Gold Bearing Onion Was Cause of First Gold Rush

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Recent reports that the original first nugget of California gold was in the possession of a private collector in New York have aroused chroniclers of southern California's history to remind the public that it was an onion, not Sutter's mill, that started the first California gold rush.

Moreover, these chroniclers relate, that onion grew in the San Fernando valley northwest of here hundreds of miles south of Sutter's mill, and the gold rush it started began in 1841, seven years before James W. Wagoner's discovery of gold in El Dorado county.

It was on March 9, 1841, that Francisco Lopez was riding through San Pelticiano canyon with a companion and stopped to eat lunch under a tree. Lopez liked onions, and when he saw a wild one growing within arms' reach he leaned over to dig it up with his knife and add it to his meal. Clinging to the roots of that onion were several small pieces of gold.

Soon the rush was on. As far north as Santa Barbara and as far south as San Diego the news of the gold strike spread. In a few weeks hundreds of men were sifting the sands of the canyon for gold, and some were finding it in profitable quantities.

Hostilities between the United States and Mexico interrupted the placer mining, and when, in 1855, mining activities were resumed in the San Fernando field, the later by a greater gold rush, started by the discovery of nuggets at Sutter's mill in the north was in full swing.

Estimates of the amount of gold taken out of the San Fernando placers vary widely, but such data as is available indicates that more than $5,000,000 in placer gold has been shipped out of Los Angeles county since Lopez's onion revealed the existence of the metal here.

REV. NELSON KNIGHT If light Monday is blue at all it is light blue. There was a full moon last night and one more conversation. The crowd is increasing so rapidly that some are already asking where we will seat the people. There will be 50 folding chairs added tonight. People are coming in from the country. After all is said, it is just an old-fashioned soul stirring revival like our fathers and mothers used to enjoy. Hear Knight tonight. New Church of God Chapel, corner X and Spruce—Adv.
