JAPS DESIRE CITIZENSHIP

HONOLULU, (AP)—Not one of the two-acre children born to Japanese parents in Hawaii since December 1 has made a reservation for the retention of his Japanese citizenship under the new expatriation law which Japan placed in effect December 1, according to Kojihei Yamasaki, Japanese consul-general for the territory. The law, seeking to abolish dual citizenship if such elimination is desired, provides that all children born to Japanese parents in the United States after Dec. 1 shall be regarded as exclusively American citizens unless parents, within 14 days after birth, expressly reserve Japanese citizenship for the child through the Japanese consulate. Failure to register such reservation automatically relinquishes any claim which the Japanese government might have on the child, as in the case of dual citizenship which prevailed previously. Vital statistics show that upwards of 40 children have been born to Japanese parents since December 1.

Explaining the workings of the new law, Consul-General Yamasaki said: "I am personally urging expatriation of those Japanese who are going to make the United States their home in the future and urging parents to take advantage of the new law which aids them in effecting expatriation of their children.

"The new law is a measure of the desire of the Japanese government to remove objections raised to the former dual citizenship and further evidence of my government's desire to maintain friendly relations.

"I am only asking Americans to exercise tolerance and patience with the Japanese as with other races to the end that the Japanese may be understood better. I believe a better understanding will remove all of the prejudices now lodged against my people and I am confident that Americans in their hearts mean to be absolutely fair and just to them."

The importation of pins into England was forbidden in 1483. They were expensive and, with needles at that time, "pin money" was a consideration.

Divorces are more numerous in the western states where women are scarce, than in the eastern states where women outnumber the men.

Ex-Yale Football Player Star In "Millionaire Cowboy."

Hoot Gibson's Latest Has Good Comedy, Now at the Star.

A new star, long known as a brilliant featured player in motion pictures, emerges above the western horizon in the person of Maurice B. ("Lefty") Flynn former Yale football hero, at Sherry's today in "The Millionaire Cowboy," the first of the new Flynn out-of-door picture produced under the F. B. O. banner. Supported by a capable cast which includes Gloria Grey, Charles Crockett, Frederick Peters and Buddy Hoesler, Lefty makes his mark in no uncertain manner in this initial starring vehicle. Naturally a great all-around athlete, he combines with his physical prowess and good looks a very considerable amount of dramatic talent and he portrays with fine feeling the part of the young business-steam son of a millionaire who is sent out to a deserted western town by his late father in order to get him out of a scrape. How he rehabilitates the town and makes a success of his life, in addition to winning the girl, is the story which Darryl Francis Zanuck tells in "The Millionaire Cowboy."

Comedy showing, "Why Harry."

Double Headline Vaudeville Bill At Arcade.

A double headline bill with a mixture of comedy, singing, dancing and circus features will be seen at your favorite amusement resort, the Arcade theater, on Sunday next.

The Novelty Stanleys head this pleasing program as "Wonder Workers" in gymnastic stunts and elastic gyrations, a clever, classy double, gracefully performed—a most pretentious offering. Tom & Dorothy Bennett, the added attraction, appear in "The Old Home Town," a rural comedy skit from the pen of Sam J. Parka, master vaudeville writer. It contains a wealth of infectious rube comedy and laughable situations. Windy City Trio have an act that comprises harmony singing together with numbers on the piano and ukuleles. Their voices blend nicely and they do a touch of comedy. George Hatto, "The One Man Vaudeville Show," does a variety of juggling and non-sense kept to top-notch through the act. The act is a whole bill in itself. Reynolds & Rogers are a happy combination of voice and personality with just enough comedy to please the average audience and show ability and careful attention to every little detail. With Arcade orchestra featuring acts.

MAM'M POP

"When a man recommends anything he likes to his friends, he is in danger of being a nuisance, whether the particular thing is a kind of smoking tobacco, a necktie, a brand of religion or a new book. At the same time, when one strikes something which pleases him immensely, it does not seem quite fair to keep it to himself.

"I read many books, swarms of them galloping of them, out of them. I am expected to read them, some because other people are reading them, some because I want to find out something in them, and some because I like them. The latter, however, are few. To come across a book that takes one by storm, holds him, fascinates him and gives him that rare intoxication that meets the utmost passion, is an event.

"Recently I went upon a long journey and spent many days upon the train and steamboat. Upon this journey I found a book. It was entitled 'Captain Blood,' by Rafael Sabatini. I read it first languidly, then interestedly, and at last I went at it as a drinkard consumes his liquor or a child devours sweets.

"I passed it on to the other members of my family. Each read it and each was consumed by the same flame that had consumed me.

"I do not hesitate to say that this is the best story I have read since 'The Count of Monte Cristo.' I do not judge of it as literature. All I know is that it is good, swift, clean English. But it is not of its style that I would speak.

"It has something more than style, something rare, the rarest thing indeed I know of in writing. It has creative imagination.

"A magazine editor said to me once that he wished he could hold a good story every month, something in the best manner of 'Tom Sawyer.' I replied to him that his wishes were modest, and that he probably failed to realize that out of the billion or so population of the world there were probably not more than three or four individuals who could create a story, a really fresh, vivid, gripping story.

"In 'Captain Blood' Sabatini has proved that he is one of these few.

"It is a story of buccaneering days in the Spanish main, one of the most romantic and adventurous epochs of the world. And the reader is taken into the atmosphere of the time, and is made to realize all its vital charm, yet skillfully kept from being nauseated by its brutality.

"The best thing about it is that it is an imposing tale, a wonderful yarn. The reader is not interested in its descriptions, in its literary values, in its English, in this or that; he is interested in Captain Blood, and before he gets through he is better acquainted with Captain Blood than he is with his neighbor who lives next door.

"Whether this is a recently published book or not, I have not taken the pains to inquire. All I know is that I have just read it and I count it one of the great books of the world.

"It took me out of myself. It opened a door through which I escaped from all the commonplace things of life. I am a thousand years old more or less, and it is very rare that one can tell me a story interesting enough to blot out all of my surroundings."

—FRANK CRANE.

BLAST DAMAGES THEATER

KANSAS CITY (AP)—An explosion early Friday demolished the front of the World in Motion, a local motion picture theater, which for several months had been picketed by union men because it employed non-union operators.

Many windows nearby were shattered. Fire department officials estimated the damage to the theater at $4500 and to nearby buildings at $2500.

Although pickets had been withdrawn about 10 days ago, Earl H. Rosbach, owner, said he believed the explosion was the result of labor troubles.

So great has been Irish immigration into Scotland of recent years that Scottish publications are beginning to print articles about "The Irish Menace."
