27 YEARS AGO

Daily morning Observer, April 5, 1898—M. L. Causey is in touch with parties who want to establish a packing house and soap factory some where in the west, where there is plenty of cattle, sheep and hogs raised. The only difficulty seems to be to get rid of the ribs and back bones. This would be a great industry for our town and county; this is not a subsidy proposition further than ground to build on. We have so many advertisements that would certainly overcome a low freight rate— that no doubt if these parties be induced to look our field over, what they consider a disadvantage may not necessarily be fatal to the enterprise.

Sheriff Frank Phy is in La Grande today.

Prof. Ackerly is busy this week weighing out sugar beet seed to the farmers who have contracted to grow beets for the Oregon Sugar company. The seed is stored in Bolton and Bodmer's implement warehouse.

Miss Ora Mason who for the past year and a half has assisted in the composing room of the Observer has accepted a position with the Inland Telephone Company.

Messrs. O. V. Allen and J. H. Hillis will open a drug store in the Paul Boxina building as soon as it is completed. Both gentlemen are from Newberg, Yamhill County, Oregon.

Dr. H. Russell, the well known physician and contractor, was in the city yesterday and returned to the Cascade Locks where he has a large railroad contract.

Dr. D. Y. K. Durring, the probable candidate for sheriff's office, came over from Union yesterday and is, as usual, offering the glad hand to his many friends.

You can't always judge things by their looks. Shaving father looks just as good to eat as whipped cream.

Sherrys Showing Famous Plastigrams Today.

What "Plastigrams" is The third dimension—depth—as well as height and breadth—in motion pictures

The moving picture effect for which scientists and inventors have been striving for years.

A revolutionary forward step in picture making—the invention that makes the picture seem real.

The picture that will give you a new set of thrills and sensations—the "third dimension movie," science's latest invention.

The long sought invention that makes the actors on the screen seem so real and so close you feel you can touch them.

The greatest forward step in amusement since the perfection of the motion picture—the invention that brings the actors on the screen to life!

"Thief of Bagdad" One of Best Pictures Ever.

Douglas Fairbanks will be seen in the marvelous Arabian Nights tale, "The Thief of Bagdad," at the Arcade today. It was, according to all accounts, the great good fortune of the screen, that Douglas Fairbanks came upon this amazingly romantic love story and that he undertook to make it into a photoplay. Moving picture critics, in such cities as "The Thief of Bagdad" has been shown, have been unanimous in asserting that it is the greatest film ever made. When it is considered that his story departs from the affairs of everyday life and soars off into dreamland; that there has been visualized and made real the soaring away of the Magic Carpet over the house-tops and into the sky; the Winged Horse, with the thief galloping off to and through the clouds; the Magic Rope which the thief throws into the air and climbs into the sky, up into all sorts of places—it will be seen that "The Thief of Bagdad" is no mere spectacle; no mere bringing together of crowds to applaud the multitude. When a crowd or even an army is desired, the thief simply takes a seed from a box, throws it on the ground, and lo! a huge army with banners springs from the earth. This sort of thing is the warp and woof of "The Thief of Bagdad." This is a fantasy, not a mere dragging together of human beings. However, "The Thief of Bagdad" is no mere stringing together of as-

Film Is Ablaze With Colorful Scenes and Thrills.

The Victor Hugo Halperin production, "Greater Than Marriage," at Sherry's is abounding with colorful scenes, thrills and surprises. It shows glimpses of the Great White Way in New York at night, with the fairyland of electric signs shimmering above the vast crowds that throng the Times Square district during the theater hours. There are flashes of Fifth Avenue with its business and picturesque buildings, the interior of Grand Central station with its restless crowd hurrying to and from trains, a flash of the old St. W. Clinton, the first train to run over the New York Central tracks, the grand concourse before the station and sections of Riverside Drive. All of these locations are familiar and endeared to the hearts of film patrons through fiction stories and newspaper articles. The film gives an intimate touch of New York life as "Greater Than Marriage."

The cast includes some of the greatest favorites of the screen and is headed by such names as
