27 YEARS AGO

Daily Morning Observer, May 7, 1898—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lund, of the Cove, were in the city Friday, stating the feast Wednesday night had killed their cherry and peach crops, but they expected a big yield in other fruits, including strawberries.

Mr. M. Pierce, who has been superintending a farm recently purchased the Horvick Farming Company, has just completed seeding 270 acres of wheat, and left last night for Weston, to resume his position as manager of the Weston Bank. This company will have planted 2000 acres in grain by next week.

T. N. Murphy has an elegant 151 steel range, 148 cook stove, 122 range stove and a hayrack, all of which will be reduced 50 cents a day until sold.

Last evening at about the hour of eight thirty, the firebell was rung by someone who mistook the rising moon for a building on fire. Some thought it the Alliance Mill on Des, and some could see the towering frame of the Clinton Hotel in flames, but the fire boys who responded to the call, could find nothing more dangerous to the welfare of the city than the full moon.

A number of Miss Roy DeVine's friends called at her home Thursday evening in honor of her twentieth birthday. A jolly evening was whittled away as only young people can. Ice cream and cake was served and upon bidding Miss Roy goodnight each wished that all might be able to again gather under such pleasant conditions.

Those present were Emma and Nellie Finley, Ruby and Guy Broughton, Ed and Charles Hareless, Maud and Lillie Hawkins, Fern and George Holde, Ben and Andrew Alford, Freddie Bell, Jimmie Palmer, May Grevell, Clarence Matthews, Roy Hoover, Will and John Young, Edith Roberts, Bula Wright and Stacy DeVine.

William Bows Affably To Doorn Children

AMSTERDAM (AP)—A picture of William Holenzolt, one time German emperor, dressing in the latest fashion and seeking to win the good-will of the children of Doorn, is given by a Dutch journalist, Barteld H. Hollings, who recently visited Doorn castle.

Another pastime of the former emperor is collecting photographs of the Prince of Wales, and he is also fond of cutting and pasting pictures of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. He dresses most carefully, says Mr. Hollings, and his suits are always of the latest cut. At the court which William continues to hold, the same stiff ceremonial is obtained in Berlin days is observed.

One of the former emperor's chief ambitions is to become popular with the people, and especially the young folk of Doorn. He therefore often goes out personally to shake and address the townfolk in their native Dutch dialect. He even deigns now to tip his hat pleasantly in greeting, whereas formerly he had everybody bowing to him.
