COLVALLIS, Ore. — That an average grade of "C" for the entire college course will henceforth be the graduation requirement for students at the Oregon Agricultural college, is the new ruling approved for the college by the members of the administrative council.

Adoption of a resolution concerning the grade requirements has followed consideration of such a move for nearly a year. The rule itself is in line with the general policy of the college to promote higher standards as rapidly as conditions at the college permit.

HEALTH (By Dr. Frederick Stricker)

KEEPING THE SKIN HEALTHY (By Dr. Frederick Stricker) The care of the skin is simple if the facts are realized and attention is paid to cleanliness and general health.

No essential change has occurred in the Douglas fir market. Domestic trade remains restricted, while that from foreign sources is comparatively good.

The hardwood trade is relatively poor, and prospects are more uncertain than in the softwood field. Industrial consumers report a recent falling off in business and are proceeding with caution both in production and purchasing.

DEATH IS HELD SUICIDAL. MARIETTE, Ore. — The death of Ray Bowron, 37, which occurred in a hotel at Lakeside, was attributed to his own volition by a coroner's jury.

Mr. Bowron had been dependent, many said, and although the first reports of the tragedy and examination of the body at the Ketchikan hospital indicated there was no murder, State Marine, deputy coroner who investigated the case, said it was clearly suicide.
