SPANISH WINE DUSTS GERMAN

BERLIN. (AP)—Spanish wine is driving German wine out of the German markets. Therefore the domestic wine industry is appealing to the government for a modification of the commercial treaty between Spain and Germany which admits Spanish wine under such a low duty that German wine-growers say ordinary Spanish wine can be sold in large quantities in this country at 45 marks, or about $11 a hectoliter.

The hectoliter contains 25 gallons, so the cost of Spanish wine a gallon in large quantities here is about 44. German wine-growers say it costs them from two to four times this amount to produce wine.

Portuguese wines also enter Germany under favored-tariff treatment, and an agreement has been reached with Greece which the wine industry says threatens to give Greek wine a chance in the German market. Ordinary French wines also sell on the German market at lower prices than ordinary German wines.

But the wine producers get little sympathy from the wine consumers of the land. The latter recall the high retail prices when the wine market was in German hands, and long ago, and aver that this grasping attitude resulted in legislation which accounts for the keen competition of today.
