SWEDEN ACTS PROMPTLY
In Vindicating American
BORAS, Sweden (AP)—Full redress for unjust imprisonment has been accorded by the highest Swedish judicial authorities to an American citizen, Charles Winter of Moorhead, Minn., who, armed with a power of attorney, came here in October 1923 to collect an inheritance for a client. On the accusation of a rival claimant, a woman resident, who charged that his power of attorney was a forgery, Winter was arrested and kept confined for 15 days. As soon as the genuineness of the client's signature was established he was immediately released and the chancellor of justice himself took action against his accuser and her attorney.

Spring arrived just in time. Practically all the long underwear was turning into bell-bottomed trousers.

Buck, Elmer Ehrnberg and Roscoe Howard. Court was adjourned by Judge Thomas until Monday when the regular April term of the circuit court will open.

Hickey later pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of an automobile. Eddy Duncan to larceny in a building. J. L. Ravely, indicted on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, was not apprehended. It was charged that he threatened Dr. V. L. Drumick with a pistol on March 30th.

STRABORN KEEPS SECRET
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—If newspapers and the general public would devote the time they are spending on where money is coming from, to locating the project for which the money is used, the common affairs of the public would be better served. This was Robert K. Straborn's response to a query of who is financing the proposed 143-mile extension of the Oregon, California and Eastern railroad in Klamath, Lake and Deschutes counties.

"It seems to me that when there is a wonderful project in view such as the proposed extension included that the first thought of everybody would be to locate it. Wherever where the financing of the road is coming from I have nothing to say. Concerning the extension for which my railroad is petitioning, I have nothing to say beyond what has been already published."

Secretary Passes Up Gay Trappings of Cowboy Days
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Jaspar, who was a cowboy long before he became a cabinet member, is becoming a frequent visitor to the capitol's bridle paths, but he rides a horse named "Cal" and has eliminated from his equipment any article suggestive of his range riding experience.

A sleek thoroughbred Morgan horse and modern riding togs have displaced the rugged cowboy and leather chaps of earlier days. Given his choice between an English riding saddle with the conventional short stirrups and a typical stock saddle with high pommel and cantle and long stirrups, the secretary selected the former.

The horse, Cal, was raised at the department of agriculture's farm at Middlebury, Vermont. His coat is dark chestnut and he has won several championship trophies.

PIERCE BACKS ROAD BILL
SALEM, Ore.—Governor Pierce sent a telegram to Governor Richardson of California urging him to sign a bill recently passed by the legislature of California including the highway system of that state a road from Beavercreek, Cal. to Mann, Klamath county, Oregon.

This proposed road would connect with the Dallas-California highway in Oregon which probably will be completed next year. Such an improvement would connect the Columbia river territory with Sacramento, the governor's telegram said.

DETROIT PLANS BUILDING

At the intersection of Washington Boulevard and Grand River Avenue, the new structure will be the tallest building in Michigan, and is but another unit in the plan to make the boulevard Detroit's "Fifth Avenue."
