FATHER OF FOOTBALL DEAD TODAY

Yale Financial Union, which he founded.

Since 1889 a feature of each football season has been Mr. Camp's selection of All-American football teams, the players thus selected regarded by him as the best of the season in their respective positions.

While he was more interested in football than any other sport, Mr. Camp was an all-round athlete at Yale. In his freshman year he was captain of the class baseball nine as well as the football team and played four years on the varsity basketball team. He was honored with the election as captain of the varsity eleven. After graduation from college he entered the medical school and while a student there was chosen baseball captain, but declined the honor as he did not approve of graduate captainties of varsity teams. For a time he rowed with his class crew and with H. W. Slocum, represented Yale in the first intercollegiate tennis tournament. In Yale games he won the high hurdles event and second place in the quarter mile run.

Born in 1859.

Mr. Camp was born at New Haven, Conn., April 17, 1859, the son of Leverett L. Camp and Ellen Cornwell Camp. He prepared for college at Hopkins Grammar school and was graduated from Yale in 1880. He then entered the medical school, but resigned after two years to enter business with a clock concern in New York. After a year he went to the New Haven Clock company. He was made treasurer and general manager of the concern in 1892 and a year later became president and treasurer. After several years he relinquished the duties of those positions to become chairman of the board.

Mr. Camp had written extensively on football and other sports as well as on bridge of which he was an expert player. His two years of medical study together with his athletic experience enabled him to write as an expert on training and health exercises. He was the author of Camp's Daily Dozen, a series of setting-up exercises which were recorded as phonograph records and through which he is said to have started more persons taking regular daily exercises than any other individual.

During the training period of American troops for service in the World War, Mr. Camp acted as physical director for the air service and also acted the navy as director of athletics at naval training camps. For this work he received the thanks of Brigadier General T. C. Lyster of the medical corps and Josephus Daniels, then Secretary of Navy.

In 1922 Mr. Camp married Alice Graham Sumner. They had two children.

France Makes Fast Progress Collecting World War Records

PARIS (AP)—The historical service of the French war department has beaten all records in the preparation of its first collection of documents relating to the World war. It took the same time she 49 years to complete the compilation of the history of the war of 1870; in this case it has done an equal amount of work in about one-tenth of the time.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT NEW YORK (AP)—Bradstreet's today will say:

"A week of spring weather has found reflection in a moderate increase in jobbing and retail trade and some expansion in building operations and in buying of construction materials. Taken as a whole, however, spring buying is hardly better than fair, and caution still characterizes purchasers. While mail order and chain store sales showed good expansion in February, department store trade, as reported by the federal reserve bank, shows a smaller movement in that month than a year ago, thus repeating the report as to January trade. In February, as in January, trade seems to have been best in the northwest and in the southwest, this latter, by the way, despite continued dry weather in Texas, where rain succeeded to put the soil in condition for plowing, planting and crop growth. This week's reports indicate the need of rain in Iowa and Louisiana."

UNION (Special)—The farm economic conference was in session here Friday, the general session beginning at the school gymnasium at 10 o'clock Friday morning with only a small number in attendance. During the morning the attendance increased, with farmers and fruit growers, etc., coming in from Elgin, Imbler, La Grande, Hot Lake, Union, Vale, North Powder, and the surrounding country. The visitors were welcomed to Union and its hospitality by C. L. Cadwell, president of the local commercial club. Then Dr. Phy, who acted as chairman of the general meeting, called upon Prof. Lindgren, who talked about the Oregon production of hops and sheep; Prof. Long discussed the subject of fruit growers branching out into other fields and not confining their efforts to the one

STUDENTS TO HELP MUSEUM

Union County to Be Well Represented in Campaign at University of Oregon.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Ore. (Special)—With the reorganization of the committee in charge of the campaign to raise $200,000 for an art museum on the local campus, a state-wide campaign will be launched within the next few days. A large body of university women have been appointed to carry on the work for the building and it is planned to attack the state on a county basis.

It is planned to erect the art museum on the east side of Memorial Court opposite the library in the proposed campus plan. The building will house the Murray Warner and other art collections.

Mrs. George T. Gerlinger of Portland, Dean Virginia Judy Estery, and Miss Georgia Benson compose the central committee and have charge of the drive on the campus here.

Among those named to carry on the campaign are: Clara Ellis and Tenore Miller, Baker; Beatrice Leaning, Haines; Thelma Riley and Myra Belle Palmer, Baker; Nellie Zuercher, Enterprise; Edith Shell, Wallawa; George Goff, Minam; Frances Cherry, Wallawa; Deloris Pearson, La Grande; LaNita Gaskill, Imbler; Doris Parker, North Powder; Marian Phy, Union; Louise Denham, Elgin.

Prof. Jamison commented on the desirability of building up the dairy herds with pure-bred stock; Prof. Allen talked to the men and boys about the club work which is being done in this part of the state. After these discussions the chairman called upon many local speakers, including J. P. Conklin, Ed Wright, A. A. Wright, Rev. Hodges, Bob Withycombe, Chase Bohnenkamp, Mr. McKennon, Mr. Witherspoon from Elgin, Mr. Carpenter, county agent from Baker, and Mr. Stevens, from the experiment station at Moro in Sherman county. Mr. Emmel, Smith-Hughes man of the Union high school, was present with several of his students to take in the lectures, and several girls from the commercial department were also on hand with their pencils and notebooks, taking down most of the talks. Dr. Phy, chairman, interspersed the talks by the different speakers with fitting and interesting remarks and altogether the morning session was a decided success.

Luncheon Served. At noon the conference adjourned to the high school building where a dainty cafeteria lunch had been prepared by the domestic science girls under the direction of Miss Georgia Wright, and needless to say, the lunch was thoroughly enjoyed by all the visitors.

Beginning the afternoon work with a talk to the high school assembly by the conference chairman, Dr. Phy, the several sections then repaired to different rooms in the building which had been very "willingly" vacated by the students, who thus enjoyed a half holiday. Many of the boys and girls joined the various sections and listened to the discussions of various farm subjects. There were five sections, the Dairy section, Live Stock section, Fruit section, Poultry section, and the Farm Crops section, each of which was in charge of a chairman and took up the work in the form of round table discussions. About 4 o'clock the sessions ended, to meet Saturday morning in La Grande.

The chairman announced that promptly at 10 o'clock Saturday morning a general session would be called in the assembly room at the La Grande high school building. During this period while the conference was having a general meeting the various committees would prepare their reports and resolutions, and when the afternoon meeting was called in the assembly, action would be taken on their reports. From the intense interest which is being taken in the various phases of this work, the 1925 economic conference is being a decided success. The only regret of the Friday session was the fact that there were not more of the local town and country people out to participate in the meetings.

Following are the various committees who have charge of the different phases of the conference: Farm Crops—J. D. Dobbin, La Grande, A. R. Hunter, La Grande, J. A. Gaskill, Imbler, J. A. Nice, North Powder, Frank McKennon and Will Ledbetter, Alsea; Dairy—Dr. Phy, Hot Lake, Lee Reynolds, E. E. Anderson, H. G. Avery, La Grande, Bob Withycombe, Union; Horticulture—H. H. Weatherpoon, Elgin, Itay Wilson, Imbler, John Dean, L. G. Lantz, J. E. Mills, R. S. Comstock, Karl Stackland and Thomas C. Hefty, Cove; Livestock—S. E. Miller, Floyd Edwards, Union, Homer Bidwell and James Wilson from North Powder; Poultry—William Kamburg, Rex Gargis, Union, G. C. Hill, S. A. Robertson, La Grande, B. Schrader, Island City.

HONOR G. A. R. SURVIVORS ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Lincolnton in speech and sincerity was the speech of J. C. Kiskadee of Kirkwood, veteran of the Civil war, at a farewell banquet given to the nine surviving members of Brewster Post of the G. A. R. by The American Legion of St. Louis County.

Lure of Limelight Grips Ex-Senators

A. O. Stanley of Kentucky, who lost his senatorial seat to a Republican, will allow an office suite with J. P. Tammity, former secretary to President Wilson, and be an attorney and counselor at law.

Robert J. Owen, who has represented Oklahoma in the Senate for 18 years, did not run for re-election. But, somehow, now that he is out, he has back in Oklahoma has lost his appeal. He will stay on in Washington, also, to "practice law."

The third "ex" senator who, at least no longer drawing the pay and perquisites of high office, will retain his residence in the capital and try his hand at interpreting laws he helped to pass, is Nathaniel Dial of South Carolina.

Dial recently won Republican favor by a speech in praise of President Coolidge, turning him a better Democrat than many Democratic senators. Appointment by the president to a Democratic membership on one of the federal bi-partisan boards or commissions has been suggested as a possibility for Dial.

The Republican lame duck whose future is still uncertain is ex-Senator Thomas Sterling of South Dakota.

Sterling was beaten for reelection in the primaries last spring. He has been a staunch champion of Coolidge policies in the recent session, however, and his friends insist he will "be taken care of."

He has been mentioned as possible prohibition commissioner, but seemingly is not enthusiastic over who came to the Senate with the reputation for having a voice that could be heard all over 160 acres, could have Washington without ever having made himself audible in the capital. Magnus, however, is understood to have signed up to tell the country all about Washington next summer, by a series of lectures on the chautauqua circuit.

LECTURER TO APPEAR HERE S. H. TOUTIAN Why have the dealings of God with the Jews been so peculiar? Why have the Jews shunned Christianity?
