PROMISE MAN ANSWERS CALL

PROMISE (Special)—J. C. Phillips passed away while sitting in his chair at his home Saturday morning. Mr. Phillips was born in Perry county, Indiana, December 25, 1845, moved to Nebraska with his parents when a small boy and was married to Emily Martin in 1872. They came to Oregon in 1888, where they lived at La Grande for several years moving from there to Promise in 1891. They were the first settlers in this part of the country. He lived at Promise for 17 years, after which he moved to Willamette valley and made his home for seven years, returning to Promise at the end of that time and since then has made his home here. Besides his wife he is survived by seven children, John Phillips of Wendling, Mrs Hattie Clark of Elwood, Mrs. Chas Freman and Mrs. Frank Wilson of Molalla, Mrs. Chester Gorbett, Mrs Marshall Fleshman and Mrs. A. F. Carper of Promise. His funeral was held at Promise at two o'clock Sunday afternoon and interment was made in the Promise cemetery.

Harold Carper came down from Maxville Saturday and is now confined to his home because of illness.

Ola Poulson went to Wallowa Monday.

Robert Carper and Theo Carper drove to Maxville Sunday. The roads are better.

David Garrett and Leo Kenworthy filled a bear the middle of the week in the West Gorsuman canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bennett came down from Maxville Saturday. Elmer is helping L. S. McDonald with his farm work and Mrs. Bennett is visiting her parents.

HAT MAKERS' SCHOOL HELD

COVE (Special)—Miss Esther B. Cooley, of the O. A. C. Extension Department, gave two days, Wednesday and Thursday, April 15 and 16 to a millinery school at Cove. She is a very efficient instructor. Fourteen ladies and three of the club girls entered the classes. On the first day a group of women from Imbler, several from La Grande, and a few from Union were present.

The Senior play, "Welcome Home Jimmy," was presented Friday evening at the Cove high school. Music was furnished between acts by the high school orchestra.

WEEKLY NEWS OF THE PARK

THE PARK (Special)—Mrs. S. Gosney was called by her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Moody of Lower Powder to be present at the visit of the Stork who left an eleven pound boy with the mother who is reported doing as nicely as it can be under the circumstances. And Art, the father, is proudly telling the story around to his many friends.

Bert Van is hauling hay from Elmer Kennedy on Big Creek.

Joseph Lay has started to plow.

Clarence Vanorder is plowing right along.

George McBowe is nearly done plowing his fields.

The Rawleigh man was making his rounds recently.

Harry Miller, old pioneer, has gone home. He had been visiting for quite a while with his niece, Mrs. Lydia Vandevanter.

Fred Bowman from Baker, is helping Joseph Lay to clean out grain for seeding. He was sent by Leon Brown, the owner of the ranch.

Guild Lay has gone to Lower Powder after a bunch of cattle that O. E. Woodson has bought from Lee Oliver.

Storm Reported.

Another electric storm was raging Wednesday evening. There was no report of the lightning striking anywhere.

It was with regret that Park people heard of the death of Mrs. E. O. Zeek of Union. Mrs. Zeek was well known here as years ago Mr. Zeek was operating saw mills on Catherine creek. Our condolence goes with the stricken family.

News came that Mrs. Titus of Union is rallying from her serious illness. It is hoped that she will recover soon.

Edward Wolf is confined to his home by a severe cold.

Fishing is the main feature of work at the Park from now on for about three weeks. And there will be a large amount of acres put in this spring by all reports.

The creeks continue to be very high and muddy.

Who Owns North Pole? Question Concerns Many

out. Hence the MacMillan expedition, which the United States navy is fitting out. Hence also the Norwegian expedition under Amundsen, which already is on its way. England, Japan and Russia are reported making similar preparations.

Navy officers like to tell about the MacMillan plans up to the point where the visitor begins to ask about annexation of the pole. Then, "Shush on that talk," they cry. "It's the very thing we don't want to remind the others of."

The proposed way station at the pole may develop into a mighty interesting place. Travelin. say from Chicago to Calcuta by the Polar route, tourists naturally will want to stop off for a look at the earth's hub, just as trains pause for awhile at Niagara to let the passengers see the falls. This raises the question: Who will get the coffee and hot dog concession? And if the United States annexes the pole, will it be dry?

Last winter was a test winter. Was it unusually warm, unusually cold or just middling? Inasmuch as it's past, it seems as if we ought to know. Nevertheless, experts disagree.

Herbert Janvrin Browne, unofficial but widely known weather forecaster, said he could make an accurate prediction for at least a whole season. The government weather department said he couldn't. "All right," rejoined Browne six months ago. "I'll make a forecast for the winter of 1924-25 and leave it to the thermometer to show whether I'm right or wrong. It will be exceptionally cold."

Now the winter of 1924-25 is over. "It was exceptionally cold," triumphs Browne. "It was exceptionally mild," insists the weather department. The secret is this: Browne took his temperatures from the vicinity of the North Cape. The weather department relied on readings from the neighborhood of Palm Beach.

It's one thing to talk about discharging superfluous government employes; something entirely different to do it. Public Printer George H. Carter tried it and it nearly cost him his job—may do so yet. Now an investigation has been started to determine how many of the so-called "independent bureaus"—independent of any department—are worth having. The regular departments could take over their work. It would save money and cut red tape. But, oh, what a roar is going up.

WHEN YOU BUY SOMETHING

If you buy some new furniture, or a new rug, or a new washing machine, one of your first considerations should be a check on your insurance.

Since taking out your policy, have you added enough new house furnishings to warrant additional protection? Don't take a chance—be sure you'll have everything covered in case of fire.

We write both old line and mutual policies.
