Simple Way To End Night Coughing

No matter how long you have been troubled with exasperating coughing at night, robbing you of valuable sleep and thereby weakening your system and laying you open to dangerous infections, it can usually be stopped at once by a very simple treatment. Most people have found that they can sleep the whole night through undisturbed often the first time they try it.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The result is you usually sleep soundly the very first night, and the entire cough condition goes in a very short time.

The prescription is for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, epidemic croup and almost every throat irritation. It contains no opiates or other harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. On sale at all good druggists. Ask for

FINGER PRINT WORK THRILLS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Finger print identification has been developed by the army to the point of efficiency where its application at times vies with the thrills of detective fiction. Any unidentified man who has served in the regular army can be located in from 10 to 20 minutes, and his full record laid bare. In that short time a searcher finds him among more than 7,000,000 men who have been in the army since 1906, when the finger print system was introduced. He may have been one of the 50,328 Smiths, the 10,610 Johnsons, the 25,302 Browns, or one of the 27,333 named Williams. All the army needs is his finger print to turn up his record.

Walter S. Kaye, in charge of the bureau, says the indexing has been worked out so efficiently that even a new clerk, one never before having had knowledge of the system, can begin work as a searcher with little preliminary instruction. "The science of finger print reading is based on the study of the curious, circling network of all but invisible lines on the ball of the thumb and each finger. Examination of millions of specimens shows that the normal formation is the whorl, or the scroll edge in a gradually reducing circle to their inner termination at the core of the network. A majority of human beings are marked with this scroll, but there are others whose finger print lines run in flattened figures or in complicated of figures far removed from the simple, easily read whorls. The first step in identification has to do with determining the broad general division in which the prints under examination are to be sought.

There are but four main groups or classifications of prints, arches, loops, whorls and composites. Each type has its gradational cases. The whorls have 1,024 values or combinations and the loops, arches and composites have each their respective values to simplify segregation for filing and to make them easily located when identifications are sought. The evaluation of prints thus made has overcome all difficulty of dealing with large collections of finger markings, such as are in the army files.

Finger prints, since their adoption in 1906, have exposed frauds, protected innocent men from injustice, kept undesirable out of the criminal type out of the service, protected the government from unscrupulous claimants and uncovered accounts of such instances are contained in official papers of the war department during the last 15 years.

Those who have worked in the identification bureau since its establishment are authority for the statement that never has a mistake been made. They have made more than 200,000 identifications.

"The finger print system," Mr. Kaye says, "is superior to any other system so far devised in that it permits of no error. This may seem a strong statement, but the finger print, when clearly made allows of no misrepresentation; it is an actual presentation and does not permit the personal equation of error to enter. Other systems allowed errors of measurement and errors in location of marks."

In the more than 70,000,000 digit photographs in the identification bureau's files, Mr. Kaye says, there are no two of them alike. "Finding two prints alike on there would be in going into the field and finding two flowers, exactly alike."

POTTER TO BE BATH-HOUSE
ASTORIA, Ore.—The T. J. Potter, the side-wheel "queen" of the Columbia river, for many years, will end her days as a bathhouse, according to C. H. Callender of the Astoria Box company, who purchased the vessel recently for her boilers.

While the boilers will be installed in the Astoria Box company plant, the hull will be beached in Young's bay near the city. Arrangements will be made on board for living quarters for a caretaker and the staterooms will be equipped for bathers. Under present plans the vessel will be kept open each summer.
