

INDIANA OUT AFTER 'WETS'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The purchaser of intoxicating liquors is equally as guilty of having violated the prohibition laws in Indiana as the bootlegger, under the provisions of the Wright bone-dry bill just passed by the state legislature and which becomes effective in June.

Under the new law, considered among the most drastic, possession of liquor also is a crime. A defect in the previous state prohibition act caused several courts to rule that possession, of itself, was not a crime. The definition of "liquor" also has been simplified, and included in the list are Jamaica ginger and lemon extract "reasonably likely or intended to be used as a beverage." Wine, however, is exempted for sacramental purposes.

Provision also was made for more severe penalties for first, second and subsequent violations of the law. It denies the court the power to suspend sentence in third and subsequent convictions under the general prohibition act, and in second and subsequent convictions in the charge prohibiting transportation. Violations of both sections is made a felony, and prison sentence on any conviction is made mandatory.

The penalty for public intoxication has been increased, making it a fine of from $10 to $100, to which may be added six months' imprisonment in jail. Second conviction of driving an automobile while intoxicated is a felony, and the law provides that the court shall prohibit the person from driving the vehicle for not more than a year.

A defense similar to that given Leopold and Loeb is being built up for William H. Langborn, 25, of Lagrange, Texas, who attacked Minnie Zapala, 15, left, after killing her sister Valeria, 17. Langborn had taken the girls for a ride and became furious when Minnie rebuffed his caresses.

imprisonment in jail. Second conviction of driving an automobile while intoxicated is a felony, and the law provides that the court shall prohibit the person from driving the vehicle for not more than a year.

The law also removes all property right in liquor kept contrary to the act, or to any receipt or vehicle in which liquor is kept, and provides that they are at once forfeit to the state.

Where fluid is poured out, destroyed or carried away by the tenant or other person when premises are being searched, the fluid shall be prima facie intoxicating liquor and intended for unlawful possession and sale. Other outstanding points of the act are:

Provision for impeachment and removal of any state, county, township or municipal officer, or municipal police who refuse, neglect or fail to discharge their duty in enforcing the law, and that trial be without jury.

Where any prosecutor fails to do his duty, the attorney-general may assume charge and employ whatever deputies necessary.

If a witness for the state in a prosecution under the liquor law testifies in a manner to incriminate himself, he shall be immune from prosecution for violation of the act growing out of or pertaining to the particular transaction concerning which he testifies.

Radio Chats

(By Powell Coady, Jr.)

There can be but one point of view in the consideration of radio regulation and development. That is to assure increasing service to the listener.

So declared Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce recently. No truer words have been expressed about radio.

What does this mean? It means the enriching of the American home. It means a further removal of the lines of demarcation between urban and rural home life. It is taking to the farm home some of the things which compensate the city dweller for living in crowded areas.

No small problem faced the Department of Commerce. There are today 553 broadcasting stations either in operation or under construction.

Of these 455 are Class A, or 500 watts power or less. One hundred eight are Class B, or more than 500 watts. Class A stations have a radius of good practical reception of not more than 25 or 50 miles. Class B stations, of course, have a much wider radius.

Mr. Hoover has said that the recent policy of the department of allowing the increase in power to 5000 watts will mean that the radius of serviceable reception will be greatly increased and the reception itself within the present radius will become very much more reliable.

This is, as Mr. Hoover has pointed out, of particular importance to those living on farms, especially in the summer and during the day.

The working out of these problems will take time. The movement is doing the best that it can and that has been very well. In the meantime the listener must be patient because after all it must be remembered that radio will prosper just so long as radio serves him and serves him well.

Ashland Eyes City Manager Plan ASHLAND, Ore.—The city manager form of government for Ashland is being discussed by leading citizens and a proposal covering the change from the present system will probably be made to the voters in the future. C. H. Pierre, ex-mayor who recently investigated the city manager system in several California cities, is leading the discussion.

I have Already Analyzed Over $350,000 worth of Life Insurance --what about your policy, It's Protection Value, It's Investment Value?

During the analysis of this $350,000 worth of insurance, not one of the policy holders brought his agent with him, though several requested it.

In the analysis of this insurance I have shown many policy holders, who have had their insurance protection and investment combined in their policies, how they can save thousands of dollars in premiums and increase their estates from 20% to 400% without spending one extra dollar.

I have shown them that their policies, when providing anything more than pure protection at a pure protection rate, require them to pay for investment features that are absolutely lost to their estates in case of death. I have shown them how they can carry the same insurance protection IN THE SAME COM-PANIES and yet increase their estates thousands of dollars WITHOUT COST, simply by separating their insurance protection and their investments.

In this $350,000 worth of insurance, over $60,000 will be brought back into Union county investments and saved to the widows and orphans, when it would otherwise have been lost to them in case of death of the policy holders.

Why haven't the agents come with their clients to analyze these policies? If these statements are not correct, why do they not challenge me? I will pay for full page space in this paper for anyone who will attempt to prove that these statements I have made are incorrect.
