

MAKE PROGRAM OF ECLIPSES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prolonged study of the vagaries of the sun and the moon has enabled scientists of the United States Naval Observatory here to work out their eclipses for the next three years. Under the direction of Captain W. S. Eichelsberger, U. S. N., they now are starting on the 1925 eclipses.

An annular eclipse of the sun—an eclipse where the rim of the sun shows outside the eclipsed area—is forecast for July 26-27, this year, but will be invisible in the United States. A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible July 1-10, 1925, in the central Pacific Ocean, and as a partial in northern Australia, the eastern edge of Asia, the United States and Mexico.

In 1927, there will be five eclipses—three of the sun and two of the moon. Seven eclipses in a year is the maximum, five of the sun and two of the moon, and the least number in a twelve month is two, both of the sun, as will be the case in 1924.

An annular solar eclipse, visible in the southern Pacific, will occur January 3, 1927. A total of the moon, June 15, will be visible in the Atlantic Ocean, North America, except the northern border, South America and the Pacific Ocean. A total of the sun, June 29, will be visible in Europe, appearing as a near-total at Nome, Alaska. Another total of the moon, 1927 will take place December 8, visible generally in the Pacific Ocean and in the northern part of North America. A partial eclipse of the sun will occur on December 24.

Another heavenly phenomenon will be seen in 1927 in the transit of Mercury, which will appear as a dot on the sun. On November 19 the transit will take place, visible generally in the Pacific Ocean, Australia and Asia, except in the Northern and western portions. It will be visible at Honolulu, Manila and Saigon.

In 1928 three of the sun and two of the moon will be the order of eclipses. Captain Eichelsberger considers that the total solar eclipse of May 19, that year, will be a curious one, only part of the resulting shadow falling on the earth, ap-appearing as a piece on the south of Africa, and as a partial in South Africa and the southern part of South America. A total of the moon, June 3, will be visible in the western parts of North and South America, the Pacific Ocean, Australia and the eastern border of Asia. Partial solar eclipses will occur June 17 and November 12, a total of the moon transiting November 27, visible in the western hemisphere.

10-Pound Rock Wrecks House
FRESHERTON, Ore.—A load in the home of J. R. Todd in Milton was wrecked when a ten-pound rock crashed through the roof of the Todd home. Mrs. Todd was engaged in making up the bed at the time and her little grandchild was in the home with her, but both escaped injury. The rock was hurled into the air by an explosion where excavation is being done for a new swimming pool.

Future victories will read, "Prohibition came up like a cyclone and the populace took to their heels."

COOS POWER UNIT OPENS
MAELSHFIELD, Ore.—A. J. Martin, Coos county manager of the Mountain States Power company, business on Coos bay for eight years, saw part of the company's enlargement plans perfected when the new energy plant in North Bend was thrown open officially and the public invited to the grounds for inspection of the first unit, which cost the company $750,000. Phil J. Keizer, mayor of North Bend, was chosen to push the button which placed the plant in operation.

The new unit has 1,000 kilowatt capacity, but the concern will eventually use 25,000 kilowatts. The second unit will be a 10,000-kilowatt addition. The plant with 35,000 capacity, Mr. Martin said, will have cost the owners $6,000,000. The company now has lines serving all parts of the county, including Marshfield, North Bend, Eastside, Conville, Myrtle Point, Powers, Bandon and also a line to the government rock quarry on north Coos river.

If he advertises it, he knows it's good.

BOY THOUGHT DROWNED

THE DALLIES, Ore.—Lee Mont, 21, of Grants Pass, was believed to have lost his life in the Columbia after a rowboat in which he and his brother, Henry, were fishing for salmon near Dillon was wrecked. When last seen the youth was swimming desperately but was being carried over nearby rapids above Big Eddy. A thorough search of the rock islands below the rapids failed to reveal a trace of the boy.

The boat with both of its occupants was sucked into a large whirlpool in an eddy. The father, in the gasoline launch, rescued Henry. His motor stopped as he turned toward Lee, who had managed to remain afloat. While the father frantically sought to launch after a rowboat in which start the motor, his son was already carried down stream.
