Six Calls In Two Hours

When you advertise for a house to move into this Spring (using an Observer Want Ad), what return can you expect?

You may get more calls and faster, but one advertiser in The Observer recently got six calls within two hours after the paper was on the street. Of course he'll get a desirable house.

The cost is small—the returns are immediate.

"AN OBSERVER WANT AD WILL DO IT."

to move them out. D. Sommer, the Elgin merchant, is in the city today.

Attorney J. D. Slater is in Baker today on legal business.

The large mounted owl in the window of J. H. Pear's jewelry store which has been attracting so much attention, was mounted by Fred Batten, the taxidermist. It is a fine specimen of owl kind and in mounting it, Mr. Batten has clearly shown himself to be an expert in the art of taxidermy.

Patner Oliver was elected director at the school meeting Monday, and William Miller, clerk. Dr. Bacon, the retiring director, received re-nomination, as did also A. C. Williams, who has so faithfully served the last four consecutive terms as clerk.

Marjorie Daw has long been one of the big stars of filmdom. Miss Daw plays the part of Cecille, cousin to Constance, who is courted by Lady Barbara Winslow. Marjorie all plays the part of "Simon, the peddler."

Hanklin, who is cast as a young fugitive of the rebel army, and brother to Cecille, claims kin with the Barrymores and Drews, two of the most famous families of the American stage.

Kate Price, and Charles Gerrard are two well-known names to followers of film personalities. Morrison, Dunham and Gilson are also a veteran trio.

Conway Tearle is the highest priced leading man in filmdom. He appeared recently with Norma Talmadge in "Ashes of Vengeance."

Constance Talmadge has the role of a madcap little rebel who dons a cavalier's sword and costume and engages in a thrilling series of adventures with the officers of the king.

The story gives Constance her first opportunity to play a dramatic role, and the picture, although it contains many humorous situations, is replete with romance and love interest, and is embellished with superb sets designed by Stephen Goosson.

Adventures of Black Sam, Oregon "Bull Puncher"

I started to go home Staples was sound asleep snoring. And Spencer seemingly was also asleep. But I was certain he was playing possum in order to stay there and get to Susie in the night.

"But I thought that it was almost impossible to believe that a married man with children like him would be that low. So I went to bed and soon fell asleep.

"Just about daybreak I woke up and I heard a commotion in the Indian tepee. Soon I heard groans and then Spencer's voice gruffly saying, 'Now, you old boy there will ye. You won't hother me for a while.'

"I jumped out of bed and ran. Just then I could discern Spencer running after Susie who was about fifty yards in the lead. As I came to the wigwam I heard groans and I went in. The result had killed the old Indian and the squaw by strangling them.

"I gave them a drink of water and the old man begged: "'For God sakes go and save Susie!'

"I started after them and soon I was in a brushy mass with large boulders all around. I stopped and couldn't hear a sound as to what direction they had taken. Finally Gilson, who was given until 11 p. m. today to make his plea, was released on his own recognizance in order to visit The Dalles and engage an attorney.

The jury action was a sequel to the seizure of a still, hidden in an artificial cavern, by a posse, under Sheriff Edick, several weeks ago. Jack Crawford, who has been kept here as a witness in the case after pleading to complicity in the operation of the still, was sentenced Tuesday to a year in the penitentiary.
