Copper Blames $2.00 Wheat for Failure (Continued from Page 1.) "But this is not a true picture. Speculators and gamblers, not the wheat growers, reaped this Chicago wheat pit harvest. The facts are that last year's wheat crop brought the wheat farmer between $1 and $1.25, and now the $2 he is now credited with nothing. "To be sure, $1.25 wheat, and an unprecedentedly large yield per acre, made last year's crop the most profitable since the war. "But the farmer sold his wheat—the vast bulk of it—before Nov. 1, and when wheat soared to $2 in Chicago, the farmer who had plowed, planted and harvested the grain had none of it to sell. "Price increases between election and the new year were such that the farmer, according to Julius Barnes, merchant exporter, lost just about $400,000,000 by his

DENNIS' RESOLUTION EXPLAINED

to deny the fact," the speaker declared. "Fifteen years ago Willamette valley land sold at $150 per acre and now it is hard to meet at $25." He asserted that he firmly believed that the resolution would, by bringing capital to Oregon—and development that always follows the former, result in a new era for the citizenry of this state. He stated that it would benefit agriculture which he said would never reach a pinnacle here as long as the hand of middle-western markets prohibits disposing of western products in competition with products raised in other parts of the country. And the Dennis resolution, he pointed out, will result in bringing that will consume the products and will solve the question.

"We need selective immigration for Oregon—we need men here that have money," Mr. Dennis said, continuing that a poor man can no longer contribute his share and make good. "We can get men with money the same way that Florida is getting them." Repeating to the inference that the Florida climate has something to do with the plan's success there, he stated that Florida only has winter climate here, the former is winter and summer climate that is attractive.

Tells of Legislature. Prior to launching into the main part of his address, Senator Dennis described to some extent the past session of the legislature, explaining several matters that had not been given to those not in the know by the newspapers.

Before Mr. Dennis was introduced by Chairman Colon R. Elshard, Representative Albert H. Hunter spoke briefly of the legislative session, classing the highway bills and the school bills passed and signed by the governor as the most important pieces of legislation. Both Mr. Hunter and the following speaker classed the legislature as different, the former declaring the session "liresome" and the latter "peculiar."

Mr. Hunter told of the 850 bills introduced and quoted statistics showing how many had been passed, what they represented and the like. He also mentioned the effect that women lobbyists had on
