

New Gloves for that New Coat

There's so much fashion-perfection wrapped up in small accessories, that wise, indeed, is the woman who notes them well, and selects, for instance, the right gloves, daintily cuffed with a touch of high color so vogish this Spring. We feel it a pleasure to show you these new styles in fabric, silk or kid. $1.50 and more.

Short Skirts Now Demand Smart Hose

The shorter the skirts the more conspicuous the hose, so this season calls for the best in quality and looks. For street wear the darker shades of flesh are the most popular, but for evening, sheer chiffon of very light flesh shades, of pale yellow or pale mauve are in better style. Humming Bird Pure Silk, $1.50. Other Hose, full-fashioned, $2.00 and more.

People are coming to La Grande and other parts of Union county by train. The west bound trains bring them from the east, prairie, coast and sunny South. The east bound trains bring them from western Oregon, Washington and California. The inflow of population has just commenced and when the sun has traveled a few degrees north of the equator and the weather warmer and roads better, the immigrant wagon with its sturdy occupants will throng every road leading to Union county.

yard to be used one year and then only until the pullets are old enough to be removed to free range. The open air range houses explained in station circular No. 54, Oregon Agricultural college is recommended. It is then recommended that the movable colony brooder house, as explained in station circular 52, be given preference, over the permanent brooder house on farms wherever conditions warrant.

"E. The greatest undermining factor of permanent poultry farming is the general lack of understanding relative to the amount of land necessary to commercial poultry keeping. Soil contamination has caused many farms to fail. Commercial poultry keeping on one, two and three acre tracts, where young stock is to be reared each year, must be considered a temporary and dangerous financial undertaking. Real estate dealers should be discouraged from accepting such small tracts as desirable for permanent, intensified

ALVITA RELIEVES KIDNEY TROUBLE SAYS DOCTOR

Dr. W. B. Armstrong, of Newport Beach, Calif., gives the following remarkable testimony as to the virtue of Alvita, the new discovery. "There is an old gentleman visiting his daughter here, he comes from Indiana. He is 82 years old, and could not retain his kidney secretions more than half an hour, and was in a very bad condition otherwise. I advised him to use Alvita Tablets. He used three boxes and got the fourth today. He is very much better in every way, and looks ten years younger."

Alvita is prepared in highly concentrated tablet form from the deep-rooted alfalfa plant, which by scientific analysis is rich in lime, iron and phosphates. Unlike drugs, Alvita is a vegetable remedy which has proved especially beneficial in building up weakened, run-down conditions, and in overcoming kidney, bladder and prostate trouble. No matter what you have tried, try this remedy of Nature now. A dollar buys a box at any drug store. Red Cross Drug Co. will supply you. Mail orders accepted.—Adv.

poultry farming. It is therefore recommended that no one be induced to engage in commercial poultry keeping on less than 10 acres of well drained, tillable soil for each 1000 hens.

Proper Housing. "F. The poultry house is the home of the hen and proper housing is necessary to success. Too many poultry houses are built according to individual hobbies rather than according to proven type. It is recommended that the producers desiring to build new housing be guided by the plan given in station circular 51 of the Oregon Agricultural college.

"G. One of the greatest of limiting factors in poultry keeping is the problem of poultry diseases. The poultry industry in Oregon is a $10,000,000 industry, yet no study is being made of poultry diseases and their prevention.

"H. The poultry men of Union county organized an association to encourage education along the poultry lines; to secure the passage and endorsement of legislation which will protect the poultry industry of Union county and to perform such other duties as may be deemed necessary from time to time. The name of this organization is the Union County Co-operative Poultry Association. The object of this association is to put out better products at a lower cost to the consumer and to purchase poultry feed in quantity and save a margin of profit and thereby make the business a pleasure as well as a profit. The officers are: president, William Kamber, Union; vice president, G. C. Hill, La Grande; secretary-treasurer, Rex Griggs, Union.

REPORT OF POULTRYMEN INTERESTING
ing the spring months, demoralizing prices. The poultry men assembled at this conference recommended to the farmer desiring to properly house and manage poultry, that he establish and maintain as soon as experience warrants, a side line unit of 400 laying stock. It is further recommended that the farmer, who is not interested in poultry from a commercial standpoint, and will not give the proper time to their care, be advised to sell off his poultry to a number that will supply only the needs of his home table.

"H. It is recommended that the poultry producers be advised to secure all chicks for brooding purposes at one time because of dangers underlying the attempt to brood together chicks of different ages. This may be done by first purchasing the number of day old chicks desired; second, by having sufficient incubator capacity to hatch the desired number; third, by purchasing day old chicks to supplement the home hatched chicks; fourth, to pay some commercial hatchery to hatch eggs purchased or furnished from the home brooding flock. The amateur poultryman should not attempt incubation, breeding, growing, brooding, housing, feeding, etc., until experience warrants.

"C. It is hereby recommended that chicks be hatched or purchased early enough to be old enough to lay eggs during the fall and winter which is the period of peak prices. Poultry producers must have the benefit of the greatest number of months of pullets laying before molting time in order to secure the best average price per dozen for the year. For this county it is recommended that chicks be hatched during March and April, preferable near April first.

"D. Success in poultry keeping in Union county depends upon the producers' ability to raise pullets to maturity that are healthy, vigorous and free from intestinal parasites and inflammation. This can be done, over a period of years by the careful brooding of chicks on clean soil providing clean ranges for them after the brooding period. For farmers desiring to build permanent brooder houses it is recommended that construction be in the center of a given area that can be divided into four yards, each
