12 BOYS ARE SENTENCED

ASTORIA, Ore.—Twelve boys, ranging from 12 to 16 years of age were committed to the state reform school here by County Judge Cornelius. The judge then paroled the boys in care of their parents with the condition that they would be sent to the institution at the next violation received of any wrongdoing or mischief on their part.

The boys were all charged with having broken into summer homes of non-Residence residents, stealing various articles and selling them to second-hand dealers.

In delivering his sentence the judge criticized the parents and the second-hand dealers who purchased the stolen property.

In Missisquoi, a boy man is one who hasn't energy enough to make his boys go to work.

CLAUDE C. PRATT

Mr. Claude C. Pratt, Dear Sir:

We, the undersigned judges, have decided that the letter written by Charabette Rhine, corner 2 and Spence, was the best letter giving ten reasons "Why people should buy lumber from the Claude C. Pratt Lumber Co." and therefore wins the $50 Cash Chest.

As one of the greatest miseries in life is that she has not any insinuations on anyone and has given good, sound reasons in a concise manner.

Respectfully yours, F. B. HUMPHREY, M. H. ALLEN, JOHN ALLEN.

P. S.—Her letter will be published tomorrow.

La Grande Theatres

Last Showing Tonight Of "This Woman" At Sherrys Theater.

We have seen Irene Rich in half a dozen recent pictures. She did excellent work in every case. Yesterday we saw her performance in "This Woman," the screen adaptation of the Howard Rockey novel. She was more than excellent here; her work revealed her a superlative actress of the photoplay.

Miss Rich has the role of Carol Drayton, and a sympathetic role it becomes in her hands. First we see her as a student of music, friendless and penniless in the iron-hearted city of New York. There a woman of the street befriends her. At the first meal she has eaten in days, she makes the acquaintance of a man, Gordon Duane. Then the place is raided; and to shield himself, Duane charges Carol with having accosted him.

Next we see her in prison, serving a thirty-day sentence. When Carol leaves the jail, besmirched in reputation, she decides to stay in the streets for a living. The impresario of New York's leading opera house discovers her, and decides to help her in bringing her talents to fruition. How this is accomplished, through incorporating her voice, and how she falls in love with the nephew of the very man who had originated her, with new complications, is unraveled in this entertaining picture.

It is a Warner Bros. classic of the Screen. Around Irene Rich are grouped the following players: Ricardo Cortez, Louise Fazenda, Frank Elliott, Clegdon Halsey, Marc McDermott, Helen Dunbar, Clara Bow and Otto Hoffman. Phil Rosen ably directed the production. The result is a picture far and above the ordinary. Comedy, "Kids Wanted."

Priscilla Dean In "A Cafe in Cairo" Better Than Ever.

In the field of tempestuous, emotional histrionic art Priscilla Dean has no equals. And when you place her in an action story with a background as romantic and colorful as that of Egypt, the theatergoer is assured of a fascinating entertainment.

Although "A Cafe in Cairo," at the Star is from the novel by Ina Fawcetter, it might well have been written directly for the Star, so well does it fit her personality. This is partly due, no doubt, to the fact that the photoplay version is by Harvey Gates, who wrote "The Wildcat of Paris" and other Priscilla Dean successes.

The story concerns a fascinating little hour, who falls in love with a dashing young American secret service operator. This picture is appearance of hundreds of girls to represent the lost souls of women who had sinned during their earthly life and were consigned to a special circle of hell for punishment. To the credit of the girls it should be said that they didn't fear punishment—and the least little bit, for they fairly swamped the Fox casting offices. Big ones, little ones, fat and thin ones, high-brow, low-brow, lass or vain ones, and all yearning to go to—well, the place that Mr. Dante has helped to make famous. And once they got their "alien uniforms," they presented a sight that was good for Kleig eyes. And spokesman of the scene in which those young ladies appear, there is said to be a kick in every foot (joke-smiths please copy).

"Dante's Inferno," the Fox production, will begin a run at the Arcade theater today and will continue till Saturday.

MADE LIFE MEMBER DELANO, Cal.—A signal honor was bestowed upon John R. Quinn, past national commander of the American Legion, when, at a recent meeting of Merle Bond Post of the legion here he was elected a life member of the post. A post official said: "Delano post watched John Quinn go from post commander to the national commandery of the legion with its 11,000 posts. John Quinn honored Delano post, the post has taken this way to honor John Quinn."

27 YEARS AGO La Grande. Pendleton paid her school teachers for the year ending March 1st $6181.65. La Grande paid its teachers for the same period $4296.62, or $214.98 more than Pendleton. Czech-Slovaks at Roseburg ROSEBURG, Ore.—The emissaries of the American Czech-Slovak chamber of commerce, who are touring the state of Oregon investigating agricultural conditions, arrived here after stopping in Salem, Corvallis and Eugene during the day. They were the guests of the Roseburg chamber of commerce at a banquet at which time the visitors met a number of the business men of the city. They expressed themselves well pleased with conditions in Oregon. J. D. McKennon, who is now shipping 15 carloads of potatoes east, showed us telegraphic orders for 10 cars more from St. Louis and New Orleans, but said it would be impossible to fill them as they wanted straight "Hubbards," and that there were not three carloads in the country. The ladies' whist club was entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. James Spaulding and Brann at the latter's home. The school clerk of Pendleton an last Monday reported the number of school children at 1047, gain of 184 over last year. This gives Pendleton fifteen more children than
