

SEVERAL ILL AT THE PARK

THE PARK (Special)—Clarance Van Order is on the sick list, but is not seriously ill. Bert Van is a little under the weather, too, but manages to do his work. Joseph Lay butchered a fat hog for his own use Tuesday. George Loseley went to Union on business Tuesday. Mrs. Francis Kennedy of Medical Springs was a Park visitor Tuesday. Edward Wolf was visiting his aunt, Mrs. Alice Loseley of Medical Springs Tuesday. Bert Van is preparing to go to North Powder where he will purchase seeds for his spring planting. Ed Hack and his father, cattlemen from Big Creek were at the Lay Ranch on business Tuesday. Chester Godday was down to Union Friday afternoon. He brought back some strawberry plants for planting in their garden. Willard Miles was a visitor to Union on business Friday. Alice Veda Godday was reported much better from her recent illness.

Cat Poisoned—One of the cats that was poisoned last week had been taken to Baker by George McDowd to have its stomach analyzed. It was found that strychnine put in beef meat was the cause of the feline's death. The pet belonged to Miss Mary Vanorder who is quite grieved over its loss. Kenneth Vanorder will be home as soon as the cattle are turned out to pasture. He is now feeding them near Richland, Eagle valley.

Mrs. Lola Wigglesworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vanorder, celebrated her 23rd birthday, Friday, 27th. The family and a few friends gathered at the Wigglesworth home and had a most enjoyable time.

Bert Vandevanter was a business visitor to Pleasant Valley recently. Edward Wolf is cutting wood with a drag saw on the Loseley homestead for his uncle George Loseley.

Aunt Maud's little boy baby "Chuck" is reported ill for the last few days, but the illness is not of a serious nature.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Vandevanter's little boy Alfred is reported ailing the last day or two, but is now getting much better.

George McDowd was a business visitor to Union recently.

Jack Haley, who just returned from the Yakima country where he spent the winter was visiting at J. H. Hunter's home Friday. He has purchased a Ford car and noted from North Yakima coming via Walla Walla. He reports the roads in fair condition. Mr. Haley is the proprietor of the old Stover homestead on Little Catherine creek.

To Poison Pests—Red squirrels have made their appearance around the Park and poison will be distributed around before they can do much damage. The roads are quite muddy now between the summit and Union; we can't expect much traveling up the creek before the first of May, that is with autos, for horses and wagons the roads are very passable.

LATE HEARING ARRANGED—SALEM, Ore.—Classification of freight rates, rules, charges, practices and regulations of automotive freight carriers will be considered at a hearing to be conducted by the public service commission in Portland April 6. Announcement of the hearing was made at the offices of the public service commission. Members of the commission said the hearing probably would attract wide attention, in that some of the regulations would be opposed by the automotive carriers. It was predicted that practically all of the automotive freight operators in the state would be in attendance at the hearing as well as a number of operators from other sections of the Pacific northwest.

CAMERAGRAMS

THE GREAT FATHER did not respect this Blackfoot Indian chief's tomb in Glacier National Park. The rough board coffins were blown off their canopied mound and the bone remains of the braves ruthlessly strewn about.

"MIJAMAS" they are just the common boudoir variety, but they are becoming quite the vogue on the beach at Miami. Mrs. Ruth Herbert, New York, seen here, introduced the fad.

EDNA HULTZ was proprietor of a Salt Lake City beauty parlor. Barbers said that was barbering and that she would have to take the examination. She appealed to courts, which ruled that bobbing is not barbering.

RODEOS LIKE BULL FIGHTS

CHICAGO (AP)—The only reason of excuse for the rodeo is "to entertain a sensation-loving crowd, indifferent to anything except being entertained and, when aroused, a blood-thirsty one," said a statement of E. K. Whitehead, of the Colorado bureau of child and animal protection, issued here today by George A. H. Scott, chairman of a committee named by the American Humane association to study ways and means of eliminating the practice. For the brute "there is nothing except unwillingness, force, fear, suffering and often death."

"Every spectator at a rodeo is the worse for being one," declared the statement, "as he is a little harder, a little more ruthless, a little more indifferent to the suffering of other creatures, a little more reconciled to injustice, to crudely, to the pain and blood of helpless creatures."

"The need of rough riding and bucking horses has gone, and the need of catching and holding cattle has been developed far beyond the requirements of its original usefulness, continued the statement, which pointed out that most of the stunts of the rodeo today were never performed on the old cattle ranges, and many never at all.

"In some of the other features of the average rodeo there is less chance for suffering or injury, but in none of it is there anything but fear and pain and sometimes death for the unfortunate dumb animals," said Mr. Whitehead. "Men also are often injured in the violence between man and beast. But the man can choose, can do as he likes and is not forced in any way. He has, beside, the pleasure of exhibiting his skill, has chance at the prizes offered."

"It is our American analogue of the bullfight, also with its eager, blood-thirsty crowds, its fainted and tormented bulls, its old, helpless horses disemboweled on the bull's horns."

Banks Reduce Dividends To Build New Branches

LONDON (AP)—The square mile of the city of London is gradually being changed almost out of recognition by new buildings, mostly erected by the big banks which are slowly crowding out other institutions of the commercial fraternity. It is said that, so anxious are these financial institutions to build vast new premises for their customers' needs, they will soon crowd these same customers out of the city altogether. Many commercial institutions have already had to seek premises further westward, in Aldwych and Kingsway, and by the time the new Bank of England is completed and the huge central office of the "Big Five" bank is built, several more commercial houses will have found it necessary to move further afield.

So keen are these big banks for custom that they open branches at every suburb of London, and on the most favorable sites, the principle being to bring the bank to the customer's door.

Shareholders, at the various annual meetings of the banks, frequently complain they are paid only 12 to 15 percent, when from the business done larger dividends would be possible, but they are told it is necessary to build new offices and new branches, and that there must be large sums available for such purposes.
