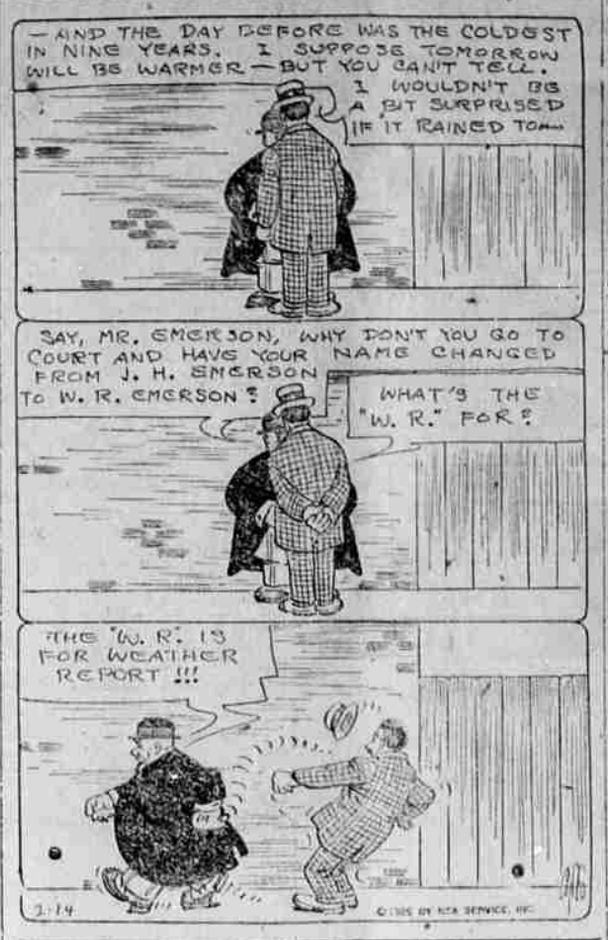
OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE By Condo



La Grande Theatres

Bouquet of Distinct Novelties Forms Arcade Vaudeville.

Singing, dancing and comedy dominating are scheduled for the vaudeville bill at the Arcade theatre on Sunday next.

Feature attraction honors are held by the De Peron trio and Bobbie & King. Robert De Peron trio in "Wonders & Surprises," is one of the greatest novelty presentations consisting of athletes direct from Broadway. Seemingly impossible feats of human strength are performed, concluded with the human merry-go-round. Bobbie & King, "Two Odd Fellows," will undoubtedly prove their brand of humor and entertainment together with their droll delivery, and humorous situations which is dedicated, for laughing purposes only. Sheehan & Richardson render a choice selection of songs. Mr. Sheehan is known as the American operatic tenor and has toured America for many seasons with his own opera company. He is assisted by Miss Richardson. They possess voices of exceptional quality and their numbers are of the highest grade. Frank Heims in "That's All," a combination of singing, comedy, yodeling and acrobatic dancing, brings back memories of the days when yodeling was a favorite contribution to the old-time variety, now known as vaudeville. LaRue and Dupre appear in a "Novel Divertisement" that will delight old and young. These two exponents of the odd and difficult will show a prowess seldom seen in vaudeville. Beginning Sunday, the first show at the Arcade in the evening will open at 6:45 o'clock. Doors will be open at 6:30.

New Mary Pickford Photoplay Booked For Sherrys.

Announcement has been made by the manager of Sherry's theater that Mary Pickford in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," her latest United Artists attraction will be shown in La Grande for the first time Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Picturizing "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," the most famous of the Charles Major novels, stands out as one of the cinema events of the year, presenting Mary Pickford in her greatest role. Her thoughts having dwelt so much upon the filming of this story, Mary has given her whole heart and soul to the creation of her newest screen personality.

A most capable cast of players will be seen in her support. Allan Forrest is the lover, Sir John Manners, and Marc MacDermott is the villainous cousin, Malcolm Vernon. Anders Randolf makes an ideal father for Dorothy Vernon, and Wilfred Lucas is the Earl of Rutland. Clare Eames, famous for her portrayal of queenly roles on the speaking stage, brings to the screen a characterization of Queen Elizabeth that is a revelation to histronic art.

Among the other players of note are Lottie Pickford Forrest, Malcolm Waite, Courtenay Foote, Howard Gaye, Estelle Taylor, Mme. Carrie Daumery, Eric Mayne, Colin Kenny and Lewis Sargent.

The production is lavish, no expense having been spared in erecting stately mansions and medieval castles. Scenes of pageantry and revelry are presented with picturesque magnificence.

Under the capable direction of Marshall Neilan, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" has renewed interest in the romantic costume drama of the screen. The photography by Charles Rosher is the most beautiful ever done by this well-known cameraman. A special music score by Victor Shertzinger follows every detail of the picture and will prove a delight to music lovers.

Thrills in Big Fight, "White Sheep" At Star Are Many.

One of the thrilling scenes in "The White Sheep," Hal Roach's new Pathe novelty feature now playing at the Star theatre is the sensational fight between Toby, the white sheep of a black sheep family, and the town's bad man as the two drift down a raging river in a farm wagon.

This scene, which climaxes the story, comes after a long series of laughable and sometimes melodramatic incidents that relate the adventures of this timid youth, who eventually outwits his bully brothers, usurps the fighting blood of his pugnacious family and proves to be a holy terror in his own right.

Hal Roach, who wrote and directed this novelty production, has, it seems, combined all the known elements of amusement in the picture. It is a merry mixture of thrilling melodrama and hilarious farce with a liberal sprinkling of romance provided by Glenn Tyron as the white sheep and Blanche Mehaffey as the pretty city girl who comes to Toby's home town and immediately becomes the center of a rivalry between the three numerous but amourous members of one family.

Jack Hoxie Stars In Picture Now at Sherrys.

Hoxie was discovered by Buffalo Bill about ten years ago when he won two rodeo championships for fancy riding. He was born near Guthrie, Okla., and has roped steers and broken horses and engaged in every other form of cowboy activity throughout Montana and Idaho. He was chief rider in the Buffalo Bill show for a year, after which he was captured by the films. Incidentally he holds the world's championship for speed in "bull-dogging" a steer.

"The fences and Fords have about done away with the wild and wooly West," says Hoxie, "and about the only chance many have to learn about the old frontier days is through the screen. For that reason I always insist upon my pictures being absolutely true to life as it was lived in the days when might was right and every man carried the law on his own hip."

Hoxie never uses doubles in his western pictures; he insists on taking any chances that there are to be taken all by himself. And as every one of his pictures is crammed full of action and thrills this daring youngster has risked death scores of times in the past years, always with a song on his lips and a half-smile lurking in his eye.

Hoxie is six foot and weighs an even two hundred pounds. He is a credit to his upbringing and to the early training which made him what he is today—ideally representative of all that is best in American manhood.

Comedy, "Dirty Hands."

Minstrel Show At Arcade Monday Night.

Remsen (Iowa) Bell-Enterprise—The Beck and Walker Colored Minstrels played to a large audience at the Fake Theater last Sunday morning, and gave the best of satisfaction. The patrons evidently were well pleased with the performance, according to the applause. Beck and Walker's Minstrels are just starting on a new trip over their route, having completed a trip six weeks ago which was a big success. They have completely reorganized their company and their show in Remsen last Sunday evening was the first under the new regime. The audience was especially well pleased with the vocal soloists and the orchestral work, as well as the vaudeville specialties which were all very well received. It was decidedly the very best colored minstrel troupe that ever appeared in Remsen, and the Beck and Walker company will be welcomed back at any time.

This same attraction will appear at the Arcade theatre Monday night at 8 p. m., at the following admission: Loges $1.10; lower floor 55c; balcony 50c. Loge and lower floor seats may be reserved in advance by calling the Glass Drug store.

27 YEARS AGO

Daily Morning Observer, February 14, 1898.—Thirty-nine years ago today Oregon was admitted into the union, and became a state.

J. R. Wilson of North Powder is in the city today.

Alex Thompson of Hilgard was in the city Saturday.

W. M. Evans, while in the city Saturday stated all the early fall grain is looking fine.
