BLOSSOM DAY APRIL 12

SALEM, Ore.—Upon advice of fruit growers in several of the districts adjacent to Salem, the Cherrians designated Sunday, April 12, as annual blossom day. In a few of the districts the blossoms are almost in full bloom and these will be at their height by the end of the week.

Special placards will be placed along the route for the convenience of the visitors, urging them to visit the state hospital grounds and the tulip farm on the Pacific highway a few miles north of Salem, as the tulips are also in full bloom. The Cherrians will distribute 5000 postal cards calling attention to the event and will ask T. A. Rafferty, chief state traffic officer, to have charge of the traffic and patrol the highways.

La Grande Theatres

Yakima Canutt at Sherrys Today In "Ridin' Mad."

Here's a sensational piece of news for patrons of the Sherry theatre.

Yakima Canutt, winner of the Roosevelt Trophy as Champion All-Around Cowboy of the World, and winner of the Cowboy Championship Diamond Belt against all comers, and also of countless other trophies, is the star in "Riding Mad," an Arrow release by Ben Wilson, coming next week.

Canutt gives startling proof that the title "Ridin' Mad" fits the picture.

One instance—locked in a cell without means of escape, Canutt resorts to drastic measures—worrying a bullet with his teeth till it snaps; he pours the powder in the lock of the door—three times he does this—lights it with a match—Bang, the door is open. With a flying leap onto his horse he dashes away to track relentlessly the man responsible for his capture.

Down steep cliffs, across rivers, through brush along the only road out—he dashes—What was that! His enemy! Spurring his horse, he pursues him, and coming to a steep cliff his horse balks. Urging him to his utmost, Canutt slides him down the cliff, rides right through the cabin situated at the bottom, and leaps upon his enemy.

Canutt shows unlimited nerve and daring in this picture, and goes "Ridin' Mad" to the finish. He will prove a new idol for the fans who admire the real thing.

Comedy, "Goat Getters."

Jackie Coogan Coming To Arcade In "Oliver Twist."

There comes Saturday to the Arcade theatre a picture heralded as a "milestone on the highway of art," and which bears the highest recommendations in its own right. It is "Oliver Twist" starring that adorable child actor, Jackie Coogan; produced by Sol Lesser; directed by Frank Lloyd, and presented by a company of the most distinguished screen celebrities, including Lon Chaney, Gladys Brockwell, Lionel Belmore and a host more.

The picture is described as the most ambitious in which the juvenile star, Jackie Coogan, has ever appeared, and it is asserted that in it he has registered an appeal that strikes the hearts of young and old and of all classes of picture patrons as well as those that are not usually enticed to the theatre. It is the appeal of innocent boyhood through the medium of one of the greatest stories ever penned—Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist." The plot has been followed with unusual fidelity, it is claimed, and the characterizations will satisfy the most enthusiastic of Dickens' readers. "Oliver Twist" is a First National Attraction—listed among the biggest of the year.

Star Gets Greatest Thrill of Career In Jones Western.

"I never was so scared in all my life," said Wanda Hawley leading lady in the newest picture starring Buck Jones, "The Man Who Played Square," directed by Al Stantell for William Fox, speaking of a scene in which she faints in a mine and Buck has to effect a rescue by hanging on to a basket with the cinematically unconscious Wanda prone over one arm while the basket is hoisted out of the mine. This picture is coming to the Star theatre today.

"Mr. Jones was hanging on a ring at the bottom of the basket and when we got about one hundred feet in the air I felt as though his arm were slipping," she continued. "Luckily for me, by the time I was so scared I was beyond caring. The first time was the worst of all. When we had retaken the scene six times I really and truly was not a bit afraid. The saying about the first fifty years being the hardest proved to be true in this case. All I can say on the subject of that scene is, if the fans get the thrill out of it that I did they will have the great moment of their lives.

Women Thinks She Can't Talk Enough

"I had gall stones for 14 years and suffered severely from gas, colic and indigestion. Doctors wanted me to go to the hospital but I took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy instead, and am now feeling fine and better than I ever did. I can't talk enough about this remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists. —Adv.

27 YEARS AGO

Daily Morning Observer, April 9, 1898.—C. A. Granger and two little daughters arrived last evening from Salt Lake City, Utah, to join her husband, the superintendent of the Oregon Sugar company, of this city.

A. D. Rhodes, of Lehi, Utah, arrived in La Grande yesterday and will now make this city his headquarters. He will assist Mr. Woodhouse, superintendent of the culture of sugar beets.

Architect W. S. Bennett is now busy drawing plans for a fine two story brick Masonic temple for the Masonic lodge at Union. The lower floor will be utilized for office rooms and the upper floor will be used for the lodge rooms, banquet halls and reception parlors.

J. L. McKinnis, president of the Alliance Flouring Mill Co., was in the city yesterday and stated to an Observer reporter that the mill was grinding continuously and they had found a ready market for its product. They are furnishing the Oakland, Cal., market with 500 barrels of flour per month and could easily double the order if their trade in other quarters did not consume the balance of the product.

A. Lee Moreleck of Elgin who has been in the city for the past few days has accepted a position with the Observer and will enter upon his duties today.

The mills about Elgin are running on full time. The snow had disappeared and gardening will soon commence in and about North Elgin.

J. D. McKennon returned yesterday from a business trip to Elgin.

TALK BY DAWES WANTED

EUGENE, Ore. — Charles G. Dawes, vice-president of the United States, may be one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Oregon State Bankers' association at Corvallis, June 11 to 13, according to C. D. Rorer of this city, president of the association.

Mr. Rorer said that Mr. Dawes would be on his tour of the Pacific coast and northwest at about the time the state bankers met at Corvallis. The vice-president also being a banker, his presence at the meeting will mean that the Oregon sessions will have considerable importance, Mr. Rorer said.

Indicted Coroner Replies

ASTORIA, Ore. — E. B. Hughes, county coroner indicted recently on a charge of perjury in connection with returns on primary campaign expenditures, filed a demurrer in the circuit court stating that the indictment did not state sufficient facts to constitute a crime.

"LINE IS BUSY"---

When you receive the report, "the line is busy" it means the line, not the telephone you called. There may be two, three or four telephones on the line. With one in use the others can not be called. Less labor is involved for the operator to complete a connection on the first call when she can than to report "line is busy" and be called again. She knows you will call again if she gives you a busy report. It lightens her burden to complete your call at once.
