

NEWS of SOCIETY

Much was accomplished at the regular meeting of the Monday Musical last evening at the Neighborhood club rooms. Plans were discussed for Music Week, May 2 to 10.

Skeleton Dress Practical

In the finals in the young artists' contest for scholarships offered by the National Federated Music Clubs held Saturday afternoon and evening in Portland in the concert hall of the Women's club Marguerite Carney, lyric soprano, was winner of the women's voice scholarship.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church gave a surprise party last evening in the basement of the church, honoring the twentieth birthday anniversary of Claude Wilcock.

At an appropriate hour refreshments were served, a feature of which was a beautiful birthday cake with twenty lighted candles.

Cave. (Special) — The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's club was held at the library Thursday afternoon, with eight members and three visitors present.

FOREST PATROL ASSURED — EUGENE, Ore. — The air-raid patrol of the forest of western Oregon will be resumed this summer in the assurance given by the forest service, according to R. S. Shelley, supervisor of the Sub-law national forest in this city.

No information upon the subject can be had from the war department or army headquarters at San Francisco, but Mr. Shelley said that he believed such ward service is desired from the forest service is definite assurance that the fire patrol will be established.

Spring makes almost everybody wish he were someone else.

NO FLAPPERS FOR RICH MAN

George Campbell Carson, Newly-Made Millionaire, Warns Feminine Element.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP). — No flapper is going to snare George Campbell Carson, elderly self-styled "desert rat," who became theoretically at least, a multi-millionaire as the result of a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals here recently upholding his claims to profits for the use of inventions for treating copper.

Multi-Millionaire. According to counsel in the case several other companies are involved in the matter, which, if not upset by the supreme court, may net him as high as $20,000,000.

Meanwhile Carson continues to live in the modest waterfront hotel that has lodged him in recent months. Since the news of his decision has spread, he has been receiving more mail than he can read.

Usually Carson prefers to talk of laboratories, test tubes and such. Lately, since the high court sided with him, he has been more attentive to long-expected social amenities.

Carson is 58. At the age of 14 he ran away from the family farm in Kansas. He had but two years of schooling.

In 1886 he discovered the Wonderful mine, a cropping of surface silver ore near Clifton, Ariz. He sold his claim for $1500. In his prospecting he absorbed a great deal of metallurgy and geology.

For a time he digressed from mining to join an expedition sent into Mexico by the American Geographical society. He left the expedition in the wilds of the Sierra Madre mountains a year later and drifted to Chihuahua, where he worked at the smelting end of mining.

Was in Oregon. Later Carson wandered over Colorado, Idaho and Oregon, following the gold camps. For a while he ran an assay office. He got back east as far as Birmingham, Ala., and then, in Pittsburg, began an intensive study of metallurgy, but lacked the funds to pursue it. His invention sagged for eight years. It took him all that time to get the papers ready for the patent office.

His offered testimony intended to show that his contrivances found instant acceptance in smelters and were widely used, while he received no compensation. He said that it was possible under his process to treat 700 tons of ore in a furnace in 24 hours, whereas under the old system but 240 tons could be treated.

Two years ago Carson lost his case in the federal court at Seattle. The reversal of his finding was his first victory in 19 years of struggling to patent and market his invention.

An old-fashioned doctor is the kind who tries to find out what's wrong with you, instead of eating in two or three of his friends to discuss the matter.

Sues Dead Man

Can a woman sue a dead man for heart balm? Such a question has been raised in Los Angeles where Mrs. Gertrude Lense has sued for $125,000 from Peter Gross, wealthy suicide. Mrs. Lense says Gross owed $250,000 while she lived with him as his wife.

AIRPLANES CARRY GOLD LONDON (AP) — Two and a quarter tons of gold were carried by two airplanes from London to Paris recently. This method of transport was chosen for its speed, and to lessen the risk of pilferage. The bullion was carried in special metal-bound cases and was guarded from the time it left the banks here until its arrival in Switzerland at its eventual destination.
