (Special)—The outstanding feature of the employment situation of the Pacific Northwest during the past week was the fact that twelve large fir sawmills reduced their cutting programs to a five-day week, according to reports from 41 headquarters here today. Ten mills in Everett, Wn., one large plant in Tacoma and another in Portland, are now on the reduced schedule and other companies are reported to be considering like curtailment of production or brief shutdowns. The movement of loggers from west coast ville to fir camps continued steadily throughout the week, the reports show, but this number was more than offset by itinerant laborers from California who have been coming north and who have materially added to the unemployed in Oregon and Washington cities. Condensed reports from the 41 offices are as follows:

Portland.

The movement of loggers going to camps from Portland continued steadily throughout the week, with an average of more than one hundred daily. The Nehalem Timber company and the Inman-Poulsen camps are two operations which will resume logging today. There has been almost no demand for sawmill help and every morning finds many men applying at mill gates for work. It is reported that one large sawmill here will go to a five-day week immediately.

Aberdeen.

Mild, wet weather prevailed on Grays Harbor last week. Some logging road construction has been started but otherwise there has been practically no new demand for labor. It is reported that three large lumber manufacturing concerns on Grays Harbor are contemplating shutdowns varying from 20 to 60 days, due, it is said, to market and transportation conditions.

Tacoma.

Sawmill activity has slowed up in this district. One large Tacoma plant is now on a five-day week and other companies are considering either curtailment or shutdowns for brief periods varying from two to six weeks. Logging is at normal capacity for this time of year. A slight shifting of loggers because of heavy rains was noted during the week but otherwise there were few calls for any sort of labor.

Seattle.

Demands for men last week were less than at any time during the past three weeks, but little turnover reported from either camps or mills. Everett, Wn., sawmills have reduced their cutting programs fo a five day week. Eighty per cent of the experienced loggers of Puget Sound districts are now in camps. The Sauk River Lumber company, and the Puget Sound Sawmill & Shingle company are two operations which will resume work this week.

Spokane.

There has been but slight improvement in the unemployment situation of the Inland Empire during the past week. Small logging outfits in the Colville valley have opened up and in most cases crews were made up of local help. The Diamond Match company has closed two of its camps. Sawmill activity remains low, the only increased production being the Long Lake Lumber company which resumed last week and the McGoldrick company which started cutting today. Hundreds of men are still in this city looking for work.

GOLD HILL STORE BURNS

MEDFORD, Ore. — The Davis confectionery at Gold Hill was destroyed by fire.

Roy Elliott, Medford fire chief, received a telephone call from Gold Hill at 5 a. m. asking assistance of the Medford fire department, but this was unnecessary, as the Gold Hill department succeeded in controlling the flames so they did not spread to surrounding buildings.

Contractors Move Equipment.

HOOD RIVER, Or.—The Gilpin Construction company, builder of the Hood River-White Salmon interstate bridge over the Columbia here at a cost of approximately $500,000, completed the cleaning of equipment and the last of crews was withdrawn. Most of the equipment was transferred to Portland, where the company has the contract for building the Sellwood bridge. The local bridge, opened to traffic December 6, has carried a traffic fully as large as anticipated by the company owning it.
