Spring Is The Time

If you have real estate to sell, spring is the logical time to tell the world about it—It's the time when people are thinking most about buying more land, a building lot, or a house.

Spring is a time of new activity—a time when you can get contact with the people who are buying.

The cost is small—yet the returns are assured and immediate.

CLOCK ON STRIKE 158 YEARS NOW STRIKES HOURLY AGAIN

LONDON (AP).—An old clock that stopped working in 1767, 158 years ago—recently was re-started after a year's effort by a member of the admiralty staff.

The clock is about 200 years old and contains more than 600 parts which weigh about 100 pounds.

It is made of brass of such fine quality that an input of it could be beaten almost like gold leaf.

The clock was made by a carpenter named John Harrison for His Majesty George II by order of the board of longitude which appears to have been an admiralty commission appointed to superintend the installation of chronometers and navigation apparatus on the ships of the British navy.

The board gave Harrison $1,250 for the job and he took two years to make it. It is really a clock within a clock, the smaller one running for four minutes only, being wound every three and three-quarter minutes by the larger clock, which has to be wound daily.

London Displays Byron Memo

LONDON (AP).—Following the example set in the United States, the First Edition club has opened a unique exhibition of Byron manuscripts, proof sheets and first editions. The display is made up of exhibits from private sources and several of the books shown are the only ones in existence. Many of the books are accompanied by the MS. and proof copies.

Mr. Harte's views on the days of '49 are valued as an interesting supplement to the history of the times. He is a born writer and a good one, but it is not so much his style as his content for his ability to endow the most repellent characters with romance and heroism.

This he has done in Tennessee's

La Grande Theatres

McManus' Character Well Liked On the Stage.

It seems to be entirely unnecessary to enter into any long explanation of the coming of the famous cartoon medical comedy, taken from those well known and universally liked cartoons "Bringing Up Father" by that Prince of Cartoon Artists George McManus. So we will simply say that "Bringing Up Father in Ireland" will come to the Arcade theatre on next Tuesday for an engagement of one night.

"Teeth" Showing At Star Theater Today.

"Teeth," the latest starring vehicle of Tom Mix, with Tony, the horse and Duke, the dog, a William Fox production, directed by J. G. Blystone, was adapted from the popular novel, "Sonny," written by Virginia Hudson Brightman, a former well-known newspaper woman, and Clinton H. Stager.

In the original story, "Sonny" is an Alrodele that has many hair-breadth escapes. The book is described by its publishers as a "dog story, a love story and a Western story."

In the screen version the sequence and incidents have been slightly changed to allow greater opportunities for Tony, the horse and Duke the dog and the result is the best Tom Mix vehicle of his extended stellar career. This picture is coming to the Star theater today.

Bret Harte Story Shown on Sherrys Screen.

Probably no American writer has caught the spirit of the Great West in "Fanning Forties" and portrayed it so vividly as Bret Harte, humorist, poet, novelist and short story writer.

One of the chief reasons for this is that Mr. Harte knew the country of which he wrote, for at the age of fifteen he came to California and spent three years digging for gold and teaching school.

Afterwards he entered the office of "The Golden Era" as a compositor, but was soon writing sketches that attracted wide attention. He became assistant editor and then editor of "The Weekly Californian." He helped to organize and edit "The Overland Monthly" and it published "The Luck of Roaring Camp" and "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," his best collection of short stories. It was after writing the poem, "The Heathen Chinee," that he found himself famous. He spent his later years in

Philbin in Cinderella in "Rose of Paris."

Mary Philbin felt that she was living through one of the tragedies that saddened, while it gladdened, her young life, when she was working in "The Rose of Paris" Cinerama-Jewel in which she is starred and which will be shown on the screen at the Arcade Theatre commencing today.

It was many years ago that Miss Philbin—well, not so very many years ago, for the winsome little star is only nineteen now; but it was in her childhood—read "Cinderella," and she was gladdened by the story despite the fact that she went at the heroine's hardships.

And then after the years in question, it came about that Miss Philbin found herself a Cinderella, for "The Rose of Paris" is a Cinderella story in great part, albeit there is no glass slipper, nor pumpkin coach, and she who proved the fairy godmother was actuated by selfishness and not by any desire to ameliorate the conditions that surrounded Cinderella.

"The Rose of Paris" is the screen
